Education Board Candidate Races

Are Non-Partisan The Board of Supervisors of Elections for Garrett County issued a reminder to voters this week that all registered voters regardless of party, are eligible to vote for candidates seeking seats on the Garrett County Board of Education.

The Board also noted that the names of the candidates for these seats will be located on the far right side of the ballot in the voting machines in the Democratic row (see sample ballot on pages 36-37 of this newspaper). Even though the candidates are listed on the Democrat row, Republicans are also eligible to vote for them. The names will be highlighted in yellow so they can be easily located by voters

The two candidates in each of the three commissioner districts who receive the greatest number of votes in Tuesday's primary election will then appear on the general election ballot in November to determine the winner of the seats. Voters are also asked to note that there are no candidates listed on the primary election ballot for District 3 since only two persons (Jennie G. Mandrovsky and Charles E. Teets) filed for that position, automatically qualifying them for the general election.

Choral Society Sets Tryouts For "H.M.S. Pinafore"

The Garrett Choral Society plans to present the musical 'H.M.S. Pinafore in No-Middle School.

Learey, directors, announced this week that the cast will consist mainly of males and females from the ages of 12 and older, plus one or two small children as walk-ons. There are nine lead roles - six male and three female - and several other smaller roles for both male and female singers/actors.

The tryouts are slated for 7 to 9 p.m. September 8 and 9 and September 11 and 12 in the Southern Middle School cafetorium. All persons, regardless of previous stage experience, are invited to partici-

Also needed for the production are volunteers who wish to assist with the set design and construction, which will be under the guidance of Asa McCain.

"H.M.S. Pinafore" is a musical satire about the British Navy, which includes an attempted elopement and a complex struggle between social ranks, plus a surprise ending.

Previous successful stage performances by the Garrett Choral Society under the direction of Ms. Avery and Ms. Learey include: "Amahl and the Night Visitors", "Oliver" "Fiddler on the Roof", and

FAST AND FURIOUS would best describe the whitewater of the Savage River in Garrett County this past weekend as over 200 kayak and canoe racers from 11 different nations gathered to participate in the Pan American Whitewater Cup Championships. An estimated 4,400 spectators witnessed the three-day event, as the French team, defending champions, won the Pan Am Cup for the second straight year. Racers in the slalom event had to navigate through a series of 25 gates, some of which required the participant to paddle upstream against the 'savage' currents. The Savage River will be the site of the 1989 World Whitewater Championships, which will mark the first time this annual event has ever been held in the United States.

Stephen Upperman, 18, was pronounced dead at the scene of the 6:20 a.m. mishap on I-495. Police said Upperman apparently fell asleep, causing the vehicle to veer off the inner loop of the beltway. It traveled about 300 feet before striking several small trees and a light post.

Born in Oakland April 26, 1968, Upperman was a son of Charles W. and Christa (Thomas) Upperman Jr.

He was employed as a carpenter's apprentice by the Miller Construction Company, Silver Spring. He was a 1986 graduate of Southern High School. Also surviving are one brother, Ronald W. Upperman, Salisbury, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Upperman Senior, Bloomington.

Friends were received at the Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Ellis Harvey. Interment was in Garrett County Memorial Gardens.

HOW HIGH IS UP?

There was a time when it was unheard of to pay $100,000 for a home. Now, in many parts of the country. it's either a bargain, a starter or a fixerupper. How high can prices go?

For comparison, consider what has happened to driving in the past ten vears. Gasolline prices doubled. At first, the public balked but then quickly adjusted to the new price levels. They didn't stop driving. Automobile prices doubled. Again, the public balked but quickly adjusted. Ten years ago, car buyers would take one or twovear car loans. Today, car buyers take three, service" four and five-year loans to make their purchase affordable. Driving is a necessity and so is the roof over your head.

As home appreciation rates continue to chimo, simple math shows us that today's $100,000 house will sell for over $200,000 not too long into the future. You can buy today and profit from the climb, or you can wait. Those ! who wait, as well as the next generation, will pay the highest prices. They too will adjust.

GOP Committee ELECT Holds Meeting The Republican State Central Committee met Friday at Starlite Restaurant with five members and one guest present.

A study by the committee revealed that Republicans still dominate the voter registration books in the county. In 1982 there were 4,704 registered Democrats and 7,033 registered Republicans, or 59.92% of the voting population. Today, there are 4,668 registered Democrats and 7,208 registered Republicans, or 60.69% of the voting population. At the meeting it was decided to rent the Englander building on Alder Street for Republican headquarters. The headquarters will remain open until the general election in November. The committee's fair booth at the Garrett County Fair in August was termed a success and it was noted that six new voters were registered, five of which were Republican. Sue Hillen, Oakland, won the $50 savings bond.

It was also announced at Friday's meeting that Paul George has been appointed to serve as chairman of the Swanton election district.

OAKLAND Mrs. Faye Nally and her son,

James T. Nally, of Springfield. Va., visited Mrs. Nally's cousin, Mrs. Dorothy Moore, in St. Paul Lutheran Village in Cincinnati, Ohio. They then visited her two brothers, Robert and Odair, and their families in Berlin Heights and Lorain, Ohio.

Also visited was Mrs. Nally's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Steven Feldman of Ellicott City. While there, she attended her grandson. Timothy's, Bar Mitzvah. After the service, a reception and luncheon was held in the meet-

Let's Vote . . .

This is not the first time this column has been utilized to express the following opinion, however we believe that some issues and topics cannot receive too much emphasis. We refer once again to the importance of voting, one of the most precious freedoms afforded us as citizens of the United States.

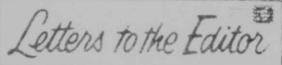

Every citizen who is at least 18 years of age will have another opportunity to exercise not only this right, but this responsibility, on Tuesday, September 9, the day of Maryland's primary election. A responsible citizen does not only go to the polls and vote, but also does some homework beforehand, learning as much as possible about each candidate for office in order to make the best possible selections. The Garrett County League of Women Voters and the local news media, both print and broadcast, has expended much time, effort, and money to make such information available to the public. We sincerely hope that it has been received and utilized.

We are affected every day of our lives, directly or indirectly, by the actions, programs, and decisions of the local, state, and federal governments. Yet, in most cases, it is a minority of eligible voters who place the persons in office who are responsible for managing these governments.

The old adage "My single vote doesn't really count" is a poor excuse for not voting, because when such a large block of eligible voters take this attitude, and do not vote, then all those single votes together really do count and really can make a dif-

We also believe that citizens who give up their right to vote also give up the right to complain about the actions of elected government officials. It takes so little time and effort to register and to vote, that persons not willing to contribute even this much to our system of government are basically hypocrites when they air their grievances toward those in Voting is a right that many in the world would die for. In fact, many soldiers of this nation have done just that-died, for the protection of our many freedoms, including voting. September has been proclaimed as Forget-Me-Not Month so that those who have sacrificed so much are once again remembered. A trip to the voting booth next Tuesday would be an excellent way of "forgetting them not.

Former Senator Friend has a right to disagree with any piecof legislation. However, he has made some comments in reference to the black bear legis matically be fined $2,000. In addition, he claims I did not have the interest of the people I represent at heart in sponsoring

The new law says right in it that any penalty imposed under this section does not apply to an individual who kils or wounds a black bear in defense of the individual's own life, the lives of other individuals, or the lives of animals on the individuals property. This was not in the old law, therefore this is an improvement and very beneficial to the individual. If bears are damaging your crops, you can do what is done for deer damage: call DNR officials and they will evaluate the damage and one of the options is to give a bear permit to you, the property owner. This is now allowed because of a bil introduced two years ago and it is a mechanism to protect

The penalties are all discretionary, which means they can be nothing. The legislation says for a first offense, a fine not exceeding $1.500, plus the potential for other penalties, and a second offense would allow for a fine not exceeding $2,000, plus the potential for other penalties These are, as I said, all discretionary and can be nothing They are not mandated. This is not out of line with surrounding states as has been implied by Mr. Friend. We checked five states and fines range from $500 to $2,000 with potential for other penalties, some states mandate some of the penalties, others had minimum amounts and at least one had a $500 replacement fee on top of the fine.

This issue is a statewide one. not just Garrett County, as there are bears in other parts of the state, but most are in Garrett County. When the killing of the two hibernating bears hit the metroppolitan papers there were many legislators ready to submit bills on this matter and many wanted strictor penalties than what passed. I have always had the interest of the people I represent at heart When I found out there were going to be bills introduced on the bears, I tried to beat everyone to the punch and get them to co-sponsor this bill, in order to keep penalties down and be discretionary, not mandated There are nine co-sponsors of the House Bill and several cosponsors of the Senate Bill. These co-sponsors are ones who wanted something done. Also, during the bill process,

To the Editor: My son came out of work one night and found his '85 Dodge Ram truck completely covered with flour, mustard, syrup and toilet paper, which ruined the paint on his truck. The police were called and an investi gation was started.

Shortly thereafter the alleged criminals were found out, and When this bill was being confronted by the police. They admitted to the crime. But the juveniles. Essentially, that means in Garrett County, a juvenile can break the law and get out of it, with nothing but a 'slap on the wrist.'

When a person turns 16, we on this matter when it was in give them the privilege of driving because we think they are responsible for their actions. In this particular case, we have also given the two girls involved the privilege of repesenting our county this year. If they are responsible enough to do this, then they should be liable for the problems they have caused. But nothing was done on their behalf. I can't mention their names, but they know who they are. It was a very sick and expensive joke. If it had been definitely would not have been their vehicle, it would have been a different story.

In juvenile court a person is only liable for the basic damage that has been done. If it costs more to have the job done right. you have to pay for it yourself. They are also not liable for the aggravation and harassment they have caused. The law protects them too much, and the law enforcements," "hands are Commissioners at a press conference Tuesday updated the financial situation at the Garrett County Health Department.

'The situation seems to be improving," said Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr.

Gregg was referring to a financial shortfall the local health department has been experiencing lately. Health Officer Dr. William Pope informed the Commissioners several months ago that he was beginning the new fiscal year with a deficit in the nighborhood of $50,000. Dr. Pope began immediately asking for voluntary cutbacks in manpower and reviewed health department programs which could be cut back or eliminated.

Those measures appear to be helping as Dr. Pope informed the Commissioners Tuesday morning that, based on a 12-month projection, he felt confident the situation would resolve itself. He also stated that in the next few weeks he will make the decision on calling back the seven employees who have been working on a part-time basis since early summer. The Commissioners all agreed that they are optimistic about the overall financial picture at the Health Department and now feel that the situation can resolve itself.

This coming Tuesday, September 9th, is Primary Election Day in Garrett County. As a registered voter you have the right to participate in this important selection process which helps determine how County Government will be operated the next four years.

I believe that I have clearly demonstrated through my years of service as County Commissioner, that I have worked for the betterment of Garrett County and its citizens. I am, and will continue to be, an advocate for quality basic service which includes support of good roads, improved police, fire and rescue protection, economic and job development. My continued support for the education of our youngsters, is a documented fact.

I have worked, and will continue to work, to make Garrett County the best County in the State of Maryland. On Tuesday, September 9th, I ask you to support the person who has supported Garrett County.

- •If the current Administration's policy has been to bring jobs to Garrett County, how many jobs have been created in the last 4 years?
- •If the current Administration's policy has been pro-education, why is this the first time in 25 years the education budget was approved as submitted?
- •If the current Administration's policy has been to lower property taxes, have taxes really gone down or has the assessable tax base gone up?
- •Is treatment of these issues a matter of current Administration policy—or politics?

Remember, for District Three, the next County Commissioner will be determined during the Primary Election on September 9th, and not like the other Districts during the General Election on November 4th.

GROWING LARGE AND ABUNDANT GARDENS is nothing new for Stanley and Wilma Friend, who live on the Shady Dell Road south of Oakland. But, this sunflower was unusual, even for the Friends. The stalk stands 12-feet, six-inches high, and is five to six-inches wide at the base. The larger leaves measure 16 to 18-inches across, and the flower head itself is 14-inches in diameter. Although it is not known if this breaks any record, it certainly shows that the sun, the rain, and the Friends provided what was needed to produce this giant sunflower.

Elect D. TIMOTHY BUTLER

> Board of Education District 2

I feel that the elected Board of Education members should be representatives of the parents of Garrett County students. I. welcome input from parents, and if elected, I will, to the best of myability, take into consideration the parents' views on issues brought before the Board.

Open Letter

As the Primary campaign draws to a close and since it is impossible to greet each one of you personally. I am taking this opportunity of communicating with you.

My CONCERNS are about our State. County and municipalities and in particular the PEOPLE who reside and pay taxes here. These CONCERNS range from too much government in our everyday lives, to taxes, property rights, property assessments, utility costs (Potomac Edison has petitioned the Public Service Commission for a rate increase). hunting license fees (an increase is being proposed by the Wildlife Administration), senior citizens programs, and tax reform.

Dutifully and faithfully I have served the people of Garrett County and District 1A in the past and have gained invaluable experience and knowledge in the legislative process. I have always worked closely on a person-to-person basis with the constituents and will continue to do so when elected.

I am asking you to support and vote for me in the Primary election on September 9, to represent you in a responsible and experienced manner.

I am an independent businessman, raised and educated in Garrett County, I have conducted my own campaign. I am fully aware of the responsibilities of the office of Delegate to the Maryland General Assembly and the only promise I make to you is that, when elected I will do my utmost to serve Garrett County and the District well.

Thank you

Dear Fellow Citizens: have been concerned in recent weeks with the race for Sheriff. As you know, my husband, Frank, served Garrett

County for many years as a deputy, and then as Sheriff. During the time Frank was Sheriff, he had three goals: (1) service to the public: (2) improving the quality of police training and experience, and (3) improving the working

Frank worked to do this in many ways. He pushed for more deputies, more and better equipment, professional annual training and schooling for his deputies He felt that by emphasizing these areas the public would benefit through better law enforcement—and I feel that he

Frank also supported direct contact between the Sheriff's office and the public. He made a point to personal y be available and contact many groups and organizations. ie and his officers were involved in many programs which ought to teach and inform the public on how to protect yourselves, your children, and your homes

My concern is that some people want to go back to the old days. If would bother me, and many others, to see a return to the old days. I supported the appointment of Sheriff Van Evans, when Frank died, because I felt he would stick to the goals Frank set. feel Sheriff Evans has stuck to those goals I don't think you or I would be well served if we voted against Sheriff Evans. Law enforcement is too complex to go back to the old days. I hope that you feel the same Sincerely. Rosalee Finch

Westvaco Reports Third Quarter Sales Increase

Westvaco Corporation, a major producer of paper, packaging and specialty chemicals, reported last week an increase in sales and earnings for the third quarter of fiscal 1986, which ended on July 31, split its common stock on a 3-for-2 basis, and increased the common stock dividend.

Under the stock split, Westvaco shareholders will receive, in the form of a 50 percent dividend, one additional share for each two shares held on the record date of September 10. The additional shares will be mailed to all shareholders in late September

The directors also acted to increase the annual dividend rate effective with the dividend

The hit Broadway musical 'Evita' is slated for Monday, November 10. This musical, which ran recently for four years in New York, won three Tony Awards for Best Musical, Best Score and Best Book.

"Evita" is the true story of one of the 1940's most fascinating figures, Argentina's Eva Peron. Born in the slums, she clawed her way to wealth, luxury, and incredible political power.

The musical was written by Andrew Lloyd Weber and Tim Rice, creators of "Cats" and

Job Initiative Program Noted By Gov. Hughes

front of the college's motor pool

Governor Harry Hughes announced last week that he is committing $7.5 million to the Investment in Job Opportunities (IJO) Program, an initiative designed to move families off of welfare and into private sector jobs.

"IJO is an investment in human capital. It will help build self-sufficiency for public assistance recipients and will provide a new source of trained workers to our economy. Hughes said.

Scheduled to begin in January with an initial $2.5 million in State funds and a $5 million commitment in the fiscal 1988 budget, IJO is expected to serve 1,250 clients in its first year.

"State dollars invested in this self-sufficiency effort will be paid back in the form of reduced public assistance, increased payroll and sales taxes, and general state economic growth," Hughes said.

To be jointly administered by the Department of Human Resources (DHR) and the Governor's Employment and Training Council (GETC). Hughes said the IJO program has three main goals: to train welfare recipients to obtain and keep jobs; to support local economic development activities that result in new jobs; and to provide support services, such as day care, for welfare recipients during their training and initial employment.

The decrease in federal job training and education funds for the disadvantaged, from $140 million in 1980 to $48 million in 1984, the Governor said. "created a real need for State action.

BEFORETHE

BEGINNING

September 7, 1986

Many scientists believe that the universe began with a great explosion of primal elements. This theory, called "the Big Bang Theory," has resulted in mathematical calculations that many believe pinpoint a relatively precise moment when the "Big Bang" took place billions of years ago. Some scientists have even con- to happen--"Big Bang" or no structed a precise scenario of bang at all. For, if the God had a what happened minute-by-min- purpose in creating the world-

ute. I am not personally competent to evaluate this theory or these general and me in particular? computations. I do see in them a certain logic and I find these ideas most stimulating and provocative. Sometimes thinking about is no way of knowing what happened or was going on even a fraction of a second before it. If, in fact, there was a "Big Bang" that brought the universe into being, scientists cannot -- and probably never will-be able to determine who, what or why caused the great event of creation

It is important for us to determine as well as we can what really happened when the universe came into being, not just as a matter of curiosity about the past, but as a means of understanding the present and anticipating the future. But, if science can tell us what happened at the beginning, it is not less important for us to continue to contemplate what or who caused that beginning.

"VERY GOOD"

It is at this point that the Book of Genesis and its early chapters mean so much to me, for I find it impossible to think that the world 'just happened," that there was nothing or no one who caused it and Genesis says this plainly-What is his purpose for humanity in Genesis says, "God blessed them... be fruitful and multiply...have

The Genesis story of Creation the universe and my place in it also affirms something which helps to put things into perspec- both the secular world and Christians seem to forget from time to ime: "God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very, very good" (1:31).

presently have the licenses, they are still effective until they expire. For renewal and those of you who have not obtained licenses, there is some significant changes from the old law. Probably the most important change is you must pass an examination given by the Maryland Department of Agriculture. Also, the new licenses are only good for three years instead of five years and you must take the exam each time you renew. The Extension Service does not have anything to do with the enforcement of the law. I have been asked to assist you with training that will help you to pass the exam. Sometime in the very near future I will be announcing the dates that you can attend the training and the dates of the exams.

Frost! Sudangrass and Sorghum Can Be Poisonous to Animals Sudangrass and sorghum are two members of a group of plants that produce cyanide, which under certain conditions can poison livestock. Following a killing frost like we had in some areas of the county last week, these two crops can be dangerous. The favorable growing weather that we now have following the frost will cause the plants to send up new shoots which are apt to be very high in prussic acid (cyanide). Before you feed these crops, give me a call for more information. Frosted Sudangrass and sorghum can be safely fed as silage. If you suspect poisoning trouble, call your veterinarian promptly. Remove animals from the feed. Don't Delay-time is of essence.

Calf Weaning Management

There will be a lot of calves weaned in the next 60 days for those staying in the herd. Most people are finding it is best to work calves through the chute three to four weeks prior to weaning and give them all the shots they will need such as IBR, P13, BVD, 7-way Clostridial and Haemophilus Somnus. The best preventative vaccine for Pasturella problems is PRECON PH which is relatively new but does a good job. Also, on the preweaning trip through the chute, calves can be dewormed. degrubbed and deliced. At weaning time there will be nothing to be done but get these freshly weaned calves on water, clean hay or other feed for three to five days, and then turn them out on the best pasture, such as aftermath hay fields, available. Some producers creep feed calves prior to weaning within that last month. This helps to get calves started on feed more quickly once they are off their mothers. When calves are going through the weaning process, be sure they do get clean water and a palatable feed with some energy in it. Calves need to be checked at least twice a day for sickness. Be sure you have a rectal thermometer on hand. Normal temperature is 101.5° F. Anytime you record a rectal temperature early in the morning before calves are moved and before the day gets hot and the temperature is above 103° F., chances are something is wrong and that calf needs to be treated. Be sure to talk to your veterinarian about treatment drugs that you will need for sick calves to do the job right.

Chute Cows This Fall Every cow in Maryland should go down the chute this fall and have a couple of things done to her. In order to get her down the chute, you must first have a chute. Handling facilities are so important but they are relatively poor on a lot of cattle farms. If you don't have the right kinds of pens and chutes, put something together that you can handle these cows through this fall. If they are spring calvers, they need to be pregnancy checked. They should have a systemic for grubs and lice applied before the first of November. They probably should be dewormed at the same time, particularly if they are young, first-calf cows. If they are fall calving cows, they need the systemic for grubs and lice and the deworming also. Fall is culling time, for cows that are to calve in the winter and spring. Be sure to cull the open ones. Look at the eyes, feet, legs, udders and so forth and check age by looking in the cow's mouth if you don't have an exact age recorded. Culling those cows that won't do the job for another calf producing season is a necessity. The Maryland Cooperative Extension Service's programs are open to all citizens.

CDA Announces Rental Housing Production Effort

The Community Development Administration has announced that applications for the new Rental Housing Production Program are being accepted. A division of the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development, CDA is the state's housing finance agency. The Rental Housing Production Program (RHPP) is designed to increase the supply of rental housing for low-income households by providing lowinterest loans to private developers, non-profit organizations, local governments and local housing agencies. The loans can be used to cover the costs of building, rehabilitating or acquiring certain rental housing developments, or to reduce financing costs through interest rate reductions or rent subsidies. The program also can make advance payments, if secured by a mortgage, to nonprofit organizations for costs incurred while a project is being developed.

Rental housing financed through the program must serve households earning 60 percent or less of the area median income. Priority will be given to developments which serve households earning 30 percent or less of the area median income. Income limits will be adjusted for family size.

Loan terms and interest rates will be established to ensure the project's feasibilty. Interest rates can be as low as zero percent, and payments of principal and interest can be deferred, if necessary for the project's feasibility.

Local jurisdictions in which the housing is located must approve the development and make a contribution to reduce the project's development or operating costs, or otherwise support the development.

The Rental Housing Production Program is one of 14 programs created by the 1986 General Assembly as part of the governor's $38 million housing initiatives. The housing initiatives were introduced by the governor in response to the report of the Maryland Housing Policy Commission, which in early 1985 documented the serious need for affordable and safe housing in Maryland.

For information about the program or to obtain application packets, contact CDA's Rental Housing Programs office at (301) 269-2122.

EARACHE AND HEARING LOSS

An earache is a symptom of the most frequent cause of conductive hearing impair ment, an infection of the middle ear. The "eustachian tube" connects the middle ear with the area at the back of the throat behind the nasal passages. When one has a bad head cold, an allergic condition, or an upper respiratory infection, the infection can easily pass through the eustachian tube into the middle ear. The nostrils should never be pinched together when the nose is being blown. One nostril at a time should be pressed lightly while gently blowing the nose. Once an infection passes to the middle ear, fluids build. This causes pressure against the inside surface of the ear drum. Not only is it painful, it causes a temporary loss of hearing acuity. Good habits help one to maintain better hearing. Even with the best of care one's hearing can suffer an impairment. Oftentimes hearing instruments can help in returning a better state of clarity to what you hear. Come in today to ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES and learn how such instruments can help you hear better and enjoy the world around you to a greater degree . . . with every spoken word.

A conductive hearing im pairment should be treated immediately. Temporary hearing loss can easily beome permanent.

A CHECK FOR HABITAT - Representative Beverly B. Byron presented a check for $1.388.12 to Russell Sines, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity's fund-raising committee chairman (pictured above with Mrs. Byron), while in Oakland recently. The check was part of over $14,000 raised by the July 28 Byron/Holly Hills Golf Tournament in Frederick, Proceeds from the tournament went to benefit many charities, such as: Allegany County League for Crippled Children, Sheltered Workshop exercised their right to vote. of Carroll County, Arthritis Foundation of Frederick County, Garrett County Habitat for Humanity, Hospice Service of Howard County, The Boyds Learning Tree, Washington County Community George C. Edwards (R) will introduce Dr. Stephen Herman, Action Committee, and The Way Station. The fournament was co-sponsored by four Frederick car dealerships who each provided a car to be won by the golfers, provided they hit a hole-in-one, the odds of doing that being one in 40.000. "That may be true." said Rep. Byron, "but for some families in the Sixth District the odds of putting food on the table or finding shelter and clothing can seem just as great. It's a feeling the majority of us will never know, but there is a lot we can do to increase the chances for a better life for those in need. Supporting our local charities is one way to do it, and that's what the tournament was all about."

Company C of the 121st Engineer Battalion Combat Corps of the Maryland Army National Guard recently received the distinction of being awarded the Honor Company Banner for the 13th time. The Officers, NCO's and men of Company C are very proud of their unit, their service and teamwork and leadership that have made their unit great.

The members of the Company C are part of 147,000 Engineer Soldiers in the total U.S. Army of which two-thirds are National Guard and Reserve Units. Company C is a part of the total force concept and stands ready to serve our nation as a mobilization asset.

As a National Guard unit, Company C has three areas of service. Our first is support of our community. Company C boasts 144 members and an annual payroll of over $300,000, most of which is spent or invested in Garrett County.

In addition, Company C is represented in the community by an Armory located in Oakland. The Armory is used not only to house Company C, but also serves as the home base for the local State Guard. The State Guard is a support organization for Company C upon mobilization. The Armory can also be rented by or similar social events. More importantly, the Armory provides a convenient location for community services like the Red Cross Bloodmobile, Social Security Administration, and Department of Motor Vehicles. The unit has an NCO organization which sponsors groups like For more information about

Boy Scouts, archery and rifle teams. As an engineer unit, we can provide valuable assistance to organizations throughout the county by supporting community projects when properly requested and authorized by the Adjutant General. During the past few years the unit assisted in ball field construction of Southern High School and a community ball park for the town of Crellin. A parking lot, tennis court and jogging trail were onstructed with the assistance of the unit at McHenry, with the Lions Club. A walkway was built and installed for the Nature Conservancy at the Cranesville Swamp Nature Area. An access road was opened for Potomac-Garrett State Forest.

We also have an emergency mission for the State of Maryland. Company C, like many other units in the State of Maryland, stands ready to go into service at the direction of the governor. Company C was called into State service for nine days in 1963 during racial disturbance in Cambridge. Again in 1964, we performed eight days of riot duty in Cambridge. In 1966 the company was called up to fight a large forest fire on Backbone Mountain. In 1968 the unit was on emergency duty in Baltimore for seven days of riots. Five days in 1971 were spent in College Park for riot control duty. In 1972 the unit went into special action due to the Hurricane Agnes disaster. In 1976 the men and equipment of Company C were on snow emergency duty in Garrett County. The same leadership and engineer training that make Company C a combat ready unit also keep her ready and capable of successfully completing emergency missions for the

The third most important mission of Company C is in the defense of our nation. In the event of war or national emergency, Company C could be quickly mobilized and committed to combat situations anywhere in the world. The majority of our training is on those tasks that we would most likely be called upon to perform. Company C trains to U.S. Army standards and has a groups or organizations for parties, receptions, dances, dinners history of exceeding established requirements. Company C is Training, Weapons Qualification, and Best Mess Section.

capable of successfully completing a variety of combat engineer tasks including various types of bridge construction, mine fields, tank traps and other barriers, demolition of a variety of targets, breaching and clearing operations, various reconnaissance missions, road and basic construction missions, as well as emplacement for other units. Our training enables our unit to quickly reorganize and be committed as an infantry unit. Because of our combat missions, survivability and individual soldier skill are constantly stressed.

The company consists of three working line platoons to do these missions. They are supported by a platoon consisting of administrative, maintenance, supply, communication, and mess sections. The designs of the company enables it to operate independent of other units in the field. Company C trains to accomplish the assigned mission on the modern battlefield and survive. Individual jobs within the unit include: leaders (both officers and sergeants), construction and demolition specialists. truck drivers, heavy equipment operators, mechanics, cooks, communication specialists, and clerks. To assist these members in the accomplishment of the mission, the unit is equipped with a variety of modern weapons and engineer equipment, tools and vehicles. Members receive tuition assistance at colleges and trade schools, life insurance and bonus packages, as well as extremely good pay

The National Guard itself is the oldest military force in service to our nation today, tracing its history back to the militia of pre-revolutionary war days. Militia or National Guard units have served our nation in every major war or conflict, including Vietnam and Granada. Company C can trace its military roots in Garrett County to the 1800's and a local unit known as the Garrett Guards. The Maryland National Guard Militia was organized in December 1774 in Baltimore and was known as "The Maryland Line" during the Revolutionary War. Maryland units divided and fought for both the North and South during the Civil War. Maryland troops also served in the War of 1812, Spanish American War, World War I, and World War II. Company C is now one of five companies from all over the State of Maryland making up the 121st Engineer Battalion. The 121st Engineer Battalion was originally organized as the 5th Infantry Regiment in 1918. In March 1942 the unit was redesignated the 121st Engineer Battalion (Combat) Organic to the 29th Division. One of the most distinguished periods of service by the Battalion occurred on June 6, 1944, by being the first elements to hit Omaha Beach at 7:10 a.m. The Battalion slogan 'Pravious'', which interpreted as "going before", is therefore appropriate. Truly an important part of the mission of the combat engineers is to go before or with other units to make it possible for them to neutralize the enemy. It is often said of the combat engineer, "they are the first in and last out" when speaking of their role in combat.

History recorded that the 121st performed admirably. Its service on Omaha Beach on D Day 1944 is a source of pride and reverence for each member. In 1948 the 121st Engineer Battalion was reorganized in the Maryland National Guard where with certain modifications it remains todays. Company C, as we know it today, held its first drill in November of 1947, with 31 men and three officers in the St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish House. By 1950, the Armory was completed and the units was growing. For a time between 1959 and 1968, Company C was designated an Armor unit in a medium tank battalion. In January 1968, the unit reorganized to once again become Company C 121st Engineer Battalion (Combat). The outstanding performance of Company C won her the honor Company distinction in 1950, 1952, 1953, 1955, 1957, 1958, 1970, 1971, 1974, 1976, 1977, 1983, and 1986. In addition, the unit received the Superior Unit Award in 1985. The unit currently holds Guard ribbons as Honor Company, Best Engineer Soldier, Maintenance, Physical

The child safety seat law, enforced since January 1, 1984, requires children zero to two years to be properly secured in an approved safety seat and those three and four must, at least, be in seat belts. The fine, again, is $25.

GCC Prospects Bright . . .

An anniversary is being celebrated this evening. Garrett Community College is 15 years old.

It has been a somewhat stormy 15 years, especially the past five or so, however it now appears that things have been stabilized at the college and prospects once again look bright.

Despite the negative events and publicity of just several months ago, the fall semester enrollment at Garrett is significantly higher this year than last

It was also reported a few weeks ago that, according to a study published by the State Board for Community Colleges, the great majority of graduates of GCC believe that they received a high quality education at Garrett, which enabled them to progress well-prepared to four-year colleges to complete their degrees.

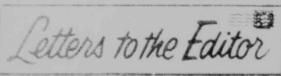

The college also recently received continued accreditation, that all-important designation that is essential to the survival of such an institution. During the turmoil of last fall, winter, and spring, it appeared that GCC's accreditation was in jeopardy. Had it been lost, the college would probably have

Dr. Stephen J. Herman, the new president of the college, is obviously off to a good start and is keeping all energies directed along positive lines.

We are thrilled with all of this good news about Garrett Community College and we appreciate the efforts of all who have worked so hard to turn things ground. Dr. Herman, the chairman and members of the board, the rest of the administrative staff, and the faculty have apparently settled most of their differences and restored the cohesiveness that is crucial to the success and future of any institution.

Last, but certainly not least, we thank all those GCC students, who "kept the faith" and believed in the college enough to put their educational efforts on the line. Great credit is due to the returning sophomores, who came back this fall even after experiencing those dark days during the last academic year. And certainly credit is also due to those new freshmen, who have chosen GCC as the place they

Aurora House Sustains Major Damage By Fire

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department was summoned to the Aurora Pike in Aurora, W.Va., Monday evening to assist the Aurora VFD on a structure fire that resulted in an estimated $80,000 damage to the Ron Bishop residence.

The Garrett County Office of Emergency Management sent Oakland to the scene of the 5:25 p.m. blaze after Aurora and Mt. Grove VFDs were alerted. Upon arrival by Aurora firefighters, a spokesman for the department stated that the fire had apparently originated in the garage area of the split level house, and had extended through a breezeway area into the house.

The spokesman said the fire gutted the living room, kitchen, and one bedroom on the first floor and also heavily damaged the second floor. The flames charred the roof rafters and broke through the roof at one

The fire apparently started when one of Bishop's sons was filling a riding lawn mower with gasoline, which was ignited by the mower. Mrs. Bishop and another son were also at home at the time of the fire. There were no injuries.

The family also lost in the blaze a car valued at $4,500. a tractor valued at $2,500, and the riding mower, estimated to be worth $4 800

Garrett County has 292,000 acres of Maryland's total 21/2 million acres of forest land. Properly managed, these forest lands can yield a continuous supply of lumber and plywood for construction paper for reading and writing and lumber for furniture. The forest land and the forest industry in Maryland are important to everyone in Maryland.

More than 17,000 people work in the forest industry in Maryland. These jobs include loggers, mill workers and processors. Primary wood products include sawtimber and pulpwood. The sawtimber harvest in Maryland yields enough lumber to build approximately 16,500 average size homes. The pulpwood harvest yields enough paper to provide each citizen of Maryland with 80 pounds of paper products.

The secondary industry produces such products as mill work, moulding, boats, boxes, crates, cabinets, clocks, caskets, barrels, doors, windows, fencing, flooring, furniture, ladders, maple syrup products, modular homes, construction mats, musical instruments, novelties, pallets, paper, picture frames, plywood, roof and floor trusses, signs, stairs, survey stakes, treated wood,

Our Turn

A Day in the Life of an Election Judge by Pam Ashby

One would have thought we were stocking a grocery store as we trudged into the Garrett County Court House at 6 a.m. on election day laden with assorted munchies, coffeemaker and thermoses, and rolls of quarters for the soda machine. "We" refers to the election judges in a district which shall remain nameless to protect the innocent.

When one is told one must not leave the building until the polls close and all the votes are tallied, one attempts to come prepared. So there was cheese and crackers, zucchini bread, various sandwiches, chips and dip, doughnuts, homemade fudge, peaches and pears-the list goes on. But by 7:30 a.m., we were hungry for scrambled eggs, bacon and toast. Thank heavens for Bobby, the local arrand runner, who not only brought us breakfast, but checked on us periodically to see if we needed more food. We did. We are proof-positive that the human animal eats because of Another interesting activity in which one tends to involve himself to alleviate boredom is a research project. Our study involved the registered voters birthdates to determine if they chared birthdays with us or any member of our families.

I couldn't believe it when I found one voter who shared my husband's birthday-even the same year. My co-chief judge cuined my excitement when she stated dryly, "Pam, you goofball. Look at the voter's name by that birthdate." (Was my face red!) I replied defensively, "Well, there is another Joe Ashby who's about my husband's age. 'Yes, Pam," she snipped, "and maybe he lives in your house. Look at the address, you goofball!

"Well, maybe" . . . I began. Right, she interrupted. "Maybe we're in the Twilight Zone." I tired of that activity and began another study. I only hope the voters who were Democrats didn't take offense when I inquired if they were also Catholic. It seems as though 75% of all Democrats in my district are Catholic. It was such an exciting study that I'm already planning a study for Republicans in the general election in November. But I'm not sure yet whether I'll ask them if they've ever had an ingrown toenail or if they own a

Collie. I'm a Republican and I fall into both categories. Stay tuned. I'm sure you are as eager for those results as I am. Weariness at the polls can also cause one to lose touch with reality from time to time. I did something that was totally out of character for me that day. Heh! Heh! A certain candidate handed me a note inviting me to an election party later that evening. As he began to leave I discreetly put the note in my purse and yelled, 'But , I'm married." I thought that poor man would melt into a pool of embarrassment right there on the spot.

By early evening, my co-judge and I were exchanging insults to pass the time. At last count, she was ahead, but we're planning a rematch in November.

But seriously folks, the most exciting part of the day came ment in Deer Park Cemetery. when the polls closed and we tallied the votes. We applaud those who exercised their right to vote. We do hope there is a better turnout in November, though, because I think between us, the election judges in our district gained about 89 pounds on Tuesday.

Class Ring Night Set For Tuesday At Southern High

The second annual parent night for ordering class rings will be held in the Southern High School cafeteria on Tuesday, September 16, at 7

Parents of Southern High students in the 11th grade are invited to join with their sons and daughters in a meeting with Steve Posey, Josten's representative. Posey will show a short movie, discuss the types and styles of class rings available, and take orders during the evening session. Refreshments will be provided by Josten's.

Students have received jackets of information about class ring choices. The company representative will discuss the information in this packet and answer questions prior to taking orders. A $25 deposit is required with each order. Rings ordered during this evening session are expected to be delivered prior to the Christmas holiday.

According to Miss Henrietta

CAMPAIGN SUPPORT - The Maryland Realtors Political Action Committee recently presented a check for the campaign of George Edwards, House of Delegates. "George has been very supportive of the rights of individuals to hold and own property and has actively been a part of many issues during his term in office," said a spokesman from the Garrett County Board of Realtors. Greatest Year Ever . . .

In case you hadn't noticed this past spring and summer, Garret County just completed its greatest year ever in the sport of Baseball! Yes, that's right, baseball, in an area where it's supposed to be too cold, too wet, and there is too much snow to ever play good baseball. Well, thanks to the efforts of a hard core group of baseball-minded people, Garrett County enjoyed its finest year in the National pasttime.

This unusually successful year may seem to be coincidental, but if you look a little closer you will find this all comes about by the people in the sport of baseball working together to upgrade their sport. There are now youth-baseball camps, more teams, and a level of competition for ages 9 to 39. High school coaches have worked hard to improve their facilities, equipment and player development. Coaches at all levels have worked together to share ideas, equipment and services to improve the skill level

More and more high school players are getting recognition from college and professional scouts. More high school players are going on to play college baseball then ever before.

Here's a recap of the incredible year of the diamond. First, the Southern High School Rams finished their season with an 18-5 record and a trip to the state semi-finals after capturing the Region Championship.

Next up was the Garrett C.C. Lakers, who finished 31-19 and earned a trip to the Region XX play-offs.

At the 13-15-year-old level, the Grantsville Tri-State Pony League team finished the regular season tied for first and advanced to the finals of the play-offs before finishing with a 16-6

Next, the Oakland Little League All-Stars won Garrett County's first District One Championship ever, only to lose to a Brunswick team in the sectionals that went all the way to the Little League World Series in Williamsport. That same Oakland team then traveled down to Westernport to capture the Tri-Towns Little League World Series. The Oakland Team finished 10-2.

The next basebil team to bring recognition to our county was the Accident Post 208 American Legion Team that won the Mt. District Championship and became the first ever Garrett County based Legion team to participate in the State tournament. Post 208 concluded the season with an 18-6 record.

Finally, to bring down the season in grand style, Terry Helbig's Oakland Pen-Mar team captured their first-ever League Championship and finished with a 20-11 record overall.

The combined record of Southern High School, Grantsville, Garrett C.C., Oakland All-Stars, Accident Post 208 and the Oakland Pen-Mar team was an incredible 113 wins, 49 losses and included two district Championships, one Region Championship and one League Champion. Three of the four titles were accomplished for the first time, all in the same year.

I think the year 1986 will go down, not only as one of the most successful years in the sport of baseball, but showed that the youth of Garrett County have to be reckoned with in the years to come. Congratulations to all the teams for making this the best

Dwayne Hedrick from Petersburg hit .376 and led the team in runs scored and stolen bases. He will be attending Garrett Community College this fall.

Darryl Dupert from Central Preston finished at .370 and second in RBI's. He and Hedrick posted four victories on the mound. "Darryl attracted much attention at the State tournament from both college and professional scouts," Caruso said.

Steve Sites, also from Petersburg, hit .359 and led the team in RBI's with 20, and was the heart of Post 208's pitching staff, posting a 4-1 record with two saves and 1.09 ERA. He pitched six innings of no-hit ball in the State tournament before arm problems forced him out. Sites is attending Frostburg State College this fall and is one of the area's top pitching prospects Steve Zumpano, former Northern High star, concluded a three-year Legion career with a .333 BA and was one of Post 208's catalyst in the line-up. He will begin his sophomore year at Frostburg State and is another one of Garrett County's top young talents to go on to college ball.

"Steve Zumpano does so many things on a baseball field to help a team win that you can't measure with statistics," Caruso said. "He is a sleeper as a pro prospect."

Other Post 208 players going on to college include Roy Hedrick and Jeff Sweitzer, Frostburg State; Marc Rumer, Garrett Community College; and Eric Mauzy, to Marshall University.

Caruso noted the dedication and effort of Dave McLaughlin, Jeff Sweitzer, Steve Zumpano and Dwayne Hedrick, who saw this team grow from 0-13 to Mt.

Congratulations!

Terry Helbig

After 14 years of persistence, dedication and your love of baseball, not only for the Oakland Oaks but for the Pen-Mar League, you finally did it!

You weathered the bad times, and when we were thin on talent, you somehow put nine players on the field. When we were thin on money, you somehow came up with just enough to keep going.

There's a saying in baseball that "nice guys finish last." Well, maybe they do but it's great when a nice guy finishes first. You never lost sight of that hope of someday winning the Pen-Mar Championship and now after all those years of broken dreams, it's all yours. No more wait until next year. No one in the Pen-Mar League deserves a championship more than you

On behalf of the Oakland Oaks, your friends and teammates, we are glad to have been able to put it all together in one incredible weekend. We hope you'll never forget. Thanks to you, Oakland has a Pen-Mar Championship.

Sincerely, The Oakland Oaks

P.S. The Oaks would like to bid a fond farewell to John Helmick and Dave Bender who have called it a career. Both are strong team personalities we will miss. Thanks for the laughs and your baseball memories.

> HOW TO CHECK THE HEALTH OF A HOUSE

If you are shopping for a home, check it thoroughly for potential flaws. Few homes are perfect, so before buying, you need to discover what minor or major problems the seller may not point out to you.

Here are some suggestions for what to check when looking beware.

*Plumbing, Test the water pressure in the house. Is there ampie water flow? Turn on all water faucets on the top floor and flush the toilet simultaneously. Are the plumbing pipes copper, brass, or bronze? These are the most durable, though they are not often found in houses built before World

.Floors, Do the floors sag or tilt? Roll a marble on the bare floors to see if there are slopes your eyes cannot see. Next, jump up and down in the middle of the room. If the windows or walls shake, you can suspect structural problems.

·Wiring, Test the house's electrical capacity by turning on all lights and a major appliance. If the lights flicker, the house is not properly wired. Check the garage, basement, and attic for frayed wiring.

·Heating and Cooling, Set the thermostat to force the heat or air conditioning on. How long does it take for the temperature to rise or fall? Ask to see the most recent year's utility bills for heating and air condition-

·Hot Water Heater, Check for signs of leaking or rusting. What is the capacity and how quickly does it refill? For a family of four, you will need a minimum of 30 gallons.

. Basement, Look for signs of leaks, dampness, or flooding.

.General Layout, Are the rooms conveniently located? Is mortar. Also look for any tellthere adequate storage space. Does the house have sufficient electrical outlets? Enough bathmake sure the land slopes away

Fatalities due to fires and explosions in oxygen-limiting silos ignited by the heat of the can be prevented by good management and the use of safety measures.

Oxygen-limiting siles by design have all their openings sealed to prevent oxygen from entering the silo. Generally, these silos are of steel or concrete construction of varying heights and diameters. The openings (bottom and top) are normally sealed with rubber- ploded. The fire fighters were gasketed hatches.

When these hatches are tightly closed and the silo is filled, the oxygen concentration should be insufficient to support a fire. If the hatches are left open or the oxygen-limiting features are not properly maintained, spontaneous heating can occur with subsequent ignition of the silage. If improperly sealed or otherwise not operating as designed. the amount of oxygen entering the silo may be sufficient to allow a fire to smolder, causing an accumulation of combustible gases due to incomplete combustion. Any additional increase in oxygen content in such an environment can create an explosive atmosphere. Thus, merely opening the top hatches of such silos, or applying water or foam by hose stream from the top of the silo, could allow sufficient oxygen to enter the silo and create an explosive atmosphere. Dust explosions may also occur if dust inside the silo becomes suspended as a re-

Check all silo doors for a proper seal and make sure they are in good condition. Seal old doors by applying a sealant on the lip of the door frame.

Equip the silo with a good center fill or mechanical silage distributor to keep silage uniform from bottom to top. Keep the distributor adjusted properly; follow the manufacturer's instructions.

July Slaughter Statistics Down In State, Up Nationally

The red meat production of Maryland's farmers in July, based on dressed weights, totaled 3.9 million pounds, down 11 percent from last month and 22 percent below July of 1985.

Changes in liveweight production during July of 1986 compared with July of 1985 by individual species were: cattle down 17 percent; calves down 43 percent; hogs down 28 percent, and sheep and lambs down three percent.

The national total for commercial red meat in July totaled 3.28 billion pounds, up fractionally from July 1985, to a new July record high

Milk Production Up Slightly In State

The number of milk cows on Maryland farms during July was up one percent from a year ed from last month, according to the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics

It was reported that milk produced per cow decreased 50 pounds from June but remained unchanged from July of a year ago. Total nuk production for July, at 141 million pounds, was down five percent from June but was up one percent compared to a year earlier.

Milk production in the 21 states surveyed totaled 10.5 billion pounds in July, down one percent from the previous year. Production per cow in the surveyed states averaged 1,166 pounds during July, up 15 pounds from a year ago.

otal milk cows averaged 9.05 million head, down one percent from June. If producers in the 29 states not surveyed for July malk production followed the trend showed by the surveyed states. United States total milk production would total about 12.4 billion pounds for July.

Family Health Update

by Donald R. Richter, M.D., FAAFP Childhood Asthma

Though asthma can be a serious disease, and certainly a frightening one for parents seeing their child struggle to breathe, it needn't be an incapacitating one. In some children, it's a response to emotional stress or depression, and goes away when these conditions are controlled. Some children seem to outgrow their asthma naturally. But even when neither of these is the case, and asthma persists, there are still numerous effective

If your child's asthma is caused by an allergy, such as to smoke, certain foods, animal dander or air pollutants, you may be able to alleviate it by changing the child's environment: forbidding smoking in your home, removing offending foods from the child's diet, getting rid of or restricting pets, or, if necessary, even moving to another area. Some children will need a dust-free bedroom with specially selected furnishings. In certain cases (pollen allergies), allergy shots can help, and in others, your child's doctor will prescribe medications.

The important thing for you to remember is that with modern methods your child need not become as "asthmatic cripple;" the chances are excellent that your child's doctor will find one or more ways of bringing asthma under control.

Teacher Awards

Nominations are being accepted for the national "Conservation Teacher-of-the-Year" awards program according to George Bishoff, chairman of the Garrett County Conservation

The competition is open to all full-time teachers working at the kindergarten through high school level who have developed an outstanding program of conservation education.

The National Conservation Teacher-of-the-Year will receive $1,000 in cash and an expense-paid trip to Little Rock, Arkansas, for the 1988 annual convention of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The national second place winner will receive a $500 cash award and the first place regional winner will receive

Co-sponsored by NACD and the Deutz-Allis Corporation, the purpose of the awards program is to encourage the development of creative learning experiences in conservation for young people. "Any teacher in a public or private school in our conservation district who puts an emphasis on conservation as a regular part of the instructional program is eligible for nomination," said Bishoff.

Interested teachers can obtain additional information and nomination forms from the Garrett Soil Conservation District in the Garrett County Courthouse, or by calling 334-1900. The awards program also honors the conservation districts judged to have provided the most effective stimulus and help for conservation education programs within the

MVA Urges Use Of Mail Service For New Tags

County Government Offices offering license plate renewals will come "on-line" with Maryland Motor Vehicle Administration's new automated system of registration and tag renewal in November 1986, according to a spokesman for the Administration.

Marylanders used to getting plates from county offices are urged to use the mail-in service MVA provides to all vehicle owners. Counties affected include: Anne Arundel, Calvert, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Frederick, Garrett, Kent, Montgomery, Queen Anne's St. Mary's, Somerset, and Worcester. Citizens with special circumstances, such as unpaid parking violations, vehicle emission violations or financial responsibility problems, will receive a letter from MVA "flagging these problems and listing the procedure necessary to resolve the problem.

'It is important to handle these problems quickly so the regular renewal registration forms can be issued prior to the A service will be conducted end of the owner's registration there at 11 a.m. Saturday by the month, allowing the registrant to receive their license tags and ment will be in Queen's Point registration on schedule," the MVA spokesman said.

THE HAZARDS OF TOBACCO were proclaimed at the Wellness Together booth at the Garrett County Agricultural Fair held recently. Nearly 1,700 people visited the booth and were warned of the dangers of smoking, chewing tobacco and rubbing snuff. The American Cancer Society, which partially funded the "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" booth, has invited placement of the booth in a statewide competition. Schools and organizations that want to take advantage of the message the booth provides may contact the main office of Wellness Together at Garrett County Memorial Hospital at 334-2155.

Nearly 1,700 Visit Wellness Booth At Fair

Wellness Together program coordinators, Mikal Moomau and Elizabeth Gilbert, report that 1,693 people visited the Wellness Together booth at the 1986 Garrett County Agricultural Fair. Six, eight-feettall by three-feet-wide booths shaped together in a cluster, provided participants with audio and videotaped messages on the hazards of tobacco use. Partial funding for the booth was provided by the American Cancer Society.

Though young people were the primary target audience of the booth, Ms. Moomau said the booth called, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." This song, by The Platters, played at the beginning and end of the threeminute videotape, and the Magical Mime Company presented a humorous, yet sobering, interpretation of the hazardous effects of secondhand smoke. The narrator quoted recent U.S. Surgeon General reports on the harmful chemicals released in the air by a lit cigarette and how the smoke-polluted air adversely affects nonsmokers who are exposed to it. The booth itself was painted by Peggy Moomau and Heather Bulhack, who depicted a smoky bus station littered by cigarette trash.

According to Wellness Together coordinators, Jane Avery, Ben Sincell and Asa Mc-Cain donated their time and talents to help develop the plan for the booth. Many more local, talented indivious contributed to its final production.

The American Cancer Society has invited placement of Wellness Togethter's booth in a statewide competition to recognize outstanding preventive health education projects on cancer. Results of > the competition will be made known in October.

Schools and organizations that want to sponsor the booth for one month or more are wel-

Background Scripture: Devotional Reading:

It is a popular piece of folkiore In Genesis 9 God promises never that tells us that at the end of the to destroy humanity again. rainbow there is waiting to be the story of Noah and his ark, is with you, for all future generbetween me and the earth" (9:

NEVER AGAIN The proverbial "pot of gold" might seem highly desirable at the rainbow and God's promise first thought, but God's promise and remembered the covenant is of much more importance to that God gave to Noah and all of us than any pot of gold, no matter how big or valuable it might be. For God's rainbow symbol is to signify something that is vital to civilization and the race itself:

never again shall all flesh be cut off by the waters of a flood. and never again shall there be a flood to destroy the earth" (9:11). So, of infinitely more value than a pot of gold is God's assurance of the new beginning-the opportunity to change course from the wrong one to the right one, to pick up the pieces of failure or disaster and start over again. In that sense, the rainbow is one of life's most important symbols for the possibililty of a "new beginning," vital not only in individuals, but society itself.

THE PROMISE It is in the story of Noah that the Biblical term "covenant" first appears. Although the term is difficult to define and explain, perhaps it will help for us to think

That makes this passage from found a pot of gold. It seems that Genesis a pretty timely message, the rainbow has always been re- for we live in a day when it seems garded as a sign of good fortune great multitudes of people firmly or of God's providence. Thus, in believe the end of the world is "just around the corner." They God tells Noah and his family: seem resignedly pessimistic about 'This is the sign of the covenant the world and its "immanent which I make between me and destruction." I find this attitude you and every living creature that particularly prevalent among the younger generation -- one recent ations: I set my bow in the cloud, high school graduate asked me and it shall be a sign of the covenant just this evening: "Do you think the end of the world is inevitable?

FEATHERED FIRE . . .

by R. Craig Speicher

Ruby's throat glittered like spellbinding diamond fire, his pulse seemingly gone berserk at 1,200 beats a minute, as he casually zipped through a flawless acrobatic routine that would dazzle Mary Lou Retton. Yes, that's the ruby-throat hummingbird all right, the only species of hummers proliferating east of the Mississippi, the one hovering hypnotically in your yard this morning.

Hypnotically, because of the unbelievable 70 wing beats a second-50 for the female-that can be frozen only with such sophisticated technology as a stroboscopic camera flash lasting 1/100,000 second

Hovering, thanks to the singular motion of a hummer's wings: Whereas other birds are limited to up-down wing movement, the hummingbird wing can travel in a complex figure-eight, making it the only bird capable of sustained hovering. Thus, it zips backwards as easily as forwards; up and down; left, right; even on its back when a quick getaway demands a reverse somersault.

Aerial agility becomes most dramatic during mating season, when the male courts the female with flamboyant flight that includes sharp verticle U-turns and dizzying loops. For the clincher, he pauses before her at the best angle with sunlight to exploit his firey-red, dime-size throat patch, hoping the whitethroated female finds his iridescence irresistible. He instinctively refrains from courtship on cloudy days when iridescence of throat and metallic-green backside feathers is minimal. Interestingly, the champion of flight frequently turns champion of fight, as well. Because he can accelerate from zero to 30 miles an hour in a second, the bird displays remarkable boldness near humans, and ounce for ounce, is the most aggressive of birds. It vigorously attacks any animal, regardless of size, perceived as a threat to food supply. Even hawks outweighing a hummer by 100 times are known to turn tail totally. Often, two hummers compete for the same food supply, dogfighting in the air with abandon. Motion-stopping photographs have revealed them using their feet to grab an opponent's bill, and jabbing and clawing at eyes with beak and feet. Sometimes the feathered fighters collide with an audible smack and fall to the ground, momentarily stunned. Damage, however, is rarely more serious than a missing feather or two. Surprisingly, the same combatants often dismiss their differences at nightfall, perching side by side in sleep, perhaps for protection in numbers against nocturnal predators.

Ironically, too, just as the hummingbird frequently menaces creatures much larger than itself, its own worst enemies are proportionally smaller: Yellow jackets, spiders and dragonflies are a few of the bird's most common conquerers.

Whether fighting, flying or floating before a flower, the 312-inch ruby-throat requires relatively huge amounts of fuel to energize its nearly invisible beating wings. Whereas the resting pulse of a perched bird measures 500 beats a minute-compared with 80 for a human—the pulse of an active hummingbird rockets to a stratospheric 1,200 beats a minute, or a stupefying 20 per

To match this metabolic marvel, an average man would require 350 pounds of meat and starch a day to burn 155,000 calories. Additionally, so much heat would be generated that if internal moisture needed for perspiration were depleted, body temperature would reach the melting point of lead-750 degrees F.—whereupon the body would ignite.

The ruby-throat's most pressing problem, then, is feeding constantly on nectar and insects during daylight, but nighttime spells trouble: Even during sleep, the hummer's metabolism races. If the small bird has had an inadequate foraging day, and especially low nighttime temperatures follow, energy reserves fall dangerously.

In response, the hummingbird may enter a state of torpor, where energy requirements fall as much as 80 percent below temperature. In fact, the hummer becomes so cold and rigid as to appear dead and can be handled readily without its taking the

The second floor has its own private entrance and a wide, banistered sundeck which wraps around three sides of the home; modern kitchen with hardwood cabinets, built-in range, hood, dishwasher and breakfast bar; carpeted living room and dining room, both with large picture windows. Front parlor with French door access to sundeck; full bath with vanity and cabinets; and a laundry room.

The third floor is fully carpeted, and houses a master bedroom with built-in waterbed platform, dual-controlled directional lighting, TV cable hookup; two large walk-in closets and a master bath with twin shower heads, sunlamp and vent; two smaller bedrooms with lots of sunlight and ample closet space; a large linen closet in hallway.

The dry, well-lighted full basement has an abundance of electrical outlets and work benches for the most avid handyman.

The home is heated by a gas hot water furnace. Two gas water heaters and dual electric meters offer additional possi-

A two-story storage building sits at the back of the large 115 by 234 lot, with convenient access from the alley.

Some remodeling, repairs and restoration could transform this dwelling into a showplace. If you are seriously interested in a challenging commitment of your time, you must see this home.

St. Jude's Novena

May the Sacred Heart of Jesus be adored, glorified, loved and preserved throughout the world now and forever. Sacred Heart of Jesus, pray for us. St. Jude, worker of miracles, pray for us. St. Jude, help of the hopeless, pray for us.

Say this prayer nine times a day for nine days. By the eighth day, your prayer will be answered. It has never been known to fail. Publication must be promised. Thank you, St. Jude.

911 Day Proclaimed By Governor Hughes

The Office of Governor Harry Hughes has announced that he Long. Saturday callers of the is issuing a Proclamation Hubert Friends were: Lewis making the ninth month, 11th day of 1986 (September 11, 1986) 9-1-1 Emergency Number Charles McCrobie and Rita Day" in Maryland. This Proc-Bower were Wednesday evelamation is in conjunction with ning callers of his mother, the efforts of the National Catherine McCrobie, and his Emergency Number Association to have September 11 declared "9-1-1 Emergency Number Day" nationwide.

Hughes' proclamation is a means of expressing thanks for the "tenacity, cooperation and dedication" of the men and women in the Public Safety Answering Points, law enforcement, the fire and ambulance services and the Emergency Number Systems Board. The establishment of 911 makes it possible for anyone living or traveling in Maryland, when faced with a life threatening situation, to quickly summon assistance by dialing 911 from their home, office, pay phone or car phone.

"We are justifiably proud that Maryland is the second state in the nation to have a statewide operational 9-1-1 system, with Maryland's system being fully funded," a Maryland Department of Public Safety spokesman said. California and Delaware are the only other states in the nation with a state-wide 9-1-1

Shoe Show

A NEW SHOE STORE recently opened for business in Oakland. Shoe Show offers dress, casual, sport and work shoes in popular styles for men, women and children. Managed by Tim Skipper, the store is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Friday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Sunday from 12 to 5 p.m.

Middleton Biggs, Elisha Harvey, Nathaniel B. Harvey II, and John G. Riley, early settlers of the area.

The land was deeded for the sum of one dollar to the trustees by Davis K. Duling. The deed itself was not recorded until January 1, 1868, in Cumberland, all had dinner at the Alpine since at that time Garrett Lake Resort on Sunday. The County had not yet been formed.

Several former pastors are expected to attend this year's homecoming, and the current pastor, Rev. Kenneth Montgomery, reminds the public that everyone is welcome.

SUNNYSIDE-UNDERWOOD

The "Helping Hands" group met on Friday evening for a hot dog roast.

The meeting was called to order by the leader Hazel Upole, and opening prayer was by Bessie Canan. An offering was taken and a committee selected to care for needs that may arise.

The Thursday afternoon Bible study group met again with Mrs. Canan as hostess. Opening prayer was by Herbert Merrill, as guest of the group, and the scripture read was from members.

Jane Kope taught the lessons. Others attending were Mrs. Sybil Merrill, Mildred Peterson, Elaine Beckman and daughter, Amanda.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Waybright of Lansing, Mich., arrived at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Waybright, and son, Delbert, on Sunnyside Road for several days of vacation. left on Saturday morning to grade. accompany their daughter, Regina, to Asbury College in Wilmore, Ky. Marylyn, Carolina, Autumn, Clarissa, David and Scott spent the after-

The first trustees of the noon visiting their grandchurch were James W. White, mother, Bessie Canan. Other guests in the Canan home were her nephew, Roy Arnold, Sr., and daughter-in-law, Tracy Arnold, and two sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cummings, and daughters, Elaine and Becky, Mildred Peterson, and Donnie and Connie Friend and daughters occasion was to celebrate the birthday of Keith Cummings.

Hughes Appoints Commission On Agent Orange

Governor Harry Hughes has announced the appointment of the Maryland Agent Orange Commission to study the effects of agent orange and other defoliants on Maryland veterans who served during the Vietnam conflict.

'The long-term consequences of exposure to these defoliants may include an increase in the number of disabled veterans in the State and an increase in the number of birth defects in the children of Maryland veterans," Hughes said.

"It is a legitimate concern of all of us to provide support, information, and where necessary, counseling services to these victims.'

The Governor unveiled the commission at a ceremony in PINAFORE LEADS ANNOUNCED - Jane Avery and Nancy Learey, directors of the Garrett Choral Society's production of "H.M.S. Pinafore", have announced the results of try-outs held last week at Southern High School, Several dozen persons participated in the try-outs and all are expected to have a part in the musical, which will be presented the first week of November. There are eight leads in the musical and the persons who have been granted these roles have already begun to rehearse. Studying the script in the above photo, left to right, are Dwight Jeffrey, who will play Bill Bobstay: Cathy Helbig, Josephine: Tom Hayhurst, Dick Deadeye; Bill Grant, Captain Corcoran; and Scott Glotfeity, Ralph Rackstraw. The other leads include Fred A. Thayer as Sir Joseph Porter. Lisa Thayer as Little Buttercup, and Kaylen Carlson as Cousin Hebe. Grant and Hayhurst are playing the same roles they had when their high school chorus presented the play nearly 20 years ago under the direction of Ms. Learey. Volunteers are still needed for both on and off stage work, including chorus members, prop, stage, and technical crews. Interested persons may contact Miss Avery, Ms. Learey, or Asa McCain, set director.

Accident and Friendsville fire fighters were summoned by the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management and later received assistance from Grantsville and Addison, Pa., VFDs. Upon their arrival they discovered flames coming through the roof of the wood frame structure.

According to Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett and Allegany counties, Wachter had built a fire in the wood stove at about 7:15. He was lying on the couch when he heard a burning sound and then discovered the wall behind the stove in flame. Wachter told Carola he then called 911 and went upstairs to a loft area to find a pet dog, at which time the flames burst through the floor near the chimney and burned him on the face. He then attempted to extinguish the fire with a garden hose, but to no avail. Wachter also reportedly sustained a sprained ankle

The house, which had a full basement, also had an attached greenhouse that was also destroyed by the fire, along with a lot of equipment. The roof was burned almost entirely from the

DHMH Advises Elderly, III To Get Flu Shots

With the flu season approaching in Maryland, the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene advises elderly and chronically ill adults and children to get immunization protection from influenza.

According to Feng-Ying C. Lin, M.D., Chief of the Center for Clinical Epidemiology, this year's flu vaccine provides protection against Type A Chile, Type A Mississippi and Type B Anne Arbor influenza virus infections-those most likely to occur in the 1986-87 flu season.

Dr. Lin also recommends an additional vaccine which protects against Type A Taiwan flu. This new variant of influenza, which recently caused outbreaks in Asia among children and young adutls, is expected to occur in the United States sometime during the 1986-87 flu season.

Influenza is an acute viral illness of the respiratory tract, characterized by fever, sore throat, headache, cough and muscle ache. Without complication, the recovery usually zations like the United Nations takes two to seven days," said

Hats Off To Students, Teachers . . .

Major efforts are now underway in this country to draw attention to and combat the problem of illiteracy. Millions of people suffer from varying degrees of this deficiency and some are nearly incapacitated by it. Not only can it cause actual physical destruction, such as the illiterate driver who causes a fatal accident because he cannot read road signs, but it also can create severe emotional stress and a feeling of self-worthlessness.

The inability to express oneself in writing is another area of great concern. Far too many people have no grasp of even the simplest functional writing skills and find it difficult just to fill out an appli-

Likewise, the level of mathematic skills in the United States remains pathetic when compared to that of many other nations.

We are pleased that the state of Maryland, under the direction of Dr. David Hornbeck, state superintendent of schools, took the initiative several years ago to address these inadequacies by creating functional reading, writing, and math tests that must be passed by every high school student in Maryland before he or she can be awarded a diploma. Although there have been some problems with the tests themselves that have drawn considerable criticism (including from this newspaper), we strongly support the philosophy behind the program and certain revisions have also been made to improve the tests.

But what pleases us most this week is the report from the Garrett County Board of Education that Garrett County students are now achieving scores above the state average on all four tests: reading, writing, math, and citizenship. Not only that, but Northern High School led the entire state in scores on the functional writing test, as 95 percent of the ninth graders passed the exam. This is an outstanding achievement and we tip our hats to these students and their middle school and high school language arts instructors, especially Dr. Gerry Snelson, who has spearheaded the functional writing effort at Northern.

We also salute the students and teachers at Southern Middle and Southern High schools, where scores were substantially increased in just one year's time.

In our fast-paced world of technology, the basics of readin', writin', and cipherin', have apparently slipped by the wayside. We think it's great that Maryland educators have recognized this, tackled the problem head-on, and that our students, especially Garrett County students, are responding so

Attendance and exhibits were up. However, more exhibits would make a greater tair. Plan new to enter next year. No fee is paid at the gate when you bring your exhibits in.

Our 30th year celebration started with a beautifully donated cake honoring directors who served on the first fair. The clowns were a real joy for the kids, who received candy and balloons, which were donated as was the helium for the balloons. Thanks to John and Leah Brenneman for your many hours of labor.

How youngsters scrambled for gift certificates from the airpland drop! Charles "Skeeter" Bowman was pilot and donated the use of the plane. Many merchants supplied the gifts for these gift certificates. Everything was greatly appreciated; so a huge thanks to all the merchants and Skeeter.

Mellinger Enterprises shared their four-wheelers with the fair directors. Thanks, guys.

To the Editor: You have a disease called lupus." More than 3,000 Marylanders have heard these words from their physician and have learned the meaning of chronic illness. It means the illness will never go away. It means there is no cure.

Sometimes there is a sense of relief that, finally, there is a name for all the symptoms, the pain, the depression that have plaqued the patient for so long, but invariably this is followed periods of denial and despair. Eventually, hope and determination return with proper medical treatment and the location of a support system that tells the lupus patient she is not alone, that she can indeed exercise some control over her disease as well as her life. The Maryland Lupus Foundation, along with the 98 other chapters of the Lupus Foundation of America, provides this support system in many ways. During the month of October, roclaimed by President Reagan, Governor Hughes, Mayor Schaefer and County Executives as Lupus Awareness Month, we concentrate our efforts in promoting awareness At this time, we publicize the fact that one million Americans suffer from lupus. We increase our efforts to provide up-to-date factual information to patients, their families, the general public and health professionals. We emphasize that research is going on into the cause and cure for lupus and that progress is money to support the momentum of this research. Because we do this, the lupus patient feels a little less alone when she tells incredulous family and friends, "I have lupus." She knows there is a place and a group that understands, a place where she can contribute her efforts in the fight against lupus. Appearing second on the

Colon Cancer Screening by Donald R. Richter, M.D., FAAFP

Colon cancer is a major health problem. Colon cancer is the second leading cause of death due to cancer in the United States. Approximately four to five percent of Americans will eventually develop colon cancer with 138,000 new cases predicted to occur

Prevention of colon cancer may be possible. Dietary changes, such as increasing fiber and decreasing saturated fats may be helpful in reducing your risk of colon cancer.

Surgery remains the most effective treatment for colon cancer. Five-year survival is improved by early detection (approximately 80%) as compared to when the cancer is present in advanced stages at time of detection (approximately 25% fiveyear survival). Studies have shown that screening techniques are effective in detecting colon cancer at earlier stages in asymptomatic patients and thus improve their suvival.

Effective screening for colon cancer includes the following

-rectal examination -stool testing for blood, and

-sigmoidoscopic examination

The American Cancer Society guidelines for screening for colon cancer are as follows:

-Age 40 and up: rectal exam and stool testing for blood every

-Age 50 and up: sigmoidoscopy every three to five years after normal tests one year apart.

Certain high-risk individuals should have this screening performed at an earlier age. Those having concerns about colon cancer should feel free to discuss this information and the procedures with their family physicians.

Various Issues Discussed By Board Of Ed.

Numerous issues were discussed by the Garrett County Board of Education during their monthly public meeting held last Thursday.

One item involved the revision of the promotion and retention procedure for students at the middle school level.

It was determined that a middle school student will be retained if he fails two or more full-year classes, fails either reading, language arts, science. math, or social studies two years in a row; or fails to meet the conditions of the Garrett County attendance policy. Following a failure in any of these areas, the student may go to summer school in order to make up the work, and will be considered for promotion following the completion of

The formal completion of the study will be released in November. Two of the main points addressed in the study are the high costs of transportation from the coal fields to the port in Baltimore and the recommendation of forming an export trading organization. The primary responsibility would be the pooling of resources in order to achieve the maximum benefits of marketing export coal to foreign countries. Habitat Extends Invitation To

An Open House Sunday, September 21, has been designated as International Day of Prayer and Action for Habitat for Humanity. In this spirit, Garrett County Habitat extends an invitation to the public to an "open house" at its newest house. The house is being purchased by James and Janet Friend and is located on Fourth Street in Oakland. The open house will be from 1 to 3 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 21.

We are especially proud of this house because we tore down an existing structure and built on the original foundation," a Habitat spokesperson said. "We were also able to use the same furnace and duct work as well as the bricks from the original chimney; all the bathroom fixtures were saved and used from the old house. This enabled Habitat to save money on materials and this savings in cost will be passed on to the homebuyer." The house was built by Paul Miller, a retired contractor from Baltimore and a member of the Habitat Building Com-

Anterless Deer Permit Quotas Are Announced

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has announced the 1986 antlerless deer permit quotas.

A total of 12,180 permits will be available in all or parts of 10 counties. Hunters should be aware that permits are no longer required to take antlerless deer in Harford County. The total number of permits in Allegany County has been increased from 1,000 last year to 2,000 in

According to Bob Miller, Forest Game Program Manager, "This year's allocation of permits should keep the Allegany County herd at a reasonable level. The increase in permits for Carroll County from 800 to 1,800 should help to stabilize the deer herd there, too."

In Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties, only antlered deer may be harvested from November 29 to December 6, and only antlerless deer may be taken December 12 and 13. Hunters should also be aware that the bag limit of two white-tailed deer (with no more than one antlered and one antlerless) in Washington County Zone Two is in addition to the bag limit elsewhere in the state. The same applies for the Washington County Zone Two bag limits for bow season.

Heart Association Food Festival To Stress Good Diet

Does an apple a day keep the doctor away?

The root of that old adage might be buried somewhere in antiquity, but modern medical science shows a definite correlation between nutrition and health.

'A balanced diet containing the four major food groups is essential for good health," says Wally Hijab, M.D., chairman of the American Heart Association-Western Maryland di-

According to the American Heart Association one of the major risk factors in the development of heart disease is too much cholesterol (a fat-like substance) in the blood. This cholesterol can cause a bulid-up in the artery walls, which can narrow the passageway of the blood flow. Over time, the arteries can become so clogged they close completely. If this happens in an artery that supplies the brain, the result can be a stroke.

The body produces a certain . amount of cholesterol, and the substance is essential for good health. However, an excess of cholesterol, which usually comes from a diet rich in fatty meals, whole milk products and eggs can trigger heart disease. As a part of an ongoing effort to help Americans learn more about their cardiovascular systems and their overall hearthealth, the Heart Association is sponsoring the Food Fesitval. Developed to be a nutrition awareness event, the Food Festival takes place in September. Grantsville Foodland and Browning's Foodland will take part in this event by offering information on good nu-

The event focuses on the role of good nutrition in a person's health. "We want to provide people with the opportunity to learn more about how they can modify their eating habits to improve their health. People should be concerned over the large amount of cholesterol in the typical American diet," Hijab said.

"Diet has been proven to be a safe, practical and effective for most people. Reducing the intake of high-fat meals, wholemilk dairy products, egg yolks and other foods high in saturated fat and cholesterol is helpful, along with eating more poultry, fish, fresh fruits, and vegetables, grains and cereal, and low-fat dairy products," said Hijab.

He said the Food Festival is an event that can involve the entire family. "Generally all family members, from the vounger children to grandparents, have input into the weekly food selections, so everyone can benefit from the information the Heart Association has to offer,"

HEADING FOR A SCORE in Friday night's contest between Southern and Bishop Walsh High School is senior tailback Bruce Bosley of the Rams, who led the Rams with 51 yards on nine carries and a touchdown. Teammate Donnie Horner, No. 23, prepares to assist Bosley by blocking a pair of Spartans. The Rams, who were considered a slight underdog going into the contest, crushed the Cumberland team, 44-14, to remain undefeated on the season. They will travel to Kingwood this Friday evening for an encounter with Central Preston, also undefeated with a 3-0 record

peared would be a low-scoring

Most of the third quarter was also all defense, as the Spartans moved the ball down to the Rams' 29 before Donnie Horner grabbed another Coulehan pass and sped 81 yards for another touchdown.

The next BW drive was stalled by the fired-up Ram defense on the Spartans' 31-vard line, when the nightmare just got worse for Coulehan. With a fourth-and-13 situation, the center snapped the ball over the head of Coulehan, who was the punter. To make matters worse for him, he could not manage to pick up the ball and the swarming Rams recovered it on the one-foot line as the quarter ended. Southern sophomore quarterback J.R. Bosley then scored on a quarterback sneak to give the Rams a 20-0 lead at the 11:28 mark

Back-to-back fumble recoveries by Southern's Marty Sharpless set up the Rams' next two scores. On the kickoff, Danny Trask returned the ball 12 yards before fumbling to Sharpless on the Ram 43. Six plays later J.R. Bosley raced in from 19 yards out for a touchdown.

Again Southern kicked off and again the Spartans fumbled, with Denny Martin being the victim this time and Sharpless again recovering the ball at the Spartan 27. Five plays later Bruce Bosley scored on a threeyard run and John Lewis' run for the conversion points gave Southern a 34-0 lead.

Coach Tom Woods then began playing his second and third string personnel, after which BW's Todd Blowe picked up a Ram fumble at the Southern 39 and raced in for the Spartans' first score with 5:10 remaining in the game. Pat King booted

J.R. Bosley then returned the kickoff from his own 10 to the BW 10 and reserve quarterback Bobby Bernard, who is a firstteam defensive player, scored the Rams' final touchdown on a bootleg. Randy Tichnell ran for the extra points.

Coach Woods also noted the "inspiration play" of Brian Dixon, the outstanding special teams performance of Sharpless, and improved efforts of Mike Bittinger and Randy De-

"We caused some turnovers and fortunately were able to capitalize on them," Woods said, who admitted that he never dreamed his team would record such a resounding victory over Bishop Walsh. "Our defense was solid throughout the game. BW was able to move pretty well between the 30-yard lines, but our aggressiveness and hard hitting kept them out of the end zone."

Woods said, however, that he is still concerned about the effectiveness of his offense, expected to be among the most explosive in the area. It was not until the fourth quarter they were able to sustain some drives and score and the same offense netted only six points the previous week against Beall. "I recognize the fact that we have played to good football teams," Woods said, "but it just seems that our offense is in a

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for the breaking, entering and theft which occurred at Sanders Machine Shop near Oakland. This crime occurred between August 27 and August 29.

After gaining entry into the building, the culprits used a small trailer to remove three tool boxes, a red Craftsman lawn mower, and a leather pouch containing chisels and punches. The tool boxes contained numerous tools consisting mostly of sockets and wrenches.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers is seeking the help of the public.

A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the criminal in this case. Crime Solvers also pays cash rewards for information leading to the capture of wanted persons in other unsolved homicides, rapes, burglaries and aggravated assaults.

Wool-Promotion

Program Approved Older Farmers By Sheep Farmers Are Victims Of

Sheep producers have voted to continue deductions from Commodity Credit Corporation wool incentive payments to finance promotion of wool, according to CCC Acting Executive Vice President Milton

Preliminary returns, as of September 10, show that of the producers voting in the referendum, 62.2 percent, owning 68.7 percent of the sheep, favored continuing advertising and other market development programs under a proposed new agreement between the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. Producers voted in a referendum held August 18-29. The proposed agreement authorizes continued deductions from payments made under the National Wool Act on wool and unshorn lambs marketed during 1986 through 1990. The new agreement authorizes deductions of up to six cents a pound on shorn wool, up from four cents, and 30 cents a hundredweight on unshorn lambs, up from 20 cents. The previous rates had been in effect for four years. Last year, the council's expenditures for wool and lamb dents occurs right before lunch promotion were about $4.1 million. The amount budgeted for Farm Safety Week this year will be September 21 through 27. The theme is "Be Protected More Accidents from the Unexpected." Case Each year over 300 people, studies from Purdue University age 60 and over, are killed in the show that a number one priority United States as the result of on farms should be installing PTO guards and roll-over proing to a Purdue University tective structures (ROPS) on study. Gary L. Smith, Univerall farm equipment.

In 1976, OSHA adopted a Machine Guarding Standard. Most of that standard applied to new machinery by requiring manufacturers to supply certain guards. One aspect of the standard, however, cited unguarded power-take-off shafts (PTO's) dangerous enough to warrant requiring remanufacturing of shields to fit old equipment, also.

Case histories show the danger threatened by these unguarded PTO's. A 10-year-old boy died instantly as a result of massive mutilation as he attempted to jump from a fence line feed bunk to the drawbar of a moving tractor and feed wagon being operated by his father. The father reported that he had never known of any shielding being in place on the implement input driveline, but that there was a master shield in place on the tractor being used at the time. Yield Prospects For State Improved By Recent Rains

The second forecast of corn yields for 1986 in Maryland indicates that farmers will be harvesting a 70-bushel-per-acre corn crop. The yield, if realized. will be 10-bushels-per-acre better than the August 1 forecast of 60, but 40-bushels-peracre below last year's 110-bushels-per-acre and 48 bushels below the record 118-bushel-per-acre crop of

September 1 forecasted corn production, if realized, at 42.7 said. million bushels will be 39 percent below last year's record carcass breed of cattle and the production of 70.4 million

Soybean prospective yield, based on conditions as of September 1, is 26-bushels-peracre, a two-bushel improvement from the August 1 forecast but still six bushels below the record yield of 32-bushels-peracre in 1978 and 1985. Soybean production as of September 1 is forecast at 9.9 million bushels, nine percent above the August 1 forecast of 9.1 million bushels but 23 percent below the record 12.8 million 1985 production.

Maryland's potato yield is expected to average 170 hundredweights per acre. This potato vield, if realized will be unchanged from the August 1 forecast but 30 hundredweights below 1985's 200 hundredweights yield and 45 hundredweights below the record yielding 1982 crop of 215 hundredweights

The production of corn for grain over the nation is forecast at 8.27 billion bushels, down seven percent from last year's record high crop and down less than one percent from the August 1 forecast. The U.S. average yield per acre is forecast at a record high 119.7 bushels, up 1.7 bushels from the previous record high set in 1985 but down 0.7 of a bushel from

Soybeans production is forecast at 1.98 billion bushels, virtually unchanged from the August 1 forecast and six percent below the 1985 production level. Yield, at 33.1 bushels per acre, is up 0.2 of a bushel from August 1 but is 1.0 bushel below the record high of 34.1 bushels per acre set in 1985. If realized, this will be the second highest yield of record. Area for harvest is forecast at 59.8 million acres, down one percent from August 1 and three percent be-

Frame Size Of The Angus Breed Is Criticized

Gary Minish, associate dean of Virginia Tech's College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, told Agnus breeders that the breed needs to change direction, when he keynoted the American Angus Breeders' Futurity and All-American Type Conference in Louisville,

"The breed is in trouble from the standpoint of physical appraisal because judges have chased one trait, frame size, for too long. I am going to try to pull it all together for the future selection of Angus cattle," said Minish, who as a livestock judge has officiated at major cattle shows on five continents.

First, we need to redefine what the model Angus bull and female should look like and decide the emphasis we are going to place on specific visual traits when judging Angus cattle," he said. Traits include muscle, structure, mobility and sex character, in addition to frame

We, including myself, started the emphasis on frame size in 1969. Now it's time to stop and get back to the basics and put it all together," Minish

Angus were once the most structurally sound breed. Now, because we have selected for frame size for 20 years, instead of four, five or six as intended, it has been at the expense of traits the cattle can't afford to lose-muscle and soundness. They're not in serious trouble vet, but the emphasis on frame size has got to Minish also emphasized that judges of Angus cattle should be qualified and certified. "For six years, people were certified to judge Angus cattle. Then it was dropped in favor of the 'good old boy' system. The majority of judges are still qualified to evaluate most traits, but not all of them. For instance, we have judges who cannot tell one-tenth of an inch of fat from one inch. And the consumer doesn't like

Horsemanship Contest Winners Are Announced

Identifying breeds of horses, pointing out lamenesses and unsoundnesses in horses, and naming items of tack and grooming tools were all part of the Horsemanship Contest held at the Garrett County Fair. In four separate divisions, 31 persons attempted the test. The winners of that contest, in the various divisions, are as follows

Pre-Junior Division: Jamie Schmidt, first; Katie Spiker, second; and Heidi Hauser, Junior Division: Stephanie Wilt, first; Bobbi Campbell, second; Jackie Campbell, third; tied for third was Heather Miller; Jason Van-Sickle, fourth; Stuart Otto, fifth; Rebecca DeBerry, sixth; and Adam Spiker, seventh.

Senior Division: Darren Lambert, first; Eric Martin and Mike Kepple tied for second; Heather Perando, third; Liz Sisler and Bobbi Jo Harvey tied for fourth; Tim Kepple, fifth; and Becki DeWitt and Barbara Browning tied for sixth. Adult Division: Joan Sussman, first; Joanne Harvey, and Susie Smith tied for second; Debbie Campbell, third; Jack Campbell, fourth; and Beverly Miller, fifth.

The state's worst drought in 100 years probably will force one of every 10 farmers out of business, agricultural economists predict. And the fate of these nearly 1800 farmers could have an even greater ripple effect on Maryland's economy than the economists originally anticipated. during agriculture's boom 'We realize now it's not just a years. Now they're trying to question of how many farmers go out of business," says John Wysong, agricultural economist age more than $30,000 every with the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

According to Wysong, the drought is exacting its greatest

And when a larger farmer is forced out of business, says Wysong, the impact of his fate is more keenly felt-on the agribusinesses that supply his fertitoll on Maryland's biggest prolizer, chemicals, and equipducers, those dairy, grain, and ment, the banks that have lent fruit and vegetable farmers him money, and even the conresponsible for more than half sumers that depend on his of the state's annual $1 billion

Says Charlie Hamburg, manager of H.B. Duvall, a farm equipment supply store in Frederick: "Business was slow last year. Well, the drought has made a bad situation worse. We're hurting.'

Adds Wysong: "When a large interest payments alone averfarmer goes under, his suppliers lose one of their best customers. You get serious cracks in the very infrastructure of agriculture.

But while the farmers' fate Less vulnerable, says will have serious repercussions Wysong, are the state's smaller in Maryland, the economic forecast does include some good news. "The ripple effect is 'Sure it's tough on the little certainly going to be strongly guy-very tough," says felt here," says Wysong, "but Wysong. "But the farmer who not to the same extent as in the harvests a smaller volume of midwest, where farm foreclosures have completely drainjob to help him weather the ed some economies.'

Unlike farm belt states, Maryland has "a strong, diversified economy," says Wysong, with an unemployment rate of 3.9 percent, one of the nation's lowest.

Consequently, foreclosed Maryland farmers and their partners in agribusiness may be more esily absorbed into the job market than their midwestern counterparts, says Wysong.

Employment prospects for farmers who live near major metropolitan areas, for example, those farmers from Prince George's, Montgomery, Howard, Baltimore, and Anne Arundel counties, are particularly high, says Wysong.

Not so fortunate, however, are farmers from the lower Eastern Shore, where agriculture is the primary industry and unemployment runs as high as 6.4 percent.

But even farmers who find new careers in the state's booming service and construction industries may face difficult

Frost! Sudangrass and Sorgum Can Be Poisonous to Animals This article was printed a couple of weeks ago, however, I have had many calls so I want to remind those of you who did not have frost of the potential danger. Sudangrass and sorghum are two members of a group of plants that produce cyanide, which under certain conditions can poison livestock. Following a killing frost like we had in some areas of the county last week, these two crops can b. dangerous. The favorable growing weather that we now have following the frost will cause the plants to send up new shoots which are apt to be very high in prussic acid (cyanide). Before you feed these crops, give me a call for more information. Frosted Dudangrass and sorghum can be safely fed as silage, If you suspect poisoning trouble, call your veterinarian promptly Remove animals from the feed. Don't delay-time is of essence.

Test Moisture With Microwave You can measure the moisture content of a forage - green chop, hay, silage or corn - with a home microwave oven. Basically, you weigh a wet forage sample, drive out all moisture with the microwave, and reweigh the dried sample. The difference is the moisture level contained in the sample. 1) Collect samples from several windrow locations. Cut the forage into pieces 1 to 2 inches long and mix in a clean pail. 2) Weigh an empty paper lunch bag on a small scale that preferably weighs in grams, such as a dietary or postal scale. Record the exact weight of the bag.

3) Remove 50 to 100 grams of sample material from the pail and place in the bag. Record the exact weight. 4) Place a glass of water in the microwave - this is to avoid burning out the microwave element. 5) Heat the bag and the sample on high power about 5 minutes for green chop or silage; about 2 minutes for partially field-dried hay. Check for dryness, mix the sample in the bag, and reheat for 11/2 minutes. Reweigh. Repeat this until the sample appears dry. 6) At this point, heat for only 30 seconds and check the weight - repeat until there is no further weight loss. Record this final dry

A sample may appear dry, but could contain up to 10 percent moisture. The only way to get an accurate analysis is to make sure all water has been driven from the sample, and this is when there is no further change in weight. A slightly charred sample won't affect the test. But start over if the sample burns.

7) Now calculate moisture content. Subtract the weight of the bag from both the wet and final dry weights you recorded. This gives you the wet and dry weight of the forage sample itself. Then subtract this net dry weight from the wet sample weight and divide by the wet weight:

(wet wt. - bag wt.) - (dry wt. - bag wt.) x 100 = % moisture. (wet wt. - bag wt.)

For example, let's say the bag weighs 8 grams; bag and wet sample weigh 80 grams; bag and completely dried sample weigh 33.2 grams. Subtract the bag weight of 8 grams from the wet and dry weights: 80 - 8 = 72, and 33.2 - 8 = 25.2, which equals 46.8; this is the amount of moisture that was in the sample. Divide 46.8 by 72 and multiply by 100 for the present moisture:

> (72 - 25.2) = 46.8x 100 = 65%72

Your forage sample contains 65 percent moisture.

THE SATURDAY BRASS QUINTET will be in concert as the first offering of the Community Concert Association, which will open at Fort Hill High School auditorium, Cumberland, on September 25 at 8 p.m. The quintet, now in its fifth season of touring, has performed hundreds of concerts and educational clinics throughout the United States and Canada. As winners of the 1983 Artist International Chamber Music Competition, the Saturday Brass Quintet gave its New York debut in Carnegie Recital Hall. In 1984 it was one of six chamber groups chosen from across the nation to perform in the finals of the Naumberg Chamber Music Competiton. While not on tour, the quintet makes its home in New York City, and performs throughout the northeastern United States. They perform a wide variety of musical styles, ranging from Medieval music to jazz and contemporary classical. Members of the group are: Terry Szor and Geral Wright, trumpet Lawrence DiBello, French horn; Richard Kessler, trombone; and Kyle Turner, tuba.

SEX, AGE NO BARRIER TO SUCCESS

Are sex or age barriers to being successful in the real estate business? Absolutely not!

Women occupy an increasingly large segment of the real estate industry. Real estate has long been a career where women could earn top dollar incomes. In fact, there are probably more women top producers in residential real estate than men. Where else can you go into a whole new field that is going to produce the kind of income you would like-without college as a prerequisite. Nursing Seminar

The American Heart Association Western Maryland Division has announced that Mitchell Feldman, manager of physical fitness at Kelly Springfield Tire Company, will be a speaker at the 21st Annual Cardiac Nursing Seminar. The program is entitled "Cardiovascular Risk Update: A Healthy Nurse is a Happy Nurse" and will be held Friday, September 26, at Allegany Community College, Cumberland.

Feldman will speak on Exercise for Cardiovascular Fitness. Included in his presentation will be an explanation of "fat" caliphers and some information on getting in shape to stay. Mitchell will also lead the group in some actual warm-up and cool-down exercies. The program will include an informal mini-lecture and actual hands-on experiences for RN's and LPN's.

Feldman's background includes a B.S. degree from Penn State in kinesiology. He earned a master's degree in exercise and physiology from the University of Pittsburgh. He has experience in working with cardiac rehab programs connected with the University of Pittsburgh and worked as the manager of physical fitness at Kelly Springfield for the last year. Feldman is also an active member in the Association for Fitness and Business and will be attending a conference with this group in Orlando, Fla., two

One or the newest varieties of chanical injury squash available is the spaghetti squash. The name may cured for better keeping seem strange, but once you have cooked it and seen its pulp separate like cords of skinny grees farenheit. Then store in a pasta, you will see how fitting the name is.

The spaghetti squash is a uate too much. Examine the winter variety available in late summer or early fall. You will find it to be light yellow in color, slightly smaller than a football, but somewhat similar in shape and skin texture. Mature fruits are about eight inches long and four inches in diameter and weigh three to four pounds. enough for about four servings. The squash has a light delicate flavor and is delicious simply with butter, salt and pepper. However, it accepts other seasonings as well.

When this squash is golden yellow in color, it is ready to pick. It is best to grow only what can be used as fresh because it does not freeze or can well. Flavor and texture differs in the frozen and canned squash.

Harvest them before hard frost and leave a one inch piece whole squash uncovered on of stem on them when you cut them from the plants. WHO IS LOOKING OVER OUR SHOULDER?

An integral part of your pharmacy service is involved with checking, double-checking and then checking once more to be absolutely positive. Sure, it takes much extra time to do this on every prescription but when it comes to dispensing medicine there is no way we can take a chance that something may be wrong.

Other checks and balances are involved in the procedure as well. Storage requirements for certain vpes of medicines must be reviewed periodically. ating and expiration dates must be watched. And, of course there are government regulations that must be compiled by inspectors.

"A GREAT MANY PEOPLE ENTRUST US with their prescriptions, health needs and other pharmacy products. We consider this trust a privilege and a duty May we be your personal family pharmacy?

Good Marriages

Some years ago a young woman, struggling with her marriage and the demands of family life, asked me, "Do you really think there are any good marriages and healthy families today?

After more than three decades counseling people with marriage and family problems—and being married 30 years—I have some observations if not conclusions

If you mean by GOOD MARRIAGES and FAMILIES that there are no cross words, disagreements, and verbal fights; no. I don't

If you mean families in which there are no misgivings (at times) about having married each other, about having had children, or wanting to run from it all; no. I know of none never wanted to change each other, make each other over, and felt at times like hurting one another; no, I know of no good

But if you mean by GOOD FAMILIES that there are creative tensions, heartaches that bring them closer, disagreements that are realistically dealt with: yes. I know of many

If you mean by GOOD FAMILIES those who are pulling willing to allow each other to develop their own special gifts even though risks are involved yes. I know of many.

Background Scripture: Devotional Reading Galatians 3:15-22

There are always three things that strike me when I read the story of Abraham in Genesis 17. First of all, I am always struck by the ages of Abram and Sarai: 99 and 90 respectively! At an age when people are long past what we regard today as a productive age, Abram and Sarai, heretofore KEEP THE COVENANT childless, were now to become parents! I'm so glad God waited until these two people were in their 90's, for it should remind us that advanced age is a time when God still has something for us to do and be. One is never too old to be singled out by God for a task. One never "retires" from God's service.

NOLONGER

The second feature of this story that strikes me is the fact that Abram and Sarar are renamed by God. Even the degree of change is significant: Abram becomes Abraham, and Sarai becomes Sarah - both similar and yet somewhat different-just as later

Saul would become Paul. These changes in name signal a continuity with the past and also a new reality. Abraham and Sarah would still look like the old Abram and Sarai, they would still sound like and act like them. But there would also be a difference, a change great enough to justify a new name. What this means is that when God calls us to be "new persons," it doesn't mean that we will be totally unlike what we have been before, but that all of those traits, features and factors will be organized around a new center. It is as our lives become refocused. The third thing that strikes me about this story is Abraham's all-too-human response to God's promise: "Then Abraham fell on his face and laughed, and said to himself, 'Shall a child be born to a man who is a hundred years old? Shall Sarah, who is ninety years old, bear a child? "(17:17). Sometimes God's promises to us do seem absurd, but it is only our lack or faith that introduces the element of absurdity.

If an angel were to appear before you today and proclaim that God would be making a "new person" of you, you might not actually laugh, but perhaps you would think it an absurd promise "Who?" "Me?" "At this time in my life?" "A change to what?" But think of it simply as a call to 'come up higher,' to take one or more significant steps upward from whatever you are to whatever in God's sight you can be.

Andrew Messer, insurance agent for Holzshu-Nolte-Welch and Associates of Oakland, along with the local agency, was honored by U.S. Fidelity & Guaranty Life Insurance, at the 23rd Annual Life Achievement Club Convention. The convention was held September 7 through 10 at the Hotel del Coronado in Coronado. Cali-

The Oakland office of Holzshu-Nolte-Welch received an award for being the Leading Group Life Insurance Premium agency in the southern division. That southern division encompasses an area from Maryland south to Florida, and west to the Mississippi River.

Messer qualified for the expense-paid trip to the convention through sales volume, and was honored at a special president's reception held for those agents qualifying for Life Achievement Club member-

Save energy at home

ENERGY MAFTERS STILL MAFTER A LOT, especially with the U.S. Department of Energy predicting the cost of oil and gas will more than double and the cost of electricity will more than triple by the year 2000. If you're concerned about saving energy, the CertainTeed Home Institute recommends that you test your house against the one in the illustration above. It's quick and easy to do and, if you're like most people, you'll discover at least two or three energy sore spots in your home which can be buttoned up to save on heating costs this winter. Remember, whether you live in Maine or Texas, saving energy means saving money.

Indoors and out, the effect of the changing seasons is evident as Americans across the country undertake home improvement projects that will ensure that their homes are inviting and energy efficient during the coming months.

Now is the time to take inventory of your needs and make the appropriate preparations.

Perhaps increasing the amount of insulation in the attic would help decrease fuel bills, or maybe the fireplace and chimney need to be cleaned before being used.

Taking care of jobs such as these early on will not only afford a satisfying sense of accomplish-ment, but will also ensure that your home (and its inhabitants) will be prepared for the first cold snap, no matter how sudden.

Setting your priorities and then organizing the appropriate steps is the key to successfully executing your home improvement projects, whether large or small.

Often it is possible to combine several steps of reorganization and cleanup. Before dismantling and storing the fans away, for instance, a thorough cleanup of the closet may be in order, perhaps the garage should be hosed down before the barbecue equipment is stowed away.

Cleaning the gutters will require a ladder, so why not wash the outside windows at the same time that you are checking for leaves that are potentially a source of clogging and water damage!

New storm windows or an energy-efficient furnace may bring an immediate savings for your winter fuel bill as well as being a wise long-term invest-

Who Says You Can Plant in the Fall!

Who says you can plant now-in the autumn of the year? The professionals who are members of the American Association of Nurserymen, that's who.

Not so many years ago, spring was generally recommended as the ideal time for planting trees, shrubs, everreens and herbacous perennials. Then, several decades ago, fail was strongly promoted as a good time to transplant many deciduous plants and

With modern technology, though, the planting season has been extended tained by the roots. even further. Most trees and landscape plants can now be planted at any time of the year your soil can be worked.

You see, advances in the transport and care of trees and shrubs from their growing location to your yard have made this progress possible. Many of the trees and other living plants you want began their life in containers, so there is no "shock" when they are moved from growing field to retail nursery then to your landscape. Others have root balls carefully wrapped in burlap to protect them in that same process. Nursery people know these and other "secrets of success" to share ture from the top of the plant thanks to decreased growth activity and leaf drop. That means more water is re-

And roots will continue to grow through the winter as long as temperature and other soil factors are favorable. Experiments conducted at the Ohio State University at Columbus indicated that soil temperature in mulched rose beds, at 15 to 18 inch levels, seldom dropped below 40 degrees Farenheit, so the importance of mulching fall planting is evident.

There are exceptions, of course, but in general most trees and other landscape plants can be planted at any time so long as modern methods of production are considered, care is taken in the preparation of the plants for planting, and attention is given to after-planting care. Vinyl windows

Vinyl-framed windows with insulated glass are clearly ahead in the race to become America's fastest growing window.

According to executives with Vinyline windows, a leading producer of rigid vinyl windows and patio doors, vinyl windows represent some 17 percent of the window market and are growing about 15-20 percent each year.

Aluminum and wood windows, the company notes, continue to lose significant market share to vinyl.

Producers of vinvl windows and doors stress the products' low maintenance, high energyefficiency, and long-lasting strength and durability as key product features. They resist corrosion, peeling and blistering, and do not have to be paint-

Increasing Design Choice

Continuous product developments by such leaders as Vinyline have provided homeowners with far greater design choice than was available a few vears ago.

Styles include single and double-hungs, casements, sliders, picture windows, bays and bows, and even round-top and other custom configuration windows. Various frame colors are also available.

Low maintenance vinyl siding is the ideal choice for homes of any age

The life cycle of your home is in one of three stages at this moment. New in need of repainting, or requiring extensive repairs to restore its attractive appearance.

So, whether you're building a new home or in the process of remodeling your present residence, you should be well aware of the low maintenance features of solid vinyl before selecting a siding material.

Once smyl siding is properly applied, it will give any house a "freshly painted" look, providing homeowners with years of freedom from repainting and tiresome upkeep. The only maintenance required is a simple soap and water rinse.

The product's low maintenance features, combined with an attractive woodgrain or "brushed" appearance, have made vinyl the most popular American siding material.

Lifetime warranty

Adding to this appeal is the lifetime warranty that major manufacturers like Bird Incorporated offer for standard and premium lines of vinyl siding.

Made of tough PVC (polyvinyl chloride) compound, it cannot corrode or dent like aluminum and will not chip, peel or rot like wood. Color is molded clear through, so that even deep scratches will not show.

Select contractor carefully

And while it is important to invest in good quality materials from a reputable manufacturer, it is equally important to select a professional home improvement contractor whose workmanship can be trusted.

In most cases, the overall quality of the job is only as good as the craftsman applying the siding.

Recognizing the need for finding reputable home remodelers. Bird Incorporated has instituted a unique Professional Vinyl Siding Contractor Certification Program that acknowledges the best craftsmen in the field.

To be certified, contractors must meet certain criteria for experience, commument to ethical practices and professional reputation. Once certified, the contractor agrees to abide by the code set forth by the manufacturer

For example, Bird-certified contractors must offer a two-year warranty on installation as a complement to Bird's lifetime product warranty.

They are also required to provide clear, written estimates and contracts, and carry insurance coverage for worker's compensation, personal injury and property damage.

And, when requested, they will provide the names and addresses of satisfied customers for homeowners who may wish to inspect their work.

For most people, their home is one of their most prized possessions. So it is wise to trust it to someone who has a proven reputation for fine craftsmanship.

Winter ice dams on the roof can cause water damage to the home

Heavy winter snows piled high on the roof of the home are the cause of stained walls or fallen ceilings, and will be the despair of many homeowners next spring

In many cases, the damage is not only cosmetic, but also structural, and will result an major expense and inconsen-

"When the underside of the roof's" snow layer begins to melt because of heat loss from the home, the water can retreeze if the temperature drops, and new ice can form an ice dam," according to Mike Mehrer, Marketing Manager for Certain Teed Corporation's Rooting Group.

The dam will act to block newly melted water, and the reservoir which forms behind the dam will back up under the shingles.

"Unless you have a waterproof barrier beneath the shingles, water can get into the house," Mehrer said.

"Normal sningle underlayment, white an excellent protection membrane against wind-driven rain, cannot alone perform acceptably under the severe conditions of an ice dam.

"In order for normal shargle underlay ment to work in ice dam conditions, it must be applied in a double layer separated by a continuous layer of coating of asphalt plastic cement, a messy, time consuming and expensive process."

Mehrer said Many "snowbelt" residents are famil far with the ice dam phenomenon, and have learned to improvise ways to deal with a by breaking up the snow loads with rakes before the ice forms, or chopping away the ice after the dams have built up.

"Just look at all the torn and scarred shingles on our roofs if you want to understand the damage to the life of a roof caused by this approach." Mehrer said, "not to mention the inconvenience."

A new system has now been designed which stops this winter leakage and eliminates the need for raking and chopping on the roof

CertainFeed has introduced a new product called WinterGuard*, which remains waterproof even after the shingles are maled on

According to Mehrer, WinterGuara grips around the nails because it's a special sticky asphalt material, a product of the newest modified asphalt technology. It also sticks to the roof and to itself at all seams. It is applied where the dams form at the caves and in the valleys.

"Many roofers won't bid a job anymore without using this system." Mehrer said. "They know they won't have to deal with complaints next winter when WinterGuard has been applied. Some areas have even begun to require it by zoning regulations." Mehrer added.

Mehrer suggested that homeowners

Time To Borrow

If you're interested in remodeling your home and also want to upgrade its energy efficiency, but aren't sure where the money is going to come from, why not consider borrowing against the equity you've built in your property.

Many homeowners are finding that loans are readily available and interest rates are lower than they've been in years.

There are several types of home improvement loans. Home equity or second mortgages are the most popular today. With such a loan the amount you can borrow is calculated on a percentage (usually 75 to 80 percent) of your home's appraised value minus the unpaid balance of your mortgage.

Here's an example: If your house is appraised at $100,000 and you have a balance of $60,000 on your first mortgage, you could get $20,000 to remodel your kitchen and add a bathroom, as long as you meet standard loan qualifications.

The rates for home equity or second mortgage loans vary, although they often are set at two percentage points above the prime rate. Also, the repayment periods are generally shorter than first mortgages.

Which Projects Offer Best Payback?

Naturally, if you're going to remodel your home, you'll want to get the maximum real capital effect. According to the CertainTeed Home insitute, home improvements offering the most value are: Energy-saving upgrades, kitchen modernizations, existing space redesign and bathroom additions.

Moulding

To learn about the different types of moulding and their uses, take a look at the accompanying chart for guidance in the choice of the right moulding for the job you have in mind.

These and other wood moulding profiles are available at local lumberyards, home centers or building supply

Logical Procedure

Once you determine where the moulding is to be used, estimate the amount of each type that will be required to complete the project. List the specific lengths required and round the measurements off to the next highest foot to allow for cutting and trimming.

Wood mouldings come in three to 16 foot lengths. Where possible, use short pieces rather than buying a long piece and cutting it to fit.

Anyone with basic woodworking skills ought to be able to handle the installation of wood moundings and most of the tools required are already in most home workshops.

Necessary Tools

They include a miter box for accurate 45 and 90-degree angle cuts, a fine-tooth saw, a hammer, nail set and finishing nails, a tape measure, glue, sandpaper and wood filler.

Additional information on wood mouldings and how to install them are in "How To Work With Wood Mouldings." To get a copy of this booklet, send 40 cents to the Wood Moulding and Millwork Producers Association, Dept. HP, P.O. Box 25278, Portland, OR 97225

MODERN HIGH-PERFORMANCE CAULKS AND SEALANTS, such as Red Devil's "LIFETIME" caulk, cut fuel bills, ward off insects and can actually prolong the Spring may turn a young man's fancy to love. But fall usually brings him out with his caulk gun, trying to seal up energy leaks before winter.

Careful caulking pays big dividends

The trouble is that most people don't seal all the gaps they should. Judicious application of today's high-performance caulks and sealants, according to the helpful folks at Red Devil, Inc., not only cuts fuel bills, it can prevent water damage, ward off insects and actually prolong the house's life. Modern chemical sealants have adhesive qualities far superior to those of the past. They will flex with temperature changes and provide a strong seal for years (Red Devil's patented "LIFETIME") high-tech caulk, for example, is guaran teed for as long as the consumer owns his

The homeowner with caulk gun in hand will remember that energy leaks out (and water can leak in) wherever there's a break in the house's structure.

The smart DIYer will seal around any electrical or utility lines or vents leading into his home. He'll look closely at the border between house and foundation, and he won't forget cellar windows, outside cellar stairs, window well covers or any exterior electrical receptacles.

He'll also cast a sharp eye at the rest of the home. The spaces where eaves meet the house and around dormers, for example, should be airtight or a lot of heat will escape through these natural vents.

Houses with siding should have any break in the siding sealed completely, not just around windows or doors, but where entranceways meet the house, where decorative fixtures or lights are attached. and especially wherever the siding forms a corner

Many homeowners also forget that caulk should be applied where patios or porches meet the house or where concrete steps meet a wooden porch. Here Red Devil sealants can deter insects and prevent water leaks from damaging wood or stone structures

Inside, the homeowner first thinks of caulking around his tub or shower. But, "Anyplace sealed on the outside should be sealed inside too," is a good rule. Red Devil experts say. That includes wood

Back in the bath, don't forget to caulk between tub and floor and around the toilet to prevent water leaks into the

And adhesive sealants like Red Devil's Tub & Tile Caulk will help refasten and seal bath and kitchen tiles, too.

Fall caulking should be more than just a touch-up. It's the ideal time to examine and seal all the unwanted gaps in and around your home. And sealants like Red Devil's "LIFETIME" can do the job for you at minimal cost

Better looking, easier to install ceilings

If you're not a dedicated handyman and let's face it, a lot of us are not chances are your knowledge of home repairs may be pretty sketchy.

If that's the case, you're caught in a real bind when there's a job to be done. You think it may be too expensive to have it professionally done (and you may be right). Or you're concerned it will be too complicated to tackle yourself.

Lack of knowledge traps many home-

Lack of knowledge traps many homeowners into either taking on projects better left to the pros or, conversely, paying someone else to do what they could easily do them else.

ily do themselves.

For instance, let's take tile and suspended ceilings — the cap for many a remodeling project. Consider what you know about the subject: Probably not

You have an uneasy impression that tile ceilings require a lot of stapling or messy cement and suspended ceilings are even worse. Besides, you wonder if the look of these ceilings is better suited to an office of store than to a home.

Stop right there. A little investigation will show that your worries are based on misconceptions or outdated information.

The facts are these 'Today's tile and suspended ceilings are available in so many styles and varieties that you'll find it hard to remember that the old commercial look ever existed. And, with modern installation techniques and materials, ceilings can be installed by average homeowners.

But cost is the clincher. Depending on the leatures you want, your new ceiling should cost no more than $50 to $200 for a 10-toot by 12-foot room — undoubtedly far less than the cost of a professional job.

Starting to rethink the matter? Then read on

Tile ceilings come in 12-inch by 12-inch squares or 4-foot-long planks that fasten directly to the old ceiling. Suspended ceilings come in either 2-foot by 2-foot or 2-foot by 4-foot panels that drop into a metal grid suspended below the old ceiling.

Which type of ceiling you choose depends on the conditions of your room, the features you desire, and the style or look that matches your decor-

If you have plenty of headroom, you can choose either a tile or suspended ceiling. But if you don't have room to drop the ceiling at least three inches.

choose a tile ceiling

Either type of ceiling is easy to install. For suspended ceilings, a metal grid system suspended from the old ceiling by wires provides the framework to support lay-in panels. Installation can be done over a weekend, without special tools or previous experience.

Tile ceiling installation is even simpler. An Easy Up installation kit contains everything you need: Lightweight but sturdy metal tracks, metal clips and

You simply nail up the tracks, position the tiles on them, and clip them in place. And you're covered by a "no-fault" guarantee. Should you make a mistake, just take the damaged pieces back to the store and they'll be replaced, on the

By now it should be obvious that you can do it yourself. But perhaps you're still bung up on that old commercial look. You shouldn't be.

Today you can get ceiling tiles or suspended ceiling panels that look like wood, textured plaster and other natural materials. Of course, if your prefer something planer, you can get that too.

Most tiles and panels are washable and acoustical. As a rule, they'll absorb a minimum of 45 percent of the noise striking their surface. (Think about what that can mean if there's a teenagers' party going on in your newly finished recroom!)

To sum up, there's a greater variety of cerlings today than ever before, they don't cost nearly as much as you probably thought, and modern techniques have made installation easier.

What else do you need to know? Maybe this. There are advantages to buying brand-name ceiling tries or panels.

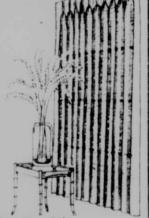

For instance, one company is so sure of the quality of its tiles and panels and easy installation systems that it gives a 10-year guarantee when both are purchased together.

Cleanup's A Breeze With Latex Paint

Picture vourself admiring that just-completed home painting project. It's a thrill to see it finished but, if you used an oil-based paint, the thrill can be short-lived—for the arduous task of cleanup still lies ahead.

Today, high gloss acrylic latex paint can add to your enjoyment of home painting projects by simplifying the clean-up process.

Whereas oil-based paint cleanup is difficult, time-consuming and often requires the use of costly solvents, high gloss acrylic latex washes off your hands, brushes and rollers effortlessly with soap and warm water.

Best of all, high gloss acrylic latex paint combines the ease of cleanup long associated with latex-based paints, with the lustrous, glossy appearance that was formerly available only with oil-based paint.

Tests show the new high gloss paint to be longer lasting than any oil-based product. Unlike oilbased paints, high gloss acrylic latex will not peel, chip, crack or fade. The paint looks fresh for years.

The true beauty of high gloss acrylic latex paint shines through on both interior and exterior surfaces. Because it holds up well under repeated scrubbings, it is an excellent choice for high-activity areas—playrooms, bathrooms and corridors.

Easy outdoor lighting adds real home value

By Jim Jensen

Exterior light remodeling is an inexpensive way to show off your home's best features. Light fixtures coordinated with the style of your house will not only enhance its appearance but will provide light for safety and con-

Most projects are easy to do yourself but require a knowledge of simple electrical wiring. Hire an electrician if you're not familiar with the basic techniques.

General guidelines

Select fixtures that match the look of your house. For contemporary homes, opaque, whate glass or diffusing plastic fixtures work best. These obscure the bulb, reduce "glare" and soften the overall effect. For more traditional settings, choose clear glass lanterns with low-wattage decorative bulbs. Lanterns lose their "charm" if the exposed bulbs are too bright.

Remember outdoor lights are exposed to the elements, so make sure all outlets and cables are waterproofed and underground systems covered with at least 12 inches of topsoil.

To help keep home wiring safe, a quality Ground Fault Circuit Interrupter is a good idea — and one required by the National Electrical Code. General Electric's Ground Trip Re-

General Electric's Ground Trip Receptacle for outdoor lighting is installed as easily as a regular outlet and will significantly increase the safety of the system.

Entrance lighting

door casts shadows over visitor's faces, making people more difficult to recognize.

To direct light evenly, mount a pair of wall fixtures, one on either side of the door, 66 inches from the threshold.

With modern fixtures, use diffusers at least six inches wide and 55-watt Miser* bulbs. With traditional lanterns, install recessed fixtures in the overhang to provide "surrounding" light and allow the lanterns to glow softly to create atmosphere.

For maximum flexibility, vary light intensity with a high low light switch. Use the high option only when you are expecting visitors.

Driveways and walkways

Illuminate driveways with 6 foot (min.) post lights stationed 50 feet apart, and a few feet back from the driveway edge. Tall fixtures are less easily damaged by snowplows, and are fully scaled when backing on an area.

fully visible when backing up an auto-Again, use 25 wait decorative bulbs in clear glass fanterns or up to 100 wait bulbs in diffusing glass of plastic fix-

Lower post lights cless than 3 feet are better for long pedestrian paths and walkways. Select fixtures with louver that direct all light below the horizon tal and use 40 wait bulbs. Position the lights 30-36 feet apart, and near step or abrunt changes in grade.

To light a large area of garden, in stall 65 or 120 watt PAR (loodlight) high on the sides of the house, on poleical frees.

For a wider "spray" of light, substitute 300-watt Quartzline bulbs, but remember to consider your neighbors comfort when aimine the lamps.

Selecting The Right Wallcovering

Finding the right wallcovering is a lot easier today that it ever was before. That's because wallcoverings come in a wide variety of colors, designs, styles, patterns and textures to suit everyone's taste.

Retail outlets are an excellent source of advice when choosing wallcoverings, says the Wallcovering Information Bureau. They include paint and wallpaper stores, home centers and department stores.

To assist the wallcovering dealer in estimating how much wallcovering is needed, bring sketches and measurements of the room.

When choosing wallcovering from a sample book, try to visualize how the wallcovering will look in the room being decorated.

Related colors and patterns in adjoining rooms enhance both the feeling of space and continuity. Also consider wall-coverings with coordinated fabrics. This will save time when decorating.

Homeowner's choice

Most homeowners choose to hang wallcovering as a do-it-yourself project. Wallcovering that is pre-pasted and prefrimmed makes this project even easier

With pre-pasted wallcovering, simply dip the strip of wallcovering in water. Pre-trimmed wallcoverings come with the edges already trimmed so they are ready to hang.

Strippable wallcoverings are popular with people who live in apartments or who decorate often because they can be removed from the wall without steaming or scraping.

For additional information on choosing and hanging wallcovering, write for a free copy of "The Wallcovering How To Handbook" to WIB, Dept. HP, 66 Morris Ave., Springfield, NJ 07081.

Md. Coal Assoc. Meeting Here For Symposium

A symposium, sponsored by the Maryland Coal Association, is being held today and tomorrow at the Will O' the Wisp.

This morning, an economic development report on an indepth study by Hill and Associates, in cooperation with the State of Maryland, was to be presented. The study was to determine ways to increase Maryland coal exports through the Port of Baltimore. The report was also to identify specific markets suitable for Maryland coal and analyze the state's competitive position with adjacent states.

Later in the morning, a brief overview of the state legislative process was presented by Joseph A. Schwartz III, an MCA lobbvist.

Following a luncheon, a ques tion and answer discussion of the Office of Surface Mining regarding regulatory requirements ensued. Sitting on the panel were James Blankenship from the Office of Surface Min-Virginia Department of Energy.

Also this afternoon, several presentations are slated regarding coal laws, oils and lubricants, insurance crisis and acid mine drainage.

HOW MANY PIES IN A 180-POUND PUMPKIN? - "I don't know, but I don't think I want to make that many pies," said Mrs. Thelma Beitzel, whose husband, Lawrence, grew this jumbo pumpkin and about 100 other large pumpkins in his home garden near Bittinger. Mr. Beitzel, pictured above with the monster Jack O'-lantern, enjoys just watching the pumpkins grow. His wife says that part of the fun is guessing which one is going to end up the largest. Mr. Beitzel, who uses no special seed or secret methods to grow his pumpkins, grew a 152-pound pumpkin two years ago. This year's crop certainly broke a record for the Beitzels. And who knows, this may even be the "Great Pumpkin" Charlie Brown's friend Linus looks for each year at Halloween.

BLACK BEARS AND THEIR PROTECTION has been a much discussed and controversial issue over the past year, especially since the illegal killing of two sows and their unborn cubs here in Garrett County. Bear Research Biologist Gary Alt will present a slide presentation on black bears, their life history and behavior, this evening beginning at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Garrett Community College, McHenry. Alt. a recognized expert on black bears, says he has gained information over the past ten years which dispels many myths and misconceptions people have about bears. The program will be sponsored by the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

No Easy Answer . . .

Mandatory drug testing has been a big issue in the news lately, as President Reagan has announced us support of such a requirement for federal workers. There is no question that the problem of drug abuse is greater than ever, and the possible consequences of this abuse by certain persons in government, as well as in the private sector, can be devastating. Those responsible for highly confiden-"tial information, those servicemen who are at the controls of our nuclear arms systems, airline pilots, and even bus drivers are just a few examples of workers who, if under the influence of drugs, could cause disasters. One's initial response, therefore, might be to support mandatory drug testing wholeneartedly.

However, when one considers the issue from the angle of constitutional rights and the right to privacy, the waters suddenly become a bit muddied. here are requirements for which persons must be tested before being hired for certain jobs. Again, using the example of an airline pilot, among the mandatory tests for this job is a vision test. If the applicant fails the test, he does not get the job.

There is at least one major difference, however, Between a vision test and a drug test. The former is for the purpose of checking the physical capabilities of one of the body's senses, and has nothing to do with legalities, whereas the latter involves checking to see if the person is engaged in an illegal activity, that being drug abuse. Mandatory drug testing seems to support the notion that a person is guilty itil proven innocent, which is of course in direct contradiction with the basic component of our systern of justice, whereby persons are innocent until proven guilty.

On the other hand, we already have this type of andatory "testing" in our nation's airports, where every person who is about to board a plane must first pass through a metal detector and have his baggage checked. Here, too, it seems all air travelers are ensidered potential saboteurs until proven innocent hy the detectors.

Some believe that drug testing should be done only in cases where there is suspicion of drug abuse. which may be the best compromise. Of course, this relethed does not address the risk of those who are either first-time users or have been able to conceal their habit and then cause a major disaster before there is any suspicion.

It is a tough, complicated issue and not one that ill be easily resolved.

Our Turn

"Well the games people play, every night and every day, never meaning what they say, never saying what they mean." Remember those words of wisdom from a pop tune which spread across the nation in the late 60's? Ponder those words and think back to all the times you thought or said one thing and then did or said another. Or put yourself in these make-believe situations. What would you say?

Situation: You're in a local dress shop and the clerk says, "Oh my! We don't carry that style in such a L-A-R-G-E size. Tsk. tsk." Response: Feeling as though you have just been stripped uh . . . I'm terribly sorry I asked such a stupid question." You then slither out of the store What you wish you had said: "Oh yea! Judging from the size of your ego and mouth, I assumed you specialized in L-A-R-G-E.

Just as well, though, because I prefer quality clothing." Situation: A "friend" offers unsolicited advice on what vitamins and natural foods you should be consuming to give your face a healthy glow. Response: You frantically search for your compact in your purse to see if you really look like death warmed over and say, "Well . . . I've been working late hours and the kids have been sick . . . I just don't have time .

What you wish you had said: Smiling sweetly as a natural blush crosses your face, you tartly snip, "Oh, it's too bad that regimen didn't work for you! Not to worry, I'm sure those red, blotchy patches will clear up soon."

Situation: An anonymous, but "concerned" informer calls you and whispers into the phone, "It's only because I care so much about you that I have to tell you that I suspect your husband is having an affair with your best friend.'

Response: Crying hysterically, you blubber into the phone, Sgt. Daniel P. Moore investi- "Thank you so much for telling me. I feel like such a fool. Boo

Health Agency Gives Approval To Task Force

The Governing Body of the Health System Agency of Western Maryland met on September 17 at the Washington County Hospital Association, Hagerstown. Ms. Carole Walker, chairman, presided.

The Governing Body approved the formation of a task force composed of the following persons to look into the future of the Health Systems Agency of Western Maryland and develop cost-saving policies for the Agency. The task force members are as follows: Ms. Carole Walker, Frederick County, Governing Body chairman; Leslie R. Miles, M.D., Allegany County, Governing Body vice-chairman and Management Committee chairman; Mrs. M. Virginia Rosenbaum, Garrett County, Governing Body fiscal officer; Robert L. Brandt, Washington County, Plan Development Committee chairman; and Horace W. Murphy, Washington County. Review, Evaluation, & Implementation Committee chairman. Horace W. Murphy, Review, Evaluation & Implementation Committee chairman, gave that Committee's report. The Committee reviewed the Acute Psychiatric Allocation Plan for Western Maryland and the Certificate of Need Policies of the Agency. These documents will be presented to the Governing Body at the November meeting. The Committee also elected Joseph P. Montana, Allegany County consumer, to serve as vice-chairman for the upcoming year.

Kery C. Hummel, in his Executive Director's report, announced that the Agency Newsletter has been lauded by elected officials of the State of Maryland as well as persons involved in health planning from elsewhere in the State. He also noted that the Agency has begun a new fiscal year and

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College Grantsville High will present the third in a series of workshops entitled, "I Can Class Of 1951 Get That Job." The workshop is formulated to offer helpful suggestions in techniques to use in searching for employment, according to Barbara Frey, director of the program.

She noted that after completion of the workshop, participants should be equipped with a strategy for finding a job.

The workshop is free and open to the public. It will be held in Room 603 of the GCC Oakland Branch from 10 a.m. until noon on October 1.

Interested persons may call the New Horizons office at 334-9184 from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. weekdays to preregister or for more infor-

CRIME SOLVERS

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for the theft of a blue 1983 Chevrolet Camaro Z-28, with Maryland registration plates EPF663. This theft occurred either on August 31 or September 1. The owner had parked the vehicle on Route 219 at the Will O' The Wisp, and upon returning the next morning, discovered the vehicle missing. The car was reportedly valued at $16,000.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers is seeking the help of the public. A reward of up to $1,000 is being offered for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the criminal in this case

Crime Solvers also pays cash rewards for information leading to the capture of wanted persons in other unsolved homicides, rapes, burglaries, and aggravated assaults.

Economic Development

- 1. We must continue to support and work with the industries and resources we have now, such as coal, farming, and small businesses.
- 2. Continue promoting one of our most valuable resources, our workers.
- 3. Continue to support the development of the tourism industry in Garrett County.
- 4. Continue developing our three industrial parks and reach out for new industry and let them know the advantages that Garrett County has to offer.

Thanking you for your continued support.

successfully defended their vantage. undefeated status Friday evening by defeating Central Preston, 22-12, on the Cavaliers' field in Kingwood. It was the third win in as many starts for the Rams, who remain one of only a few teams in the area with unblemished records.

The Southern offense, which has not yet performed up to the level expected by the Ram coaching staff, opened the scoring on a three-yard run by J.R. Bosley in the first quarter. Tony Refosco pulled down J.R. Gibson's pass for the conversion, giving the Rams an 8-0 lead.

Bernard stopped the Central Preston threat when he picked off Adams' pass on the 15-yard line and returned it 12 yards The Rams then moved 73 yards on a dozen plays, as Bosley scored his second touchdown, this time from 27 yards out. Freshman kicker John Mulligan attempted the extra point, but the ball hit one of the uprights and fell on the inside of the goal posts.

The Ram offensive unit. again led by Bosley, engineered a final scoring drive in the fourth quarter from their own 23-yard line. It took just five plays, including a 55-yard touchdown run by Bosley on the third play of the fourth period. Donnie Horner ran for the conversion, which gave Southern a 22-6 advantage with 10:58 remaining in the game. Central Preston, playing without their number one, allpurpose athlete, Darrell Dupert, recorded one more touchdown late in the game as Lynn Wheeler tossed a fourvard scoring aerial to Tracy Ware. Dupert, who was sidelined with an ankle injury sustained in the game against the Northern Huskies the previous week, was the Cavaliers' starting quarterback,

The Southern defensive unit had apparently held the Cavaliers with a goal line stand, however on fourth down. Adams passed the ball into the end zone and a Ram defender was tagged with interference, a call which brought the Southern fans to their feet and use such terms as 'outrageous" and "one of the worst in history." "There is just no question that it was a terrible call," Coach Tom Woods stated, "but bad calls are something you always have to expect."

The Rams finished with 282 yards of total offense, including 75 through the air by Gibson, who completed six of nine passes. Central Preston recorded 154 yards of offense.

"I felt that our whole team was flat," Woods said, "which is not unusual following such a big win the week before (over Bishop Walsh). Although they really played us tough, especially without Darryl Dupert on as it is to us," Woods said. "It is the field, we really never felt like we were in danger of losing

Woods noted the running of J.R. Bosley, and much better passing game, and a slight improvement in the performance of the offensive line as the bright spots in the contest. 'Zack (Gibson) was right on the money with his passes, including the few that were simply dropped by our receivers," he said. He said he was also pleased with the individual performances of Rick Layton at center, receivers Tony Refosco and Scott Lohr, and Gary Wotring, who for the third straight week led the team in tackles. He also noted the defensive performances of Donnie Horner and Bobby Bernard.

Ram standout Bruce Bosley was sidelined with a knee injury in the first quarter of the game. and is doubtful for this week against Musselman; however that is just the beginning of the Rams' problems, which were greatly escalated last night during practice.

Starting quarterback Zack Gibson went down with a severely sprained ankle and will miss tomorrow evening's contest, and possibly next week's as well. Starting guard Steve Wotring is questionable for this week after sustaining a laceration on his arm that required a dozen stitches. Senior tackle Warren Livengood also remains on the sidelines with a knee

"This could not have happened at a worse time for us," Woods stated last night following the disastrous practice. "We have been looking toward this game all season because Musselman is the strongest team we are going to face this year. Even with everybody healthy, it would require an excellent game by us in order to beat this team.

The Applemen have no fewer than 17 starters back from last season's 7-3 team and, although they have been upset once this year (by Tucker County), Woods considers this team one of the best high school teams he has ever seen. "As always, they have incredible speed, and this is probably the most physically strong team they have ever had," he said. "The most impressive thing about them is how well they play every phase of the game. They have the best special teams of any on our schedule. Offensively, they throw well, they run the option well, and their power running is excellent. Defensively they are big, strong, and fast.

Their wing-T offense is led by fullback Tiki Loizos, 5-9, 208, who Woods describes as "a great football player"; tailback Gary Shroades, 5-10, 160; quarterback J.R. Franks, 6-3, 192; split end Jeff Cunningham. 5-9, 142; and tackle Larry Linton, 6-3, 195.

Leading the 4-4 defensive unit are Loizos and Linton at guard; linebacker Brian Mason, 6-2, 222; linebacker Lyle Shipley, 5-7, 152; and linebacker Rodney Brill, 5-10, 165.

"Football is the sport at Musselman High School," Woods said. "They have had the same coaching staff for at least 12 years, they have 92 kids out this year, and every athlete goes to one class of weight training every day during school, which is taught by a member of the coaching staff.'

Yet, despite the stength of their program. Southern holds a 5-4 edge in victories over the Junior Chris Helbig is expected to take Bruce Bosley's spot at linebacker and Gary Long will fill in on the line for Steve Wotring if he is unable to play. "These are good players, but it's a tough time to try to gain playing experience," Woods said. "Normally, your back-up people can be used quite a bit against lesser teams.

Woods said he is hoping that the loss of such key personnel will further heighten the emotion and intensity of his team. "We always play Musselman extremely hard, and I am confident we will do that again

New Policies For Southern Football Games Announced

The completion of the new multi-purpose facility at the Southern High School football field has resulted in some new procedures for fans, according to the Southern Athletic Depart-

All persons attending games must enter the stands through the center of the new facility, located at the north end of the field. Two lines will be avail able, one on each side, for pas admissions, while those holding complimentary or season tickets will enter through a line between the cash admission Ticket prices are $3 for adults and $2 for students. Admission will be charged through the fourth quarter of the game. A no-readmission policy will be in effect, so persons are advised to bring necessary items such as umbrellas, coats, and blankets with them when they enter the stadium. Restroom facilities are available in the new

The building also houses the Lions Club concession stand which offers a variety of food and beverages. Fans are asked not to bring drinks with them into the stadium and are reminded that possession of alcoholic beverages on school property is illegal.

Ram Jayvees Crush Huskies. Still Unbeaten

The Southern High jayvee football team upped its undefeated record to 4-0 Monday evening by coasting over visiting Northern, 42-0.

Bobby Horner rolled up 126 yards on nine carries and recorded three of his team's touchdowns, all in the first half of action. Horner reached the end zone on runs of four, 35, and 26 yards, while teammate Mike Hornyak added a 23-yard scoring run to give the Rams a 28-0 halftime advantage.

Brian Ridenour raced 48 yards on an end around in the third quarter, followed by a 23-yard scoring run by Mike Dever to wrap up the scoring

The junior Rams will attempt to keep their streak alive when they host the Valley-Bruce jayvees on Monday at 7 p.m.

FARM SAFETY WEEK SEPTEMBER 21-27

A PROCLAMATION by Ronald Reagan, President of the United States of America

Our remarkable agricultural system has enabled our nation to make great strides in efforts to conquer hunger and to meet the food and fiber needs of our people as well as countless others around the world. But we cannot afford to let up in the battle against accidental injuries and illnesses that take an unduly high toll of those whose toil is responsible for this abundance.

Each year, many thousands of farm and ranch residents and workers are seriously or fatally injured at work, in the home, during recreation, and in traffic accidents.

Although much has been accomplished over the years to make farm life safer and healthier, much more remains to be done. Everyone in the agricultural community should make renewed efforts to be informed about potential hazards and take steps to minimize those dangers. This includes the conscientious use of mechanical safeguards like protective equipment and safety belts. I commend our farm equipment manufacturers for their emphasis on building safeguards into their equipment and then started the refurbished warning of possible hazards in operational misuse, but there is no substitute for vigilance and common sense in using equipment. Awareness, on the job and off, is the surest way to avert mishaps

Now, therefore, I, Ronald Reagan, president of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim the week of September 21 through September 27, 1986, as National Farm Safety Week. I urge all those who live and work on farms or ranches to take necessary precautions to protect their safety and health, on the ob and off. I also urge leaders in the agricultural community to bolster safety and health efforts in your area by example and by educational programs. I encourage all Americans to participate in appropriate events and activities in observance of National farm tractors could reduce the be number of fatal farm accidents nationwide by half, exclaims Gary L. Smith, Extension Agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland, Smith went on to clarify that although farm tractor mishaps are only seven percent of agricultural accidents in America, they account for half the fatalities.

Accidents and fatalities built or displayed in the vo-ag that process. could be reduced even further through careful maintenance and repair of farm machinery." said the ag-engineer. "These days, many farmers cannot afford to replace worn or damaged farm equipment.

Smith related that at a recent county fair, a judge had the tractors were first made," said pleasant task of judging two old tractors, one a John Deere B, the other an International Harvester H. The boys who ment we own in excellent, safe overhauled and repainted the tractors reported on their efforts to bring the machinery to mint condition. Smith said the boys "radiated pride and enthusiasm as they explained their painstaking efforts and engines.

This type of enthusiasm, he said, could be an asset on any farm or ranch. "During these difficult financial times. farmers and ranchers may not be able to buy new equipment. But they could repair or upgrade safety devices on equipment they do have.'

Or new ones could be purchased."

Replacing them could prevent someone's being caught in a turning power takeoff shaft, he explained, and said that those who remove the shields are not always the ones caught in the unguarded shaft. 'Thousands of accidents have occurred where open power drives such as PTO's, chain drives, and belt drives involved persons other than the one who removed the shield. The farm wife, children, hired hands, and even visitors around the equipment have been seriously injured or killed."

According to Smith, many pieces of farm equipment lack the revolving shield on the power line drive. "This shield is just as important as the other components. Yet lack of it can be overlooked where a fouled spark plug or some other mal-

Corn Silage Crop In Garrett County Rated Excellent

Maryland producers continued harvesting corn last week. According to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service, 24 percent of the corn for grain and 64 percent of the corn for silage was harvested by Sunday, September 21. Last year at the same time a third of the corn for grain and twothirds of the corn silage had been harvested. Five year averages are 22 and 81 percent, respectively. Most of the corn crop was in fair condition throughout Maryland, with the exceptions of Allegany and Garrett counties where corn condition was excellent.

This year's soybean crop was in mostly fair condition on September 21, with 18 percent of the crop shedding leaves. A year earlier 22 percent of the crop was shedding leaves and the most recent five-year average is 19 percent.

Pasture averaged fair throughout the state last week. The fourth cutting of alfalfa was 65 percent completed by September 21 compared to 71 percent in 1985 and an average of 64 percent.

An average of nearly seven days were suitable for fieldwork during the week of September 15-21.

ON DISPLAY IN OHIO - Several stalks of corn, grown on the Ward Umbel farm near Friendsville, are on display this week at the Ohio Farm Science Review in Columbus, Ohio. The corn was chosen for the display by Doebler's Hybrid Seed Company and Insta-Gro Manufacturing because of the number of ears set by each stalk. In an average field of hybrid corn, 50 percent of the stalks have two or three ears. In Umbel's field, 95 percent of the stalks have two, three, or more ears per stalk. The stalks pictured above have three full ears each. Throughout the field stalks with four or five ears were found, and one stalk with seven small ears was discovered. Pictured examining the crop, left to right, are: Ward Umbel, owner and grower; Winston D. Rhodes, Insta-Gro district representative; and Wayne Umbel, Doebler's district sales representative

Certified Product Guide Available

The Safety Equipment Institute (SEI) recently published an updated certified product guide. The updated list of safety equipment that has earned the certification label of SEI now includes hundreds of models in the following four product areas: head protection, eye and face protection, emergency evewash and safety showers. and firefighters helmets.

SEI uses the best existing standards published by the government or independent groups such as the American National Standards Institute (ANSI) and American Society for Testing Materials (ASTM) to test safety equipment product models. Products bearing the SEI certification label have passed rigorous testing conducted by third-party independent testing agencies. Also, independent auditors, selected by the SEI board of directors, are required to periodically scrutinize the onsite quality assurance programs of manufacturers participating in the SEI pro-

Garrett Autumn Glory Dairy Sale

Make sure you mark Friday, October 3, on your calendar. The Garrett County Holstein Association will be sponsoring a sale of some of the best dairy animals in the tri-state area. The sale will take place indoors at the Fairgrounds in McHenry starting at 7 p.m.

When Do You Harvest Corn Silage?

Harvesting corn for silage at the right stage of maturity is important for at least three reasons: 1) to get maximum yield of TDN per acre, 2) to have the moisture content of the ensiled corn at about 60 to 68 percent to ensure minimum field and storage losses, and 3) to ensure high palatability and maximum intake by animals. For maximum yield of dry matter and TDN per acre, corn should be harvested for silage when it reaches physiologic maturity. This is a point at which near maximum dry weight of grain has been reached. The most precise method of identifying physiologic maturity is to look for the "black layer" in the corn kernels. When corn reaches the point where all of the yield is made, several layers of cells near the tips of the kernels turn black, forming the black layer. Break an ear, remove a few kernels, and split them lengthwise. If mature, a black layer will be visible near the tips of kernels. At maturity the grain contains 30 to 40 percent moisture. Under favorable moisture and fertility conditions, most of the leaves will be green and the grain will be in full dent stage.

National Beef Check-Off

Starting October 1, every cattle producer will pay $1 per head each time an animal is sold regardless of age or breed. The purchaser (or the person who pays the seller) is the "collecting person" and is responsible for collecting the $1 from the seller. This means that livestock markets, packers, feedyards, order buyers, dealers or any individual who purchases cattle must deduct $1 per head from the sale receipts of the seller. There is a pretty stiff penalty for non-compliance. The funds collected are controlled by cattlemen and will be used for state and national beef market development. Instructions for collecting the money are available at my office.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT Grantsville, shown center, was the guest of honor recently at the Garrett Branch of the American Association of University Women. She was named the 1986-87 recipient of the AAUW scholarship. Announcement of the selection was made by Aloise O'Neill, right, chairman of the Educational Foundation. Also pictured, left, is Martha Jachowski, president of AAUW. The dinner was held at the home of Phoebe Goodwin, Sky Valley. The scholarship is awarded annually to a county female pursuing a higher education and is based on academic ability, an essay and character references. Mrs. Schrock is currently employed by Garrett County Community Action, is a full time student at Garrett Community College, and is planning a career in law. She sustained personal tragedy this past year by the death of her husband, said a member of the club. She was graduated from high school with a four-point average and was valedictorian of her class. Mrs. Schrock stated, Education provides the materials for putting together a structure where all may come and be assured that they may find justice. It provides a foundation from where it may give help and hope to the lives of others."

Maryland Arson Stats Noted By Fire Marshal

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele this week announced the arson statistics for the first six months of 1986 for the State of Maryland.

The statistical data compiled by the Maryland Uniform Crime Reporting Program, based on information from law enforcement agencies throughout the State of Maryland, indicates that arsons rose by a little more than one percent during the first six months of 1986 as compared with this same period in 1985. During the first six months of this year, there were 1,609 arson cases reported as compared with 1,536 during this period in 1985.

According to Gabriele's Region of the State, which includes the counties of Cecil, Kent, Queen Anne's, Caroline, Talbot, Dorchester, Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester, experienced the most significant rise in reported arson cases for the first half of 1986. This ninecounty region had an increase of approximately 20 percent over 1985 figures. Arson in this region increased primarily in Caroline, Cecil and Worcester counties. Caroline County had 10 reported arsons for the first half of 1986, as compared with only three for this period in 1985. Cecil County registered 44 arsons for the first six months of this year, as compared with only 28 for the first six months of 1985. Finally, Worcester County showed a dramatic rise in arson incidents, with nine recorded for the first six months of 1986, compared to only one during this same period in 1985.

Also, benefits can be paid only for months the person is eligible throughout the entire month. "This means that unless a person is born on the first or second day of a month, he or she cannot receive a benefit for the month of his or her 62nd birthday," Watson said.

Also, a person who applies for benefits before 65 generally cannot get benefits for any month before the month he or she applies. A person who applies after reaching 65 can get benefits for up to six months before the month of application, but not before the month he or she became 65.

Other factors can influence a person's decision about retirement, such as availability of a company pension and the person's ability to continue

Once a person decides to retire, he or she should contact Social Security two to three months before the month benefits are to start. "And, even if a person has no retirement plans, he or she should apply for Medicare health insurance two or three months before his or her 65th birthday," Watson said.

Oakland High's Class Of 1938 Holds Reunion

The Oakland High School Class of 1938 held its 48th reunion recently at the Will O'the Wisp on Deep Creek Lake. A fellowship hour and a buffet dinner were featured.

Classmates and guests were greated by John and Wilma Sharps and Robert and Helen (Shaffer) Henline. Ann (Baker) DeBerry and Ruth (Ridder) Jackson.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Ellis Harvey. Fred Tichnell was master of ceremonies and welcomed the faculty members, classmates and Lillian (Taylor) Welch. guests.

A memorial service for 11 deceased classmates was led by Thea (Thomas) Crowe and Mary Frances (Rowan) Mielnicki. A candle was lit for each of the 11 members.

The school colors, red and white, were carried out in the decorations. The tables were decorated with white cloths and red napkins, with red and white carnation centerpieces on the head table.

Gifts were awarded by Fred Tichnell to Della (Johnson) Martin for returning the first reservation, and the door prize went to Thea (Thomas) Crowe. Each of the "class of '38" were given an acorn key ring with '38" on it. These were made by class member Catherine (Meisenbach) Durst's son-inlaw, Wilford F. Verill Jr., of Joppa.

Class members and their spouses who attended were: Clifton and Grace Bachtel, Edgar and Bernice (Miller) Beckman, Ross and Opal Crowe, Norris and Loretta Crites, Kenneth and Thea (Thomas) Crowe, Ann (Baker) DeBerry, Clyde and Marguerite (Carskadon) Duling, Russell and Hulda (Fitzwater) Elliott.

Aetna Picks Up Where Medicare Leaves Off. With Two New Supplemental

Insurance Plans Even with Medicare, older Americans still paid more than 55% of their health care costs last year. To help you meet the increasing cost of medical care, Aetna introduces two new health insurance plans: our Medicare Supplement Basic and the more inclusive Medicare Supplement Expanded. Both plans will help you pay many of the expenses Medicare doesn't fully

But that's not all. Our benefits will automatically change whenever Medicare coverage changes. And you can never be singled out for a rate increase or cancellation due to your age, health or the number of claims. You can even take 30 days to review the coverage and, if not completely satisfied, cancel your policy and receive a full refund of your premium. Can you afford to pick up where Medicare leaves off? If not, call us today to find out more about Aetna's new Medicare Supplement Plans.

SEALED IN BLOOD

September 28, 1986

Background Scripture Exodus 19 through 20:24 Devotional Reading:

One of the recurrent motifs in the Old Testament is that of the ritualistic significance of blood, particularly the blood of animal sacrifices. Few things in the Old Testament are as seemingly alien and repugnant to us as sacrificial blood. Exodus 24 is an example. Moses has related to the elders of Israel all the ordinances which God had given to Moses. On the next morning, Moses built an altar at the foot of the mountain and had an animal sacrifice prepared. Then, according to Exodus, "Moses took half of the blood and put it in basins, and half of the blood he threw against the altar" (24:6). Following this ritual, Moses read aloud to the people the covenant and the people responded to the challenge, saying "All that the conviction: "All that the Lord has Lord has spoken we will do, and we will be obedient." It is at this point that Moses does something that is incomprehensible to us today: "And Moses took the blood and threw it upon the people' (24:8).

WE WILL DO

How uncouth! How gory! How revolting! Yes, in terms of our contemporary sensibilities, Moses action was all of those things. Yet, at the same time, it was by ancient standards a very solemn, momentous experience. For blood, human or animal, was very, very significant to ancient peoples. It was believed that the blood was actually the life force. To seal anything in blood was the most binding of agreements, for it symbolized that nothing less than life of the person or animal. Today, although we realize how important blood is in a physiological sense, it does not have the same significance in our culture. Unfortunately, neither is the sense of commitment as strong today. We make promises, commitments and vows which, although we mean to keep them, we stand ready to nullify on the basis of some mitigating circumstance. Particularly in the last several decades the ideal of commitment has been substantially weakened.

KEEP MY COVENANT Perhaps in ages past commitments were too ironclad and unreasonably binding, but today we have gone to the other extreme and the fabric of our society, as well as our own daily lives, is deteriorating as a result. Sprinkling ourselves with blood may not be appropriate in these times, but, no less than the people of Israel, we need to be able to say with spoken we will do"!

Rickert Among Alumni To Be

Honored At FSC

Five Frostburg State College alumni, including the first graduate alumnus to be honored, will be recipients of the college's annual alumni achievement awards on Career Day, September 26, part of Homecoming weekend. W. Marshall Rickert, former Garrett County administrator and now the administrator for the state Motor Vehicles Administration, is one of the five to be henored.

Rickert, three educators, and a businessman, selected as honorees by FSC's alumni achievement award committee, will be presented awards by President Herb. F. Reinhard, Jr. at the 12:30 p.m. Career Day luncheon in Lane Center. Dr. Francis A. Ruffo, FSC '53,

Baker, FSC '66, an adminis- tration system. trative/management consultant; Joan M. Nofsinger, FSC '70, a mathematics teacher: and Dr. Tyra Phipps, FSC '77, general studies director at Indiana University-Purdue University, are the other four Rickert will be Frostburg State College's first graduate student to be honored on Career Day. Rickert, who has a B. A. degree in political economics from Johns Hopkins University, earned his M.S.M. degree at Frostburg, while he served as Garrett County administrator in the late 1970's

As MVA administrator, Rickert spearheaded efforts to build the proposed new motor vehicle headquarters in Cumberland which will soon replace MVA's current facility in LaVale. He was also recently featured in the Baltimore media when Governor Harry

IMPORTANCE OF PLANNING

Often one works for a ifetime, makes countless acrifices, and does a great deal of planning in order to provide financial security for one's heirs. On the other hand, often too little time and thought is spent on other considerations involving ne's survivors. What should be done in the event of one's death is of primary importance. It is a difficult enough time for spouse and close relatives ithout having to make de cisions regarding your wishes-particularly if these have never been expressed Discuss the subject openly and, better yet, include your wishes in written form Letter (called

Hearing aid manufactur ers are adapting new tech nology to their products in a continuing effort to make them better. One problem with older aids was that when the volume was turned up enough for the wearer to understand speech, louder sounds became painful. It is now possible to limit the out put of the aid so that it can be set to make speech sounds lound enough. At the same time, it keeps all sound be low the wearer's level of pain. This protects the wearer against sudden loung noises. Older hearing aids amplified all frequencies equally. For one with a high frequency hearing loss lower tones could be intoler ably loud. It is now possible to select an aid with fre quency response charac teristics that help compen sate for this problem.

Stereo TV Comes Alive

P1-0550-06

TV's Booming New Sound

With the advent of stereo broadcasting, programs come alive in your living room.

ven if you were a youngster back then, you probably remember the excitement that greeted the introduction of stereo recordings in the mid-fifties. In the wink of an eye, the audio buffs monaural hi-fi equipment was outdated. Suddenly the sound of ping-pong balls and trains moving across the living room became all the rage, and every music lover with two ears was soon replacing his old monorecords with the new stereo variety. It was truly a revolution in spained.

Today, some 30 years later, history is repeating itself as ster-eophonic sound finally comes to television. Already, over 300 U.S. television stations have installed the MTS (multichannel television sound) equipment needed to broadcast in stereo. This number is expected to double by year end, by which time practically every hamlet in the country will be a stereo. Boom town

Among the networks, NBC is setting the pace with 24 prime time and late night offerings (see story at right). CBS and ABC have already announced plans to follow suit. And the PBS schedule features many live stereo telecasts. Cable systems, too, are bringing the new sound to their subscribers. A recent survey found that 21 of the top 25 cable operators planned to offer broadcast stereo shortly.

No doubt about it—TV broadcasters are no longer testing the waters; they've jumped into stereo with both feet. And RCA is making it easy for you to "go stereo," too. Just as it did when pioneering color television, RCA is showing the way in stereoready TVs and Monitor-Receivers as well as other video and audio equipment. This leadership is reflected in the superb line of products illustrated in this brochure—products designed to capture your imagination and make your home entertainment more enjoyable than ever.

Turn the pages and enter the wonderful stereo world of RCA!

N

BC continues to lead the way in stereo broadcasting. This fall, no less than twelve returning programs and seven new series will be broadcast in stereo, for a total of 19 prime time shows.

In addition, The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson, and Late Night With David Letterman, will be transmitted in stereo. Friday Night Videos and Saturday Night Live will also be aired regularly in stereo, bringing NBC's total number of stereo broadcast hours to 25½ each week.

Also being transmitted in stereo are various Sunday Night at the Movies and Monday Night at the Movies, all of NBC's miniseries and many of its entertainment specials.

Already, five NBC owned stations and over 70 affiliated stations are broadcasting in stereo. By the end of the year, however, a total of 113 NBC stations will be transmitting the exciting new sound—and practically all television households will be able to share in the new excitement.

Comedy, drama, action, adventure and family entertainment make this the season to Come Home to NBC—in stereo!

The Golden Girls Saturday, 9:00 p.m.

When you think of Miami, you think of golden sunshine, golden beaches and the Golden Girls—four women spending their golden years in Florida. Dorothy (Bea Arthur), Rose (Betty White), Blanche (Rue McClanahan), Sophie (Estelle Getty) return in this successful series.

The Cosby Show Thursday, 8:00 p.m.

The nation's number one show returns for it's third successful season. Starting the incomparable Bill Cosby, as father Cliff, and the rest of the Huxtables—mother Clair (Phylicia Rashad) and their children Rudy, Vanessa, Theo, Denise and Sandra—offer their special brand of humor to millions of people.

Miami Vice Friday, 9:00 p.m.

The highly popular police/ action series returns for its third season with a brand new trend-setting look and feel. Sonny Crockett (Don Johnson) and Ricardo Tubbs (Philip Michael Thomas) are the two tough, hip vice squad cops doing battle in the dangerous world of drugs, weapons and prostitution.

Why Stereo TV? UPGRADE YOUR SY

Stereo broadcast sound: It's the biggest revolution in television since the advent of color.

Doc Severinsen of "The Tonight Show Starring Johnny Carson" (A)

magine what it must have been like back in the Forties. The thrill of watching Milton Berle or a baseball game-right in your own living room! People were so fascinated by the novelty that nobody complained about the soundtrack

As time went on, the picture got better and better, but there was little improvement in the accompanying sound. All that is changing now. With the adoption of stereo broadcast standards by the industry, the long-awaited promise of stereo television has finally arrived.

Stereo sound enhances video in spectacular fashion. The noise of the crowd at a football game is separated from the announcers' voices, giving you the feeling that you are actually in the stadium. On your favorite detective series, the sound of gunfire or a car chase takes on startling new dimensions. And the effect is even more riveting where music is concerned. Tune in the Boston Pops or a rock concert and you'll think you're at a live performance

It's just like being there is the reaction of most people when they first hear stereophonic television. And just about every person in America will soon be within earshot. Already this year hundreds of hours of stereo programming are on tap. What's more, upwards of 300 stations now have the equipment necessary to bring this new dimension in sound to the nation's viewing audience

Of course, all of the foregoing means nothing if your TV set cannot receive the stereo broadcast signal. And that's where RCA's new television line comes in. All of the new models shown in this brochure feature built-in stereo reception. No set modifications, no adapters of any kind -they're ready for stereo now!

And stereo capability is just one of the many state-of-the-art features RCA offers. There's the remote control that operates not only the TV but also a compatible VCR and even RCA audio components. There's the squarecorner picture that looks more like a movie screen than ever. And cable tuning—up to 94 channels. Not to mention Auto Programming that presets active channels in your area at the touch of a button.

Many RCA models are actually Monitor-Receivers. You can use them just like a regular TV set, but you can also use them as 'Nerve Centers' for your other video components.

One picture, they say, is worth a thousand words. The proof is in the viewing and listening. At your RCA dealers. Now.

Introducing Photo Option. At Revco you not only get top quality film developing, you get to choose how you want your pictures to come back. Thanks to an exciting new program called PhotoOption.

PhotoOption A. Do you want a single set of quality, glossy prints? And do you want them the day after you bring them in? That's what you get with PhotoOption A.

PhotoOption B. If you want a set of glossy prints for yourself and a set to share with a friend, you want our 2 in 2 program. You get two glossy prints from each negative in two days. And the color is identical on both sets.

Photo Option C. We call this our Gold Seal 35 Option. And it's for 35mm film only. You get a state of the art, computer controlled set of larger than normal pictures that have quality printed all over them. And to make sure they're as good as we say they are. we double inspect them and safeguard them in special Gold Seal packaging.

DECIEL UTIEL! To get you acquainted with our new program, we'll give you PhotoOption C for the price of PhotoOption A. That's a terrific deal. But the offer's good only through October 25th. So if you have some 35mm film that needs processing, bring it to Revco. We're the only place that offers PhotoOption. But once you've tried us, we think we'll be the only place you want to come to anyway.

Autumn Glory Festival 20 Years Old, But Forerunners Date Back Five Decades

HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF TURKEYS dotted the landscape of Garrett County at one time and it was this bird that was used for the theme of some special events that evolved into what is now the Autumn Glory Festival. It was in 1938 that George Hanst, then editor of The Republican Newspaper, suggested in his 'Scoop's Column' that Garrett County should have a Turkey Festival, featuring parades, the judging of birds, and crowning a queen. Although the number of turkeys raised in Garrett County is far lower today than it was at that time, there are still a few local turkey farms in operation today. One of them is the James Glotfelty farm along Mosser Road. In the photo above, which was taken in the 1960s, is a dapper Elwood T. Glotfelty, James' father, inspecting his flock of bronze turkeys. Turkey dinners are still served at local restaurants and by at least one service organization during the Autumn Glory Festival.

by Mary I. Love

The glories of autumn in Garrett County seem to have escaped the early Garrett Countians, whether hunters or settlers. Need to have food and fuel to last through the coming winter may have drawn their attention from scarlet and golden leaves, for they are rarely, if ever, mentioned in old writings.

Later residents, including summer visitors, also had little to say about autumn. Keeping warm in an uninsulated house ipped with fireplaces, which suggested coziness rather than providing it, could distract one from whole-hearted appreciation of October's bright blue weather. Before 1937 the publicity lavished on Oakland, Mt. Lake Park, and Deer Park stressed the delights of the cool, invigorating summer climate and was remarkably silent about the rest of the year.

Then, in Octobrer, 1937 the B&O ran an Autumn Leaf Excursion train from Baltimore and Washington to Oakland "to acquaint the people from the cities with the beauties of the mountains." It was so successful that there were two excursions in 1938, one in June, with more than two hundred people, and one in October, with 522. All expenses were $4.00 in 1937, rising to $6.45 in October, 1939 when 420 people came.

These excursions relied heavily on the hospitality of local people. Mr. Farley, then Mayor of Oakland, met the trains, which arrived about noon on Sundays, and gave a welcoming speech.

Mickey's Band, from Loch Lynn, or The Oakland Boys' Band played. Local volunteers, driving their own cars, then took the visitors to Swallow Falls, Herrington Manor, and Deep Creek.

The first trips always featured opportunities to take pictures. One enthusiastic photographer fell into the water at Swallow Falls, and returned home wearing a uniform belonging to the commander of the C.C.C. (Civilian Conservation Corps).

The visitors once attended the dedication of an education building for the C.C.C. at Swallow Falls. Another time there was square dancing at McComas Beach (now Red Run Lodge), but generally nature was expected to provide the entertainment.

Following the excursion of October, 1938, George Hanst, then editor of The Republican, wrote, "since Preston County has a successful Buckwheat Festival, a number of people have talked about a Turkey Festival in Garrett County before Thanksgiving, with a parade, judging birds, crowning a queen, etc.

'Garrett County can furnish turkeys, but queens would be hard to choose, for there are so many fair damsels from whom to

Combining a celebration of autumn leaves with a turkey festival was an excellent idea, but its time did not come for thirteen years, until 1951.

About 400 people took the excursion from Baltimore in October, 1939, but World War II precluded unnecessary travel for some time thereafter. Railroad officials and local men decided in 1946 to wait until at least 1947 before scheduling a special train, to allow for track and equipment repairs. Civilian equipment also suffered post-war infirmities. Civilian cars were frail, and school bus drivers were cautious about their vehicles and questioned whether the Swallow Falls bridge was strong enough to hold them. Further, Swallow Falls itself was overgrown. No mention of an excursion was made in 1947 or, indeed, until 1951.

Before moving to post-war excursions we need to explain why Mr. Hanst had proposed a Turkey Festival for Garrett County. Eventually, turkeys and autumn leaves indeed combined to contribute to the Autumn Glory Festival as we now know it.

It was probably in the early 1930's that Elwood Glotfelty, in the Bittinger-Glade area, started to raise turkeys, later contracting with other farmers to grow turkeys also. Gradually more farmers became interested in raising the birds, which were marketed primarily in the Pittsburgh area.

Raising turkeys was a frustrating business, for turkeys have their little ways. The day-old chicks from a hatchery in Culpeper, Virginia, were brought to Garrett County in heated vans and transferred to brooder houses which were kept at high heat by wood-burning stoves, stoked day and night by turkey farmers or their families.

Turkeys that became cold or frightened bunched together in a corner, smothering each other. In-door turkeys were frightened by low-flying planes. Out-door turkeys were, more reasonably, afraid of dogs and foxes, along with rain and hail. Even when grown, they would, when alarmed, huddle together and smother. Despite the frustrations, turkeys could bring as much as $4.00 a pound. They could also yield as little as 52¢ a pound. It was a chancey business, but many farmers in the Accident-Bittinger area engaged in it, some raising as many as 10,000 birds annually. A Turkey Growers' Association was formed in 1952, and the First Annual Turkey Growers' Festival in 1954 served 430 turkey

The term, "Autumn Glory" was first applied specifically to early October in Garrett County by Governor Theodore McKeldin in 1951. He made a formal proclamation of Autumn Glory Days, urging all Marylanders, especially those from the eastern part of the state, to "see the miracle of nature which will soon turn

Autumn Glory was proclaimed from the 4th to the 11th, and included turkey shoots, wild life exhibits, water skiing, turkey dinners, turkey sandwiches and frozen turkey for sale. The B&O had two one-car diesel units which brought people to Oakland, where buses took them on what was to become a fairly standard tour: Herrington Manor, Swallow Falls, Deep Creek Lake, McHenry, with refreshment stops at Cabin Lodge, Thayer's Barn or McComas Beach. On Sunday a choir from Frostburg presented a concert. The Governor himself visited the county that year, along with numerous motorists, as well as train travelers.

A pattern was being established that, with variations, lasted

Governors proclaimed Autumn Glory Days. The railroad ran two, and sometimes three special trains, bringing as many as 2,000 people to spend two days or an afternoon in the county. Scouts rode school buses with the visitors serving as guides. Turkey dinners and turkey box lunches were served. Entertainment varied a bit; visiting the first tree farm, seeing exhibitions of woodman skills, square dancing.

The paper gave less and less attention to Autumn Glory, merely mentioning that in 1965 2,226 people came on three trains, and there were turkey dinners and two trains in both 1966 and

Then, in 1968, things perked up. Tom Butscher, Chick Briner, and many other business people worked with and through the Promotion Council, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club to add to the show. A parade in Oakland was featured, with bands, drill teams, floats, marching units from miles around. The sponsors lost money but the crowd was estimated at 30,000.

In 1969 the program started with a dinner Thursday night, featuring Senator Hatfield of Oregon. Friday included a carnival, a football game, a teenage dance. Saturday was built around the parade, but turkey dinners were widely featured, 1,200 people came on the 18th annual railroad excursion, and the total crowd was estimated at 40,000.

Since then, Autumn Glory has been a bigger celebration every year, with more events and more people. It's come a long way since those first modest excursions nearly fifty years ago.

Festival Foresight . . .

When folks like Meshach Browning resided in what eventually became Garrett County, they undoubtedly observed the beauty of this land during the fall season. However, it is unlikely that any of them gave much thought to organizing a festival around this autumn beauty. Basic survival was the task of the day and little time remained for fun and frolic.

As survival became easier, though, there was more and more time for such ideas, and persons began to think in broader terms about the general economy of the community. It soon dawned on those early county residents that the mountaintop was indeed a special place where Mother Nature offered her best in terms of beauty and a cooler climate. And why not take advantage of the situation, not only for everyone's enjoyment, but also to make a few tourist dollars on the way?

As we read the feature article by Mary Love in today's issue of The Republican (page three) on the history of the Autumn Glory Festival, we were a bit surprised that, even though the festival as we know it today is only about 20 years old, aspirations for such an event began long before that. The first "autumn glory" trains, loaded with folks from down state, arrived here in 1936, which really provided the catalyst for today's festival.

It was most interesting to us that the former editor of this newspaper, George Hanst, in the late 1930s suggested that Garrett County's citizens organize a turkey festival, complete with a parade and the crowning of a queen. We are pleased that his vision has become a reality, thanks to the hard work of a lot of local people.

The festival is continuing to grow and become better and better, again thanks to the hard work of many. We wish to extend our appreciation to all who are involved with the Autumn Glory Festival and we extend an invitation to everyone else, both local and otherwise, to jump in and enjoy all the festival has to Meshach may be looking down right now and labeling us frivolous fools for engaging in such folly. On the other hand, maybe he is wishing he had had the time for such fun.

able to sign up for the Public Service Commission's Winter Heating Protection Plan (WHPP) when they apply for MEAP. Signing up for WHPP will enable households to pay a minimum amount each month to keep their gas. and electric service turned on.

'The Winter Heating Protection Plan is an excellent option for anyone who is income eligible. Even those families who generally pay their entire utility bill each month may find that one month this winter they are in a bind. By joining the program, they can pay a small amount and keep their service on," said Secretary Massinga.

Eligibility for MEAP, WAP and WHPP is established at 150 percent of the federal poverty level. Persons who rent their homes as well as homeowners. roomers and boarders may apply for assistance regardless of whether or not their home heating costs are included in their rent. This year, a new eligibility requirement has been established, requiring households to account for any liquid resources that are available to the family

MEAP and Weatherization assistance will be provided in Garrett County through the Community Action Committee which is located at 360 W. Liberty Street, Oakland. Persons desiring information may call the office at 334-2151.

Area Mishaps Send Three To Local Hospital

The Maryland State Police this week reported several accidents in which three persons were treated and released from the hospital.

Timothy D. Bradley, 18, Oakland, was treated and released from Garrett Memorial Hospital following a one car accident on Mayhew Inn Road, September 24 at 4:45 p.m.

Bradley was making a lefthand turn when his vehicle slid off the right side of the pavement and struck a ditch. The automobile came to rest after striking an embankment.

Cpl. Richard Graham investigated the accident. Tammy A. Stahl, 20, Aurora, W.Va., was also treated and released from Garrett Memorial after her car hit an embankment on the Ben DeWitt Road. According to Stahl, she was avoiding hitting several deer in the roadway at the time of the accident, which occurred at

Tfc. David W. Broadwater. James M. Reckart, 32, Oak land, was a passenger in a car driven by Ronald S. Friend, 21, Swanton, when the car door on right side flew open as Friend was making a left-hand turn onto Monte Vista Road from Rt. 219. Reckart was reportedly thrown from the vehicle and was then taken to Garrett Memorial. He was admitted to the hospital but has

p.m. on September 28. Tfc. R.C. Georg. Maryland State Police, was the investigating officer.

At a press conference Tuesday, the Commissioners said they wanted to clarify their position on home health care in the county. Although it was correctly reported in July in The Republican that the Commissioners simply did not favor the state's funding formula or home health care, some citizens felt the program itself was

by Donald R. Richter, M.D., FAAFP Influenza or "flu" is an illness caused by a virus which occurs predominantly during the winter months. The common symptoms of influenza are fever, sore throat, cough, and lack of energy which lasts several days. More severe disease can result in pneumonia. Individuals at high risk for influenza are poorly able to cope with the illness because of the ages or because of their underlying health problems. These people may require hospitalization because of severe illness, pneumonia, or worsening of their other medical problems. Vaccination of high-risk individuals each year before the influenza season (September-November) is the single most important measure of controlling influenza. The protection provided by the vaccine is only good for that year and therefore needs to be repeated every year. Also, it is important to understand that there are other "colds" and viral illnesses which are not caused by influenza virus and therefore not prevented by use of this vaccine. The following people should receive the influenza vaccination: 1) Adults and children with chronic disorders of the cardiovascular system or pulmonary system (i.e. heart or lung 2) Residents of nursing homes or chronic care facilities.

3) Individuals 65 years of age or older and otherwise healthy. 4) Individuals with other chronic medical problems, such as diabetes anemia, kidney failure or asthma. 5) Personnel who work in settings with extensive contact with

In addition, anyone in the general population who wishes to reduce their chance of getting influenza may receive the vaccine.

This year, a new type of influenza has been identified in other countries and may also cause a problem here. This type of influenza affects mostly people who are younger than 35. Therefore, anyone under age 35 who receives the regular influenza vaccine should also receive the "extra" vaccine which will be available in November. Concerned persons should discuss this information with their family physicians.

New Building Provides Meeting Place For Alcoholics Anonymous

To recover, to build anew; these are the goals of recovering alcoholics, who will soon be able to attend Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) meetings in a new building on Liberty Street, next to the old B&O Railroad Station, in Oakland.

AA, as such, cannot own anything, and therefore a non-profit corporation has been formed to build the building, maintain it, and own it for the use of AA. One director explained, "At present, we have meetings at several different locations where space is borrowed. It has been the dream and hope that we could, someday, have a meeting place of our own; a place where we could always know where the meetings would be, where out-of-town members could know where to go, and this dream is now becoming a reality."

The lot next to the railroad station was donated. Another member donated the cost of the blocks and footer. All the labor was contributed free, mostly by AA members. According to Director Michael Kildow, there are no government funds being provided for the project and the taxpayer is not paying for it.

Kildow went on to explain that many people know about AA, Alcoholics Anonymous, and the fact that it was established to help the alcoholic who wants to stop drinking. "It is a fellowship of men and women who have lost the ability to control their drinking and have found themselves in various kinds of trouble as a result of drinking. AA attempts to create a satisfying way of life without alcohol. For this they find help and support of other alcoholics in AA," he said.

'AA has done what many folks have tried but not succeeded in doing. It has helped many people throughout the world become useful members of society; become proud to be alive; proud to be able to work and think again," Kildow said. He also stated that AA is now recognized by most medical people as one of the helpers to the suffering alcoholic who wants to stop, but can't.

'The benefit of AA to our local community is exciting and rewarding when a recovering alcoholic is seen becoming a member of society again, being productive, regaining one's sanity, learning to live in a 'normal' environment again instead of the turmoil of the active alcoholic." said Kildow

One anonymous member submitted the following poem to show the "results" of a drinking problem.

Retail Sales. Use Tax Revenue Up During August

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reports that retail sales and use tax revenue for August, 1986 jumped 11.3% over receipts for the same month of the prior year, with taxable food and beverage. tourism-related, and automotive parts categories showing especially strong August sales tax revenue is based on July retail activity.

The taxable food and beverage category of sales tax collections produced $22.2 million during August, 1986, a 15.9% gain over the same month a year ago," Goldstein said. This reflects food and beverage service in restaurants and other facilities and may also reflect the increased tourism activity in Maryland

"Sales taxes collected through hotels and motels in Maryland produced $1.9 million, up 12.7% over August of 1985," Goldstein said. "That's a significant increase.

"Total sales taxes collected in Worcester County, including Ocean City, amounted to $3.7 million, or 7.2% more than the same month a year ago," he noted. "These figures support the record motor fuel statistics we recently reported and indicated Maryland experienced a great tourism summer.'

Lewis, Umstot Earn Hospital Employee Awards

Kathie Lewis

The administration of Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently announced the hospital Employees of the Month for August and September. Selected were Kathie Lewis of the Medical Records Department for August and Judy Umstot of the Laboratory for September.

Mrs. Lewis began her employment at the hospital in January 1982 as an admissions clerk and transferred to the Medical Records Department in July of that year as a correspondent clerk.

Mrs. Lewis resides in Terra Alta, W.Va., with her husband, Ron, and two daughters, Angie and Kristin. She enjoys cooking, reading, crocheting, and refinishing furniture as hobbies, and also has a special interest in the Lupus Erythematosus Foundation.

"I think it is a privilege to have been chosen for this honor," she said, noting that she enjoys her job and "being a part of the hospital family."

Jackie Kenner, director of Medical Records, stated that Mrs. Lewis is "an excellent allaround employee who is always dependable, courteous, and willing to help.'

Mrs. Umstot was first employed at the hospital in July The sale of automotive parts 1965, after her graduation from 14 employees, plus great The building and contractors advancements in technology

She and her husband, Jav moved to Virginia in 1967, where she worked in a 350-bed hospital part-time until their move back to Oakland in 1970. She returned to Garrett Memorial in February 1971. She and her husband are the parents of three daughters.

Mrs. Umstot stated it was "a very nice surprise" to be chosen Employee of the Month and Tom Prince, director of Laboratory Services at GCMH stated that Mrs. Umstot "has done very well holding down the 11 (p.m.) to 7 (a.m.) shift, and has helped keep the rest of us on the ball with double-checking our work and seeing that the lab

RESPIRATORY THERAPY WEEK - The Garrett County Commissioners have signed a resolution proclaiming October 5-11 as Respiratory Therapy Week. Respiratory Therapy is recognized as one of the fastest growing allied health professions and an essential part of the health care team. It specializes in the treatment of disorders such as emphysema, asthma, chronic bronchitis, drowning, heart attack, cystic fibrosis, and croup by incorporating the use of oxygen therapy, respiratory drugs, pulmonary hygiene, sophisticated life support systems, and cardiopulmonary resuscitation techniques. The American Association for Respiratory Therapy rep resents more than 20,000 professionals continuously serving the nation's health care needs. Former Resident Escapes Injury In F-15 Collision

A former Accident resident escaped serious injury several weeks ago when the F-15 fighter plane he was operating collided with another F-15 plane.

Capt. Dale Rodeheaver, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rodeheaver, Accident, along with Capt. Craig Swaby, 26, Petoskey, Mich., the pilot of the other plane, received only minor injuries when their planes collided during maneuvers over White Sands Missile Range. The pilots are from Holloman Air Force Base.

Holoman officials said the supersonic jets collided at about 11:30 a.m. on Friday, September 19, during routine training over a range area 81 miles north of Alamogordo, near Socorro, N.M.

Capt. Rodeheaver landed his jet safely at Holloman after the collision. Capt. Swaby ejected from his craft before it crashed into the desert.

No other details have been released from Holloman about the accident which is still under investigation by a board of

IMPORTANCE OF PLANNING

Often one works for a lifetime, makes countless sacrifices, and does a great deal of planning in order to provide financial security for one's heirs. On the other hand, often too little time and thought is spent on other considerations involving one's survivors. What should be done in the event of one's death is of primary importance. It is a difficult enough time for spouse and close relatives without having to make de cisions regarding your wishes-particularly if these have never been expressed. Discuss the subject openly and, better yet, include your wishes in written form (called Letter of Instruction). Plan ahead concerning other matters. Should the survivor stay where he or she is and live alone? Would it be better to move in with grown children, another relative, a friend, a retire ment community? Unless this type of question is explored and answered, one has not fully provided for one's survivors

Republican Candidate for County Commissioner (District No. 1)

"The right of private property ownership is the foundation of the freedoms which we as Americans enjoy!"

MY RECORD ON PROPERTY RIGHTS

- 1. I have been a staunch defender of the rights of property owners and have championed their cause whenever these rights were in question by any agency of government.
- 2. I have worked closely with the property owners in the Yough Corridor to restore their property rights and to reduce the D.N.R. authority over this state-regulated private property.
- 3. I believe the county must continue to restrict D.N.R. from any further acquisition of state-owned lands in order to protect our tax base from further erosion. With over 20% of Garrett County owned by the state, D.N.R. must concentrate on better utilization and management of state lands, and not acquiring more acreage!!
- 4. If and when the state does acquire more acreage for conservation or recreation purposes, they should purchase land from willing sellers only and not by way of the condemnation process.

Ed Wildesen held down first sistent defense all season. Mike Matthews, a recent graduate of James Madison University, played a "spectacular" second base, according to Terry Helbig, manager/player, and also hit .313. "No second baseman in the league turned a double play as quickly as Matthews," Helbig said.

Third base was handled by Phil Caruso, Phil Carr, and Francis Mouse, although Mouse was able to play only on a limited basis. Mouse hit an incredible .516 in the 1985 season, had 24 runs scored, 33 hits, including six home runs, and 27 RBIs. Caruso was a big factor in securing talented pitchers, Helbig said. "Without his connections to Frostburg State College and as the past coach of GCC, Oakland would not have had the pitching depth to win the league title," Helbig said.

Former Northern High standout and GCC player Phil Carr batted .338 for the season and .417 during the playoffs, while providing a strong defensive performance at third base and in left field.

Lady Huskies Top Southern In Volleyball

The Northern High varsity girls volleyball team continued its undefeated streak this past week by stopping cross-county rival Southern last Thursday night, 10-15, 15-8, 15-10, and 15-4, on the Lady Rams' court. The win was the fifth in as many starts for Coach Vonda Yunker's team, while Coach Helen Rostosky's squad fell to

After winning the first game of the match, Southern's setter Stephanie Lewis injured her knee and the Lady Rams could not seem to get back on track. Laura Sines led the Huskies with 16 service points, making good on 23 of 24 service attempts. She also registered ten aces on the evening. Sophomore Debbie Rounds recorded 11 service points, including four aces, while co-captains Tammy Swauger and Shayne Couch each finished with 10 service points. NEW VOLLEYBALL SYSTEM DEDICATED — The Southern High School girls volleyball team held a special ceremony Monday evening just before a match with Fort Hill to dedicate the school's new Senoh Volleyball system. The new equipment was purchased through funds raised by the members of the team who sold ads in the volleyball schedule and held bake sales, plus through donations from private citizens and local businesses. Coach Helen Rostosky stated that the old system was a series of wires, ropes, and stands that took a lot of time to set up and presented a hazard to the players. "We were fortunate that we had no injuries because of the old system," she said. "Our seniors have spent the last four years working with our old system and they are especially glad to see the new one. Volleyball has become a major girls' sport in Western Maryland and with this new system we are now playing according to all the rules and regulations, without any equipment violations." Mrs. Rostosky and the players expressed their appreciation to athletic director Tom Woods, who paved the way for installation of the equipment on short notice, to George Brady and the members of his maintenance crew, Harold Swauger, Bud Shaffer, and Jim Bittinger who installed the new system, and to all those who made donations and have supported the volleyball program in any way. As expected, the contest was close right down to the wire and a different outcome on any one of several plays would have given the Rams the victory.

Following the opening kickoff, the Ram defensive unit forced the Applemen to punt, which gave Southern possession on their own 48-yard line Sophomore quarterback Zack Gibson, who was still listed as SPEAKING SOFTLY Since conductive hearing losses involve problems with the outer or middle ear, the inner ear and nerve pathways remain normal An individual with a conductiv hearing loss is inclined to speak with a relatively soft voice. This is because people normally regulate the loudness of their voices by the way they hear themselves When someone speaks, part of the sound of his own voice is directly transmitted through his head bone into his inner ear. Since an individual with a conductive hearing loss has a normal inner ear, his own voice sounds louder to him than do the voices of others. Other voices have to go through the defective outer and middle ear before they can be heard. Thus, he softens his own voice to match the way he hears the voices of others What you hear naturally affects how you speak. offer the hearing instruments that will allow a more natural sound to be per ceived so that your relationship with those around you will be at a "noise level" acceptable to all. The third situation Woods pointed out was the fumble late in the game which took away the Rams' final opportunity to win the game.

'Although this loss does not necessarily knock us out of the playoffs, it certainly was a significant loss," Woods said."Had we won the game, we would have been ranked number two in the state of Maryland in Class B. As it is, we are now ranked number nine."

Things do not get any easier for the Rams this week as they must travel to Keyser tomorrow evening to face the 3-1 Golden Tornado. Although Sean Hill, one of the finest football players ever in the tristate area, has graduated, Keyser has a wealth of strength and talent remaining and is coming off a big win over Bishop Walsh last week.

The Tornado, under new head coach Doug Jennings, is led offensively by pre-season High School All-American Shannon Vissman (6-2, 215-pound senior) at fullback; a four-year starting quarterback in senior Mike Smith (6-2, 170): potential All-American junior tackle Rick Dolly (6-4, 238); senior tailback Phil Mele (5-11, 174); senior wingback Mark Farris (5-10, 160); senior split end J.R. Crites (5-10, 152); and fullback Mitchell Bruce (6-0, 188), who had a 90-yard run last week against BW.

The defensive unit is also paced by Vissman and Bruce at linebacker, Dolly at nose guard. Smith, Crites, Farris, and Mele

'What we've found over the years is a trend toward younger bass. The average age and size is decreasing," he went on. In Deep Creek Lake, because of the short growing season, a to Pavol. "We know that the maximum age of a bass in the lake is 12 years," he said.

Apparently, Deep Creek Lake will be the only Maryland waterway to go under the closure regulations which, in Sunday dinner and supper essence, protects the adult Reservoirs such as Liberty, Prettyboy, and Loch Raven will be dealt with later, depending on what the experiment at Deep Creek produces.

The catch at Deep Creek is almost exactly two smallmouth to every largemouth, according to Pavol. He points to records of 2,000 fish, most tabulated during fishing tournaments held in the last 11 years. Speaking of tournaments,

Pavol points out that a closure on Deep Creek would not eliminate bass fishing, just hace kill. ing and possession. Pavol pointed out that male bass are particularly susceptible during spawning season because they are aggressive and strike lures that come near the nests they are guarding.

A tournament could still be conducted but anglers would be illegal if they had bass in the livewell of the boat.

The biologist said that the traditionally poor bass fishing of July and August may be simply because there are fewer legal bass to catch, not just because bass stop biting.

He said that last spring there were 289 bass tagged and by June, 30 percent of the tags had been returned. By word of mouth. Pavol learned of many more that were caught but not returned. Considering that those tagged fish had initially been captured by hook and line, it didn't take them long to once again fall prey to a fisherman. said Pavol.

Anglers recapturing a tagged fish are requested to turn the pink, four-inch streamer tag in at Johnny's Bait House. There is no reward but those names will go into a hat to be drawn for a cash prize donated by the Garrett Bassers. Pavol said the tagging study will be repeated next

Air Pollution Is Caused By Burning Autumn Leaves

As leaves start drifting by windows, the thoughts of Garrett County residents generally turn to ways of getting rid of the red, yellow, and orange blanket that annually covers the area. However, the Garrett County Health Department warns that leaf burning is prohibited where public collection service is available. A public collection service consists of either a vacuum truck service or ordinary trash collection serv-

In presenting the case against leaf burning, Garrett County Health Officer Dr. William W. Pope emphasized that the smoke from burning leaves contains a high concentration (about one pound of air poliutants for every five pounds of leaves burned) of such pollutants as hydrocarbons, particulate matter, and carbon monoxide.

Because the leaf smoke is usually close to the ground, coupled with autumn weather patterns that prevent movement of the air, leaf smoke is more likely to be inhaled before it can dissipate.

Pollutants resulting from leaf burning can greatly aggravate the condition of persons suffering from respiratory disorders. and can cause eye and nose irritations, fever, coughing, and cramps in a healthy person. Additionally, the pollutants in the air can cause house paint to deteriorate, retard plant

COMBINED EFFORTS -- Banks of the North Branch of the Potomac River upstream of Shallmar, which were severely damaged in the November 1985 flood, were restored and stabilized through the combined efforts of the Garrett County Commissioners, and the Garrett Soil Conservation District. The request for Emergency Watershed Protection funds was made by the Commissioners, with technical and financial assistance coming from the USDA Soil Conservation Service. The contract for the project, which cost approximately $14,000, was awarded to Buffalo Coal Company. The Soil Conservation Service funded 80 percent of the project with the county picking up the other 20 percent of the cost. The contract was completed on September 22, and accepted by the SCS and the Garrett County Commissioners. Other hazards of leaf burning include the increased risk of fires raging out of control, decreased visibility contributing to automobile accidents, and possible street and sidewalk damage, repairs for which are paid for by tax dollars.

In areas where there are too many leaves to be collected, or where no collection is available, Dr. Pope suggests that citizens investigate using leaves for mulching, plowing, erosion control, and compost piles. These processes return needed nutrients to the soil, while efficiently eliminating the leaves. Dr. Pope concluded his recommendations by stating that if collection services are not available and other means of disposing of the leaves are ineffective, leaves originating on

Teen Challenge Official To Speak At Local Church

H. Mason Sorensen, assistant director of Teen Challenge of Maryland, Inc., will be the guest speaker on October 11 at 7 p.m. and October 12 at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at Mt. Top Christian Assembly, located just east of Mt. Lake Park along Route 135.

Teen Challenge is a Christian ministry that helps young people with life controlling problems such as drugs and alcohol. With a documented 86% cure rate, it is claimed to be the most successful rehabilitation program in existence

Sorensen joined the staff at the Teen Challenge Induction Center in August 1984. He and his wife, Joan, and three small children are former residents of Snoqualmie, Wash., where Mr. Sorensen was employed by the Weverhauser Company.

Mason was converted in 1976 at a Billy Graham Crusade held in the Kingdome in Seattle, Wash. Prior to his conversion he led a stormy life which included periods of incarceration in over a dozen jails, and living in a truck from which he dealt drugs during the hippie era of the 1960s

Sorensen is a graduate of the Berean School of the Bible with a diploma in ministerial studies. He has directed a Christian ministry at Washington State's largest correctional facility and worked as a counselor in a juvenile detention home. He has spoken on radio and television and ministered in churches and to para-church organizations. His present ministry includes administering the daily operation of the Teen Challenge Center in the Washington, D.C. area.

Working with Rev. Mike Zello, the executive director of Teen Challenge of Maryland and pastor of New Life Assembly, Sorensen has been involved in inter-city evangelism and the establishment of a flourishing cross cultural church body.

Will miniseries cause a Cap Cities 'War'?

By Cindy Adams

Hollywood is saying that Cap Cities may sell ABC before "War and Remembrance" up to get it done — fast. "Put 'Get Well' cards on the mantle," the hits the tube in '88. (The network naturally denies this.) originally scheduled as a 20-hour miniseries, has been expanded to 30 hours. It was budgeted at $60 million, but it'll top off at the $100 million mark — give or take a few drachmae. The opus is a continuation of Herman Wouk's "The Winds of War," and it's been filming this year in Poland, Italy and Yugosh everywhere but on the Atchi son. Topeka and Santa Fe. It stars Jane Seymour and Sir John Gielgud, Because ABC was running cold, the network had commissioned the show as an all-or-nothing shot. 'Last Frontier': Evans without the frills

By Ian Harmer

HOLLYWOOD — "The Last only thing that's changed since Frontier," airing Sunday, Oct. the series started is that now 5. and Tuesday, Oct. 7. strips leaving — or staying — is my Linda Evans of designer decision. And I really rather gowns and diamonds and like that I hate to disappoint whisks her from "Dynasty" is the people who say otherwise." Denver to the dusty Outback in the actress adds. "but I have Alice Springs, Australia And not made any decision to the character Evans is play-leave." ing, Kate Hannon, is as far re-moved from Krystle Carrington as a cuckoo is from a kangaroo. Still, the actress doesn't want anyone jumping to the wrong conclusions

"Dynasty" without loyal, loving Krystle would be un-thinkable, but in the world of the TV supersoaps, anything can happen. And that's one of the reasons the actress gave up her "Dynasty" vacation to rough it up Down Under.

"I want as many people as possible to see and enjoy The Last Frontier," she explains, but I have to confess it was something I did for me and for nobody else. Beautiful gowns and elegant settings might be good for my image, but I have come to realize that jeans and no makeup is closer to the rea 'In 'Frontier,' I play a woman who has to make it in the real world, without any help from a man, and that alone gave me a very welcome break from 'Dynasty.' "Evans adds. "After weeks without makeup, I got back to the stu dio, and naturally the first thing they had to do was plaster my face with all the stuff they say you need to project a glamorous, elegant image. It felt for a while as if I was reading that I have already wearing a heavy mask, but done so or am about to do then, as usual, I got used to it!"

Sounds and Sights of Fall

Ah, the SOUNDS OF FALL: school bells tolling: leather smacking leather on football fields; children verbally playing in fallen leaves, screaming to catch them as they flutter to Mother Earth.

And the SIGHTS OF FALL: vacations ending; routines resuming, and feelings of nostalgia fighting with feelings of anticipation as the days God has made become clothed in his coats of many colors.

Fall is God's message that he is actively at work in his universe; that change is not all that is permanent. but rather his is creatively at work in us: changing. moving, pulsating, and gearing us toward that maturity of wisdom he promises to those who seek him and will allow him control.

is not far behind, but that God is painting universal, multi-colored pictures of his purpose. And he wants to

THE YEAR OF JUBILEE October 5, 1986

Devotional Reading: Leviticus 19:9-18.

The year of jubilee is one of the most interesting and unique concepts in the Old Testament "And you shall hallow the fiftieth year, and proclaim liberty throughout the land to all its inhabitants; it shall be a jubilee for you... (25:10a). Every fifty years was to be a year of jubilee, a year in which the people are to return to their original homes, in which families shall regather, in which servants and slaves shall be given their freedom and family properties be reclaimed.

RETURN TO THE FAMILY One of the purposes of the year of jubilee was to undergird the family life of the nation and a property" (25:10b). The land of year should be the year of jubilee. Israel was given by God as an inheritance for the families of Israel, not as a possession for financial exploitation. The strength structure was to be a strong bond.

between the land and the family Actually, Leviticus encouraged people to redeem their land even before the year of Jubilee.

But the spirit behind the year of jubilee is also concerned with ending exploitation of the poor and unfortunate. Slaves and servants are to be freed in the year of jubilee-"proclaim liberty throughout the land to all its inhabitants." People, who because of financial necessity, sell their family homestead shall receive it back in the year of jubilee.

THE JUBILEE SPIRIT Best of all, one doesn't have to wait until the 50th year to make these necessary changes. There is a deep concern for the welfare of the powerless and unfortunate. 'And if your brother becomes poor beside you, you shall not make him serve as a slave ... (25:39). In other words, although the year of jubilee was a special time set aside to eliminate exploitation, the spirit of jubilee needed to be kept even in the non-jubilee years: "You shall not wrong one another, but you shall fear your God; for I am the Lord your God"

Thus, the year of jubilee was for everyone, not just the fortunate few. And it was never to fifty years. We observe Christmas just one day a year, but the purpose of Christmas is to motinext twelve months. So it was with the jubilee. In the heart every

County Livestock Association Elects Officers

The Garrett County Livestock Association recently met and elected board members and officers for the 1986-87 year, which started October 1. Ralph Miller of Oakland was elected president; Alice Wilhelm, of Grantsville, vice president; and LaVerna Evans, Oakland, secretary/treasurer.

Re-elected for three-yearterms to the board of directors were Lee Shillingburg of Deer Park, who served as president for many years, and LaVerna Evans of Oakland. Other members are Jean Wright of Swanton, Don Sealing of Bittinger, and Ronald Fulk of Oakland. Youth representatives this year are Monica Miller of Oakland, for Oakland FFA; and Darla Broadwater of Grantsville, for Northern FFA; Karen Wilhelm of Grantsville, for northern 4-H clubs; and Sam Wright of Swanton, for southern 4-H clubs

Also members, by nature of their positions, are Larry Deal, Northern FFA advisor; and Steve Kisner, Oakland FFA advisor

The objective of the association is to carry on an educational program to encourage and extend the influence and distribution of livestock and promote the interests of its membership by creating better trade opportunities. The association works in cooperation with the Garrett County Cooperative Extension Service in an advisory capacity for youth programs.

Some of the major activities are steer camp for beef members, proposed market lamb sale in the spring and the market animal sale of beef, sheep and swine at the Garrett

Kellogg Grant Will Develop Ag Research Exhibit

The University of Maryland has received a $987,864 grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation to design, develop, and construct a museum exhibit titled "The Search for Life: Agricultural Science in the Twentieth Century.

The exhibit will be designed to show American consumers how agricultural research benefits their pocketbooks at the grocer's checkout, their health, and their lifestyles.

3,300 square feet and is scheduled to open in 1987, the cenwhich Congress set up the network of federally-funded, statestations in the United States.

Initially, the exhibit will travel to American cities. After 1987, it will be permanently housed in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

In addition to the University of Maryland's Agricultural Experiment Station, the university's agricultural research component, the project team for the exhibit will include scientists from other universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, staff of the Smithsonian Institution, and the New York design studio of Peter Wexler.

"The primary focus of this exhibit is on the biochemical revolution, the contribution that science makes to agriculture

A SIAMESE ZUCCHINI? - Mary Bowser, a student at Northern High School, is displaying an unusual zucchini squash grown in her home garden. NHS Vo-Ag Teacher Larry Deal says the squash is "quite unusual," that it is not just two zucchinis growing together because the stem has only one heart. This oddity is similar to Siamese twins in humans, and the zucchini is the first multi-squash from a single bloom ever seen by the vo-ag teacher. Since it was founded in 1930, Signs Available

For Sealed Silos

The Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council is offering a sign, designed to be used as a reminder and warning that water should not be used to extinguish a fire in an oxygenlimiting (sealed) silo.

The sign is made of sturdy .020 gauge aluminum and measures approximately 10 by 14 inches. The three-color sign is reflective for night visibility and has holes punched for easy mounting. It would warn firemen and other emergency personnel of the danger posed by using water.

It is suggested that two signs be mounted for each oxygenlimiting silo, one at the base of the silo adjacent to the silo at the top of the silo near the closest roof hatch door opening.

The cost is $4.25 per sign. Checks should be included with the order and should be made payable to the Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council, 204 Agricultural Engineering Building, University Park, PA 16802. Three or four weeks should be allowed for delivery. The council states that it is important that these signs be placed only on oxygen-limiting silos, as water is the proper extinguishing medium for con-

Fall & Winter Checklist for Strawberry Growers Weeds - 1) Continue to mow field borders to eliminate weed seed sources. Pay special attention to thistle and other perennial weeds. 2) Knock out Chickweed with Tenoran if necessary. 3) Apply Devrinol anytime before soil freezes. Be sure that one inch of rainfall or irrigation follows within 24 hours. 4) Sinbar may be used on dormant plantings if soil type variety and weed problems warrant its use. Read label carefully. Sinbar can kill strawberries. 5) Be sure that winter mulch is weed free. Fertility - Soil test existing fields that will be renovated next year. Lime, phosphorus and potassium may be applied this fall or next spring. Do not apply nitrogen to plantings that will fruit next

Mulch - Plan to apply about 3 tons of clean straw per acre after several hard freezes have occurred.

Small Grain Silage

Small grain silage is becoming more popular as a supplemental feed in the spring. If sown early enough in the fall, there may be time for early winter grazing. Small grain silages are normally higher in protein and lower in energy than corn silage, which may mean savings of some purchased concentrates. Using small grains as silages can be followed with corn giving you the opportunity to double-crop your fields. Rye and rye mixtures will generally provide the highest yields, however, the problem is harvesting high quality rye silage. The quality of rye can change from excellent to poor within a period of 4 to 7 days due to rapid maturity. Rye should be harvested just before boot stage. Barley should be harvested in the late boot to early heading stage. Wheat should be harvested in the vegetative stage. Also combinations of small grain species can improve silage quality since different species will generally reach heading stage at different times. Some of the suggested seeding rates are as follows: Rye - 140 lbs./A; Wheat - 150 lbs./A; Barley - 120 lbs./A. 20 lbs of nitrogen at seeding and an additional 60 to 80 lbs. in early March will be beneficial in increasing yields.

Feeding Fresh Silage to Dairy Cows

A couple of weeks ago I had an article on the problems in feeding fresh silage. Since then I have had a few farmers call me that fed fresh silage and experienced a drop in milk and fat production plus cows with upset stomachs. If you must feed this uncured silage, I would suggest that you increase the amount of hay being fed. Also you may need to increase the grain. One of the major problems is the cow cannot fully digest the uncured silage. until new bacteria form in the stomach. This takes time and in all likilihood by the time this change takes place you will be feeding cured silage. It takes approximately 3 weeks for silage to cure.

"Illiteracy is a serious problem," one chapter member said. "Of the nearly 23,000,000 functionally illiterate adults in the United States, 500,000 live in Maryland," the member stated.

Functionally illiterate means the inability to read or write well enough to handle tasks such as writing checks and letters or reading a simple manual. This statistic places Maryland 25th in the states illiteracy ranking. In addition to the vidual's emotional pain and em-

Oakland Hosts MML Meeting

Oakland was the host of the bi-monthly meeting of the Allegheny/Garrett Chapter of the Maryland Municipal League held on September 17 at the Oakland Country Club. Approximately 40 members from the two counties attended the dinner meeting

Russell Alexander, president of the chapter, called the meeting to order and introduced the guest speaker, Libbie Tolbert, district vice president. Ms. Tolbert informed the group of the upcoming Legislative Conference to be held in Aberdeen and encourged greater participation from the state's westernmost chapter in league events, particularly within the various MML committees.

PLUS PROGRAM UNDERWAY — A chapter of Project Literacy U.S. (PLUS) has been organized in Garrett County. The group has planned free tutor-training sessions and other activities which will help those not able to read or write well enough to write checks and letters or read a simple

Barbara Faharoff, publicity chairman; Thelma Swartzentruber, chairperson of Literacy Coalition;

Melvin D. Bennett, Literacy Council of Frederick Council; Kay Mackley, Literacy Council of

Frederick Council; Ferne Beachy, co-chairman Literacy Coalition; Edith Brock, Ruth Enlow

Library director; Linda Buckel, Garrett County Board of Education; and Lottie Brenneman,

Delegate George Edwards was scheduled to address the members but was detained in Annapolis and was unable to make the meeting

The following officers were elected to serve one-year terms: Richard Blair from Midland, president; Robert Connor from Frostburg, vice president; and Samuel Layman from Frostburg, secretary/

President Alexander requested to the nominating committee that his name not be submitted for re-election. Alexander has held the post of secretary/treasurer, vice president and president of the chapter. Alexander is the only elected official from Garrett Zeller. County to have held all three positions in the Allegheny/Garrett Chapter of the Maryland Municipal League.

The next meeting will be hosted by the town of Deer Park on November 19.

Local Daughters Of American Revolution Meet

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, NSDAR, met recently at the home of Mrs. Willard Hayden, Mt. Lake Park, for its September meeting. Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Wooddell conducted the members on a tour of their home, the Ruhl-Wooddell Cottage, a Queen Anne Victorian structure built in 1895 on G Street. Following the tour the regular meeting was conducted, with the opening ritual being led by Regent Mrs. Richard Sherwood. Prayer was given by Chaplain Mrs. George Porter. Minutes were read by Mrs. Robert DeWitt and Mrs. Lindsay Gonder gave the treasurer's report, followed by the President General's message presented by Regent Mrs. Sherwood.

Members and non-members are invited to go by bus to the DAR Library in Washington, D.C., on October 30. The trip is being sponsored by the Jane Frazier Chapter in Cumberland for a $20.00 fee. Interested persons should contact Mrs. Edward J. Milbrada, 219

Fayette St., Cumberland. Mrs. James Hutchinson is making reservations for those who wish to attend the Founder's Day and Luncheon to be held Saturday, October 25, in Hagerstown. Guest speaker will be James E. Rogers, manager of New Germany State Park. Rogers will speak on "The American Revolution Sweeps Western Maryland." Transportation will be provided for all those desiring to attend.

The Chapter received a first place ribbon award from Maryland State Society, NSDAR, for the 1985-1986 yearbook insert. The 1986-1987 yearbooks were distributed to those members present.

In celebration of the 199th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution. The Preamble of the U.S. Constitution was read and a copy of "What the Constitution Means to You" and "The Citizen's Responsibility" printed by the National Defense Committee, NSDAR, was given to those present. The Daughters of the American Revolution urges all Americans to be worthy of the Constitution's pro-

NEWS FROM NORTHERN MIDDLE SCHOOL Invigorating Impacts

During September the Northern Middle Student Council was organized for the school year. The following students were elected as officers by the general membership: Karen Wilhelm, president; Audra Speicher, vice-president; Tracy Murray, treasurer; Heather Golden, secretary; and Bill Butcher, historian. The faculty advisor is Mrs. Carol Shaulis.

The Newspaper Club was also recently organized and will be in charge of writing and organizing school and community news that will appear periodically in this column. Students involved in this activity are Lori Sines, Maggie Rawe, Tracey Glotfelty, Carrie Van Sickle, Deanna Detrick, Andrei Yelovich, Terri Lapp, Lorne Brenneman, Andy Durst, Stacy Carlson, Valerie Hamilton, Frank Bittinger, Aaron Morris, William Nedrow, Tracy Teats, Tresa Lichty, Elonda Bittinger, and Tom Haer. The faculty advisor is Mrs. Sandi Warne.

Last week the 1986-87 Northern Middle Polaris yearbook staff elected a new editor and co-editor. The new editor is Mary Thomas and the new co-editor is Susan Cupler. The yearbook advisors are Mrs. Nancy Frank and Mrs. Mary Dye. Orders for wearbooks are currently being taken during homeroom and lunch shifts and will be available until October 10. The total cost will be $8.50 with a $5.00 deposit required.

Smash Successes Since last school year Northern Middle has added six new people to its staff. They are: Mrs. Denise Langley, 8th grade math; Mrs. Patricia Gales, 7th grade science; Mrs. Eleanor Teats, 8th grade language arts and reading; Mrs. Linda Lewis, Detention Aide; Mrs. Shirley Noonan, Special Education Aide; and Mrs. Nancy Friend, Special Education Aide.

This year, in addition to the new staff and the new sixth graders, there are some new faces among the familiar ones, 21 to be exact. These 21 new students have come to us from various parts of the United States as well as from different parts of Maryland. Among the different locales are Michigan, Ohio, Utah. and Pennsylvania. We welcome these new students as they begin their new year in Garrett County.

The Eighth Grade Team teachers have planned a field trip for the eighth graders to the Springs' Folk Festival on October 3. The cost per student will be $2.00 which will cover the cost of admission and transportation. They will leave the school at 9:45 a.m. and will return by 3:00 p.m. The team of teachers chaperoning the field trip are Mrs. Warne, Mr. Jackson, Mrs. Teats, Mr. Lander, and Mrs. Langley. The field trip is in conjunction with an Early America unit in reading and social studies.

Our annual Back-to-School Night will be held on Monday, September 29, from 7:30-9:30. There will be a business meeting and room visitation which will allow parents to meet their

The Northern Steelers have two more games in regular season play. They are on September 27 against the Oakland Jets and the last game will be played on October 4 with the Steelers going against the Terra Alta Dolphins.

It's that time of year again, Autumn Glory. The annual parade will be on October 11 in Oakland. Some of the organizations participating from the Northern Garrett area are the North Star 4-H Club, the Northern High School Band, and the Accident Legionettes. Come on out and support these fine groups as they participate in the parade.

In the physical education classes, students will be starting out the year with the Presidential Fitness Award Program. There are five categories: curl ups, shuttle run, sit and reach, one mile run, and pull ups or flexed armhang for girls. These five categories are judged according to the participants age. The award winners so far are Laura Dubansky, Melanie Deniker, Amy Durst, Becky Bowser, and Cindy Twist for the girls. The boys making over the 85 percentile are Jason Sisler, Randy Dolan, Mark Beals, Tim Warnick. Alan Bittinger, and Bill Butcher. In 1985, the School Fitness survey tested 18,857 boys and girls, ages 6-17. Some of the findings were: (1) In a simple flexibility sit and reach test, 30-40 percent of boys ages 6-15 could not reach beyond their toes. (2) Approximately 50% of girls ages 6-17 and 30% of boys ages 6-12 could not run a mile in less than 10 minutes. (3) In every comparison except for flexibility, girls reach a plateau at about 14 and then regress. (4) One out of every four boys ages 6-12 could not do one pull up. (5) 55% of all girls tested could not hold their chin over a raised bar for more than 10 seconds.

Ham-Cheese-Potato Casserole

1 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese 1/2 cup light cream

2 cups diced cooked potatoes

11/2-2 cups cubed cooked ham or canned luncheon meat 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento

Heat oven to 350°. In medium saucepan, heat the cheese and cream, stirring constantly until the cheese is melted and the sauce is creamy. Remove from heat; stir in remaining ingredients. Pour into greased 11/2 quart casserole. Cover; bake 45 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

"We bring you the best!"

BE WARM AS TOAST FOR A LOT LESS BREAD.

A modern, high-efficiency gas furnace gives you the ideal combination of comfort and cost savings.

Gas heat is warm, and the furnace does a full-time heating job no matter how cold it gets outside. That's unlike a heat pump, which delivers air that can actually feel cool, and needs a backup heating system on colder days.

nace also saves you money. It's usually less expensive to install than a heat pump, and it will cost less to operate. Plus, studies show that a gas furnace requires less maintenance, and lasts much longer than a heat pump.

To learn more, check with your heating dealer. You'll like the way gas keeps your home warm and toasty, for less money.

Homelessness Is Addressed By Advisory Board

Recommendations to alleviate the problem of homelessness in Maryland were released this week by the Governor's Advisory Board on Shelter, Nutrition and Service Programs for the Homeless Persons. The Board's recommendations urge immediate improvements in the shelter. food, clothing and medical care provided for the homeless, and also emphasize longer-term solutions to the problem, such as increased employment of the homeless and affordable and appropriate housing.

Board Chairperson Jane Harrison stated, "The State of Maryland, under Governor Hughes' leadership and with the General Assembly's support has made a strong beginning towards meeting the needs the homeless. The Governor's Housing Initiative of last year ddresses the root cause of the problem. The funds provided by the State to local jurisdictions for shelter and emergency care helped expand crucial services.

The Board made 70 recommendations affecting a wide range of state and local programs, including:

*Enactment of a Homeless Prevention Initiative which expands the existing Emergency Assistance Program, ties welfare grants to assistance programs for Godwin. Also having birthdays employables and unemployed, in September were, Frances and deploys housing counselors Durst, Ramsey MacDonald and in various agencies.

·Increased funding Governor's Comprehensive Garrett County Memorial Housing Initiative in the Hospital at this writing. amount of $22 million, in order home from W.V.U. Medical to bring the level of funding for Center FY 88 to $60 million.

On-site health and mental health services at specific shelters to evaluate and treat homeless persons; and mobile crisis intervention teams to provide emergency health services on the street, in soup kitchens and shelters.

The Board's recommendations are based on testimony received from statewide hearings and findings from a study commissioned by the Department of Human Resources from the Health and Welfare Council of Central Maryland. The study shows that services for the homeless are still inadequate and, in some turisdictions non-existent, and the problem of homelessness is growing (since 1983 there has been a 45% increase in the number of persons sheltered in Maryland). While Baltimore City has the largest concenration of homeless people 40%), but other large concentrations of the state's homeless are found in Metro D.C. 122% and Central Maryland (20%). While rural areas report fewer homeless (18%), there are uncounted numbers of "invisible"

DHR Secretary Ruth Massinga commented, "It is apparent from the study findings that the sterotypical image of the homeless person is significantly altered. Maryland's homeless population mirrors the rest of the nation's in its diversity-abused women with children, evicted families, unemployed workers, runaway youth, ex-offenders, the frail elderly, and disabled persons have all joined the ranks of the homeless. We need a broad based response of public sector and private sector, state and local initiatives and commitment to address this problem well."

Young Marksmen Complete Course On Rifle Safety

The Western Fraternal Order of Police (F.O.P.) Junior Rifle Club conducted a National Rifle Association of America Registered Basic Rifle Training Course from July 23 through September 10. The class was conducted at the National Guard Armory in Oakland and certificates were awarded to nine young shooters for successfully completing the course.

According to a spokesmar from the NRA, the training course provided a sound foundation in the fundamentals of safe gun handling and good marksmanship. Completing the course were: Harvey Bowser. Rebecca DeWitt, Timothy De-Witt, Billy Ferry, Stacey Hauser, Ben Reeves, Jared Roth, Jason Roth and Jarrod for rifle qualification firing. Each shooter fired the .22 caliber bolt action rifle in the prone, sitting, kneeling and standing positions and were required to pass a written examination. NRA certified instructors for the registered course were: Richard R Lewis, Granville Halterman, Carol V. Stewart, F. William Ferry Sr. and Russell E. Stewart.

The shooters were also presented awards and certificates

GCC President Addresses Local Rotary Club

Dr. Stephen J. Herman, president of Garrett Community from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., the College, spoke before the Oakland Rotary Club on Thursday, September 18, and summarized his first month at the College.

Dr. Herman discussed his efforts to improve both internal and external communications, and he reviewed the measures the College has taken to improve its financial record-keeping system.

The president also noted that College enrollment for the fall semester was good and promised to be much better than the statewide average for community colleges.

President Herman then opened a question and answer period and asked the Rotary membership their thoughts on what the citizens of Garrett County wanted and needed from the College. One area of conversation centered around the need for GCC to reach out to individual businesses in the community to assess job and training needs.

Dr. Herman concluded his evening's remarks with an open invitation to the Rotary members to meet with him in-

Teen Center To Sponsor Dance

The Garrett County Teen Center is sponsoring a dance this Saturday, October 4, at the Oakland Fire Hall from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Admission is $4.50 per couple or $2.50 per person. Fifty cents of each admission will be donated to the House of Hope.

Disc jockeys, Shelli and Scott, will be playing current hits for dancing and listening. All teens, age 13-19, are welcome. The next Teen Center dance is slated for Saturday, October 16, where a costume party will be held. Those persons desiring additional information may

AUTUMN GLORY ROYALTY - Garrett County's second Honorary Golden Ambassador, R. Thomas Thayer, left, took a moment last night at the Autumn Glory Kick-Off Reception, to pose with Queen Leigh Knotts, and the first Honorary Golden Ambassador, Thomas B. Butscher. Although in failing health, Butscher said he wouldn't miss the recognition his old buddy, "Big Daddy," deserved for all the years of "hard work" he put into Autumn Glory. The Golden Ambassador Award was kept a close secret and sources noted that R.T. was quite surprised when he was named at last night's festivities. (See feature elsewhere in today's paper.)

"I PLEDGE MY HEAD TO CLEARER THINKING; MY heart to greater loyalty; My hands to larger service; And my health to better living: For my club, my community, my country, and my world " These are the words of the 4-H Club Pledge, which takes on special meaning this week-National 4-H Club Week. A 4-H flag will fly above the courthouse all week, and each of the 14 4-H clubs in Garrett County will hold special events to celebrate National 4-H Week. The Garrett County Commissioners helped members of the Country Kids 4-H Club raise the flag, and acknowledged the organization as a valuable way for young people to "learn by doing." R.T. Thayer - Garrett County's Second Honorary Golden Ambassador

by Pam Ashby

The Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council, some Thayer family members and one close-mouthed reporter have been keeping a secret for weeks. The secret was revealed last night when R. Thomas Thayer was named Honorary Golden Ambassador for the 19th annual Autumn Giory Festival.

R. T. received a plaque of apon previous Autumn Glory Festivals last night at the Kick-Off Reception held at the Will O' the Wisp on Deep Creek Lake.

Last year's first Golden Ambassador, Tom Butscher. was on hand to see his buddy, "Big Daddy," (as Tom calls him) receive that award.

of Directors of the Promotion Council the first years of the Autumn Glory Festival. Although a bit more skeptical than his cronie, Tom Butscher. R. T. caught the spirit of enthusiasm and has helped secure some of the "big names" for the festivals.

Several former board members attribute the concept of the Kick-Off Dinner, which was once a $50 a plate formal affair, to R.T., who thought it was a great idea to promote the festival which, in turn, would promote Garrett County.

The first dinner was held in August to provide seed money for the festival. We've come a long way from those early festivals. Some say they were more exciting because of all the chances R.T., Tom Butscher, the late Gilman Sylvester, I.R.

Rudy, and Lynn Beckman took. No matter who one talks to about past Autumn Glory Festivals, the subject of R. T.

and the late Junior Samples always enters the conversation. This is how Tom Butscher recalls it, "Big Daddy said he had seen a fellow called 'Junior Samples' on the Johnny Carson show and thought he was hilarious. So we booked him at no small cost. We were down at the McHenry House at the Wisp and when it was time for him to speak, Junior was no where to be found. Big Daddy, who was the emcee at that particular dinner, found Mr. Samples in the restroom in an inebriated preciation for his years of work state asking 'Where are the girls?' After some slick maneuvering, Big Daddy got Junior to the microphone. Junior said, 'Hi folks. Hope you're all having a good time.' That was it. That was all the man said before he sat down again. Poor R.T. tried and tried to get Junior to talk, but to no Big Daddy was on the Board avail. The crowd roared. They must have thought that was entertainment enough because they were certainly understanding. It got R.T. off the hook, > Although R.T. may prefer to forget the Junior Samples fiasco, he should also be remembered for getting the likes of Ted Kopple to serve as parade marshal for the Grand Feature Parade.

> All of R.T. friends and family members agree that he was an important part of the growth of the Autumn Glory Festival. They just as readily agree that it was a good thing the recognition was a surprise, otherwise, he may not have made an appearance at the reception last night. He is modest about the part he has played in making the Autumn Glory Festival such a big success.

Biographically Speaking R.T., who is president of Garrettland Realty, has been active in the real estate and development field since he and Fred A. Thaver formed the firm

Teleconference On Articulation Held At GCC

The teleconference was entitled "Community College Partnerships: The High School/Community College Connection.'

GCC's business and

Donald Storck, coordinated the event which attracted some 50 people

The teleconference was based on the book, "The Neglected Majority," by Dale Parnell, which deals with the high school student (70% of all students) who will not likely be pursuing a baccalaureate-degree program. Parnell suggests a Techprep program which begins on the high school level to appeal to those not geared to a fouryear college program of study.

Parnell advocates articulation between high schools and community colleges to achieve the goals of better educating or training the "neglected majority. During the teleconference. three model partnership programs were discussed which already exist in other parts of the United States. The principles and key facts of articulation were also discussed. Phone lines were then opened to allow the 250 participating colleges to call in questions. GCC was unable to connect due the great influx of calls nationwide.

Storck termed the teleconference a success and noted that he received much positive feedback on the conference itself as well as the concept of articulation between the college and the high schools. He indicated that the only negative comment received was the length of the conference.

Storck said he was pleased with the roundtable discussion which followed the teleconference. "That was the essense of the whole conference-the dialogue between the two factions to determine the need for improved articulation," he commented.

He said he felt a good framework has now been established technology academic director, to pursue a partnership be-

CRIME SOLVERS

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information on two separate crimes

The first case involves a breaking and entering and theft of a residence on Bear Creek Road, near Accident.

The incident occurred on September 25 between 5:30 and 10:45 p.m. The victim was in the process of moving to another location when the crime was committed. The house was completely ransacked and a large amount of items were taken, including clothing, tools, jewelry, a typewriter, cameras, food, guitars, and personal items.

This crime is a felony. Crime Solvers is also seeking information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons responsible for the theft of articles from a boat at the Loar sub-division, south of North Glade Road,

Swanton, between September 21

Articles removed from inside the boat include a chain saw, an outdrive assembly, skis, tools. fishing rods and tackle, wet suits, and numerous other items

All leads in these cases have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers is seeking your help. Crime Solvers is offering a reward of up to $1000.00 for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the criminal(s) in these cases. Crime Solvers also pays cash rewards for information leading to the capture of wanted persons in other unsolved crimes.

Thank you for supporting the Arts in Garrett County!

Why, DNR? ...

Outrage seems to be far too weak a word to use to describe our feelings about the takeover and destruction of one of our local businesses by the Nature Conservancy and the Department of Natural Resources. We refer, of course, to the purchase of the Garrett County Processing and Packaging Corporation, located near Bittinger, which harvests and sells peat.

It was no secret that the Nature Conservancy had desperately wanted the bog, but claimed over a year ago that, when they were unable to buy the acreage at auction, they "washed their hands of it" and turned their sights on other projects. Obviously, they put their "clean" hands right back into things when the DNR came to them and offered to "subsidize" the purchase through land easements.

We do not in any way blame the present owners of the bog and peat company, who predicted long ago that they would eventually lose this battle. They knew the continual harassment would soon become just too expensive for them. How can a small company compete with such powerful and wealthy entities like the DNR and Nature Conservancy?

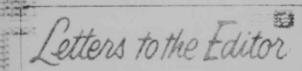

We are furious that the DNR would spearhead this buy-out. They are using OUR tax money to buy and destroy one of OUR businesses, to erode our fragile tax base, and to contribute to our unemployment! We want to know why! Was it political pressure from organizations such as the Sierra Club and the Nature Conservancy, an organization which claims it is non-political?

They have conveniently circumvented the law sponsored by John Bambacus and George Edwards that prohibits the state from taking more Garrett County land without relinquishing equal amounts. All the DNR has to do is find a non-profit organization to hold the title to the property and then offer to cover the purchase with easements.

There are only a few fulltime employees and only several seasonal employees at GCPP who will be without jobs. However, the company had gross sales of nearly $300,000 last year, most of which was and are therefore curtailing our money that came from customers outside the county. Such dollars turn over at least three times within the county, meaning this will be a $1,000,000 loss to the county's economy in actual dollars. We also lose property taxes, corporate taxes, and a piece of the 50 percent piggyback state tax. Many other local employees, such as truck drivers, will experience a loss and dozens of customers who depend on this peat will have to find another supplier.

We are sick and tired of the DNR and other -powerful organizations walking all over us and assuming that we are not intelligent enough nor caring enough to protect our own resources. We realize the environmental value of bogs like those in the peat glades, but there are other bogs available that offer the same plant and animal life. To state in other published reports that this particular bog serves as "the home for the 'rare' black bear" shows where the real ignorance lies.

We must have a unified stand against such under-the-table efforts by the DNR. We challenge you, Dr. Brown, to send us a detailed explanation for this latest outrage.

I went to the auto parts store and a very nice young man, Jeff, suggested a part which might be the cause of our problem. After helping me replace it and having no results he suggested someone else that might be able to help. Doug Fitzwater was called. He left his business and came to help right away

This activity started about 3430 p.m. In the meantime the kind folks at the beer distributors across the street invited my wife to come sit in their office out of the heat and then brought her to where we had to move the motor home. The folks from the ice cream stand brought cold drinks.

As time went on and the problem couldn't be found. mother gentleman came to help. The motor home was pashed to Mr. Fitzwater's place business and the work continued on by the two of them for several hours. Along with their help several other people were involved whose names we don't know.

When it was getting too late to continue, Mr. Fitzwater's amily offered my wife and me a place to stay. In the midst of this, they took the time to rescue a frightened little dog which had strayed from its home. My friend, Mr. Don Kelley, and I were in the vicinity of Accident, September 7 or 8, 1986, when we were stopped by the State Police for going 57 in a 25 mile-per-hour zone.

Kelley a courteous warning as the State Police do in W.Va.

We have traveled your state nearly every Sunday for 13 years, enjoying the beauty of your Table Rock area, but are upset in thinking our rides will result in such a fine. Also questioning the correctness of this particular State Policeman, the 25-mile-an-hour judicial system in your state also questioned a resident of Accident, also fined for speeding, who paid only $30.

The fact remains that Lou and Lola have been helping others for 12 years by their good deeds and even in the face of adversity and bad publicity they still plan to continue their chosen roles. I am asking that

by Sull McCartney

Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library is an non-profit organization founded by local citizens to promote the library. Public libraries are invaluable educational and cultural resources and we believe that the residents of Garrett County want and deserve the best library possible. The cost of operating the library has risen dramatically in recent years. For instance, the average cost of books has increased seventy percent since 1980. Needless to say, operating revenues have not kept up with increased costs. The concern that the library is not receiving adequate funding was the primary reason for organizing a "friends" group. On June 27, an organizational meeting was held at Garrett Community College at which directors and officers were elected.

Membership dues were set at $2 for an individual and $3 for a family. There are over 10,000 registered borrowers who are served by The Ruth Enlow Library. The primary function of the library is, of course, to provide these users with books and magazines. The circulation of these items in 1985 numbered 192,366. The list of additional services provided by the library is extensive. In addition to books and magazines, the library also provides films, tapes, and records, as well as the necessary equipment to use them. We believe that The Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library can have a very positive effect on these services. You can support us reading or radar since we had in this effort by becoming a member at the main library in just come to a complete stop Oakland or at any of the branch libraries.

In an effort to raise funds, Friends of Ruth Enlow Library has been selling t-shirts, sweat shirts, book bags, and pens. All of the items have pictured on them the outline of a reader and the words "Friend of Ruth Enlow." We would like to stress that the constitution of Friends of Ruth Enlow Library states that the purpose of the organization, "shall be to promote the interest and welfare rate considering neither he, nor of The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County." All funds raised I have ever had a speeding will be used for the benefit of the library. A special display and sale of these items will be featured at the main library on Second senior citizens who drive very Street during the Autumn Glory Festival. If you are in Oakland at this time we urge you to stop by the library.

This is the first in what we hope will be an ongoing column about The Ruth Enlow Library and our organization. Future articles will include the description of library programs and exhibits, the history of our library and book reviews. On behalf of the directors and officers, I would like to invite you to keep considered our out-of-state reading this column and to become a Friend of The Ruth Enlow

I'm A Non-Smoker by Pam Ashby

I haven't smoked a cigarette for some 60 hours now. There! I've said it publicly. Now everyone who knows me will be watching me closely to see if I fall off the tobacco wagon.

One thing I have discovered as a non-smoker is that I didn't necessarily smoke for the taste of the cigarette. Rather, I have to be putting something in my mouth all the time. (Yeah, I know. Usually it's my foot.)

Since becoming a non-smoker, I have nibbled 873 breath mints, chewed 74 sticks of gum, munched 147 potato chips and peanuts and now hold the record for most water drunk by one human being in a three-day period.

I have also chewed the ends off seven pencils, four pens, all my fingernails and several soda straws.

I have managed to verbally abuse five co-workers, six family members and an array of businessmen and public officials because of my irritability. This is a legal side-effect of nicotine withdrawal, so don't try to sue me for defamation of character or disturbing the peace. You won't have a leg on which to stand. I'll probably rip it off.

My co-workers have informed me that I'm getting better every day as far as being mean and mouthy is concerned. I guess the real test will come today in the rush of getting the paper out.

To say that not smoking has been easy is a lie. I have to admit that I've spent some time looking in old coat pockets for stale cigarettes at 3 a.m. I've checked every room in the house to see if I forgot to empty any of the old ashtrays from the first day I quit. Fortunately I couldn't find any cigarettes or I know I would have smoked them. And in the back of my mind I feel I'm somehow deceiving myself by thinking I'm going to have a cigarette again someday. Will I? I pray that I won't, but it ain't easy.

Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped

Governor Harry Hughes proclaimed October as "Employ the Handicapped Month" at a recently held ceremony at the State House. This ceremony, and the Proclamation of October as 'Employ the Handicapped Month," are the opening events of a full year of activities and programs by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped to educate employers and promote full access to employment opportunities for persons with disabilities. The month of October brings full attention of all citizens of the state to the issue of under utilization of qualified persons with disabilities in the labor force of our state and country. In the Proclamation, the Governor states "the unemployment rate for Maryland citizens with disabilities is over 17 percent. Much work needs to be done to break down the vocational, economic, environmental and attitudinal barriers which exist and which keep persons with disabilities from having an equal opportunity to prepare for, seek out and obtain employ-

Persons with disabilities want to be part of the labor force. They want to obtain education and training to prepare themselves for the many jobs and career opportunities which exist in and are being created in our society. This was one of the major findings of the recently conducted Harris Poll entitled: "Disabled Americans Self Perceptions: Bringing Disabled People into the Mainstream." Persons with disabilities want to be just people at

For the majority of Maryland citizens, being people at work is something they don't think about or see as any major accomplishment. In fact, often it is someting they take for granted. From the time we are young children, we are used to people asking us What do you want to be when you grow up?" Remember being asked that question and responding policeman, fireman, like daddy or like mom? Sometimes the answer was the same each time it was asked, or it changed depending on our mood or on who our latest hero was. As we progressed on the growth pattern, many of us obtained after school, part time or summer jobs. We were just people at work. From high school to employment, college or vocational training, the path we took to get into our career field was only altered by limits of desire, intellect and motivation. We knew when we reached adulthood we would, if we wanted to be people at work.

The scenario for persons with disabilities, for the most part, is very different. Most young people with disabilities are never asked what do you want to be when you grow up. A large part of the employing community and community at large do not envision persons with disabilities as being able to work. So, why ask a child with a disability, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" If they did, the answer would be "fireman, policeman, like my dad, like my mom." In other words, "Just people at work."

It will take the attention and action of all employers and citizens of Maryland if we are to turn around the 17% unemployment rate and help persons with disabilities become just people at work. We must start to look at the person, not the disability. For employers cannot interview, hire, or supervise a disability. Employers can interview, hire and supervise a qualified job applicant who happens to have a disability. Get involved! Together we will break down the barriers.

It's the time when many people go back to school, change jobs, move to another city or prepare for the cold months ahead. All over the country, family physicians are encouraging people to take a close look at their family's health.

Besides treating Illnesses and injuries, your family physician stands ready to:

1) Advise you on proper exercise and living habits; 2) Recommend an appropriate schedule for health screening examns and immunizations;

3) Help you tailor a balanced diet;

4) Help smokers to kick the habit; 5) Help you recognize and deal with stress;

6) Counsel you on reducing home hazards and other health

7) Provide facts about alcohol and substance abuse; and 8) Help you obtain competent, ongoing health care at the most reasonable cost, in a partnership for health.

Another Habitat House Completed

By Joan B. Crawford

At 7:30 a.m. on September 20, piles of lumber, siding and other building materials stood on a lot in Jennings, just off Route 495. By 5:30 p.m. that evening, a five-room house, complete with roof and siding, stood on the lot, erected by a group of eight volunteers from the Cornerstone Mennonite Church in Hartville, Ohio, as part of the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity building program for the summer of 1986. This house, to be occupied by Carolyn Wiley and her son

Kevin, is the 11th house built by the local Habitat organization during the past two summers. According to Jake Powell, Habitat supervisor for the Wiley house, this was the third year that this group of men had come from Ohio to Garrett County to build a

"These are dedicated people," Powell said. "It's unbelievable that a group like this would give up a whole weekend to help other people. They has good weather today, but last year they worked in a downpour.

For Owen Coblentz, the foreman of the Mennonite group, helping other people is one way to do God's work on earth. "We enjoy doing this type of thing," he said. "Most of us are carpenters, but we don't work together back home. We brought several young fellows with us this time, and there were other men who really wanted to come. Everyone really appreciates what we do, and that makes us want to come back.'

Coblentz said that they have found people the same wherever they go. He and his wife spent last year building Habitat houses overseas. He and the other Hartville men have helped with the Mennonite Disaster Service, re-building and cleaning up after floods, tornadoes, and other natural disasters.

The Ohio group has been hosted by Henry and Irene Diller while they have been in Garrett County. On Saturday evening the men were served a covered dish dinner prepared by Habitat Board members at the Jennings Community Center.

WMGC Meets October 1-3 In Garrett County

The sixth annual Western Maryland Guidance Conference was held October 1-3, at the Will O' the Wisp on Deep Creek Lake. The conference was composed of school counselors from Maryland's five westernmost counties - Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick and Carroll.

The counselors met for the purpose of increasing occupational competency for counselors and services to the public school students in Westem Maryland.

The theme of the conference was "WMGC - In Touch With Counseling." Special programming emphasized elementary guidance, elementary counseling, group counseling, hypnotherapy, careers, verbal/nonverbal communications, family factors, middle school transition and teacher advising. Guest speakers for the conference included: Dr. Stephen Herman, president of Garrett Community College; Dr. Michael Yura, child psycholo-Dr. Ed Jacobs, associate professor, department of counsel-University; Dr. David Searles educational component of the

He explained that the program he came up with was closely checked for errors, and awarded first place out of the 13 competitors in the regional contest.

The third phase of the contest was a 10 to 15-minute prepared talk, which did not use a computer. Paul's talk was on Selecting Software, and his overall score put him in third place, just two points away from the second-place winner, in the regional contest. For this achievement, Paul was awarded a certificate and a $100 savings bond.

This regional contest was held September 22-24 during the Eastern National 4-H Engineering Event at the State Fair of Virginia, where 4-H members from 20 states competed in seven divisions: Electric/Energy, Bicycle, Tractor, Auromotive, Small Engine, Compact Tractor, and Computer. This was the first year for the Computer Contest and it was considered a pilot event.

Tax Collection Effort Announced By Comptroller

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said a firstof-its-kind computer assisted tax collection system will be a cornerstone of "Project Fair Share." a new program emphasizing collection of delinquent sales and withholding taxes and individual income taxes. The message of Project Fair Share, according to the comptroller is, "Call on us before we call on you." The project is not an amnesty program, however.

'Under Project Fair Share, we will be using a computerassisted collection system that is the first in the nation to pursue more than one kind of tax at a time," Goldstein said. This is a reflection of Maryland's leadership in the technology of tax administration. We have collected 99.7% of the income and sales tax obligation reported by taxpavers in recent years. However, this system will help us to pursue the taxes that are outstanding. We find that business and individual taxes tend to become delinquent during periods of inflation and recession. Then it is difficult for the taxpayer to clear up the delinquency

We are especially concerned with reaching businesses that are delinquent in sending in 'trust-fund taxes' - the income taxes withheld from employees paychecks or sales taxes collected from customers," Goldstein said.

Taxpayers with delinquent sales tax or employer withholding tax accounts should call 225-1655 to clear up accounts. Delinquent individual income taxpayers should contact the telephone number on any delinquency notice they have received, or 269-3626.

In addition to the $775,000 computerized collection system, Project Fair Share also includes a number of existing tax compliance programs such as the central registration numbering system for Maryland business tax accounts number allows us to pursue different taxes with one phone call." Goldstein said. addition this number will be used on Maryland corporation voluntarily fulfill their obliincome tax returns, beginning with the 1986 tax year.'

Other compliance programs

included in Project Fair Share are the comparison of taxpayers filing Federal vs. Maryland tax returns to find non-filers; a requirement for large employers to provide W-2 information on computer tape make it easier to spot discrepancies; further automation of systems to check information on interest and dividends; a specialized skip/trace" unit to find hardto-locate delinquent individual and business taxpayers; and full time offices in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles to audit multistate and multinational corporations located in

'These programs will soon be supplemented by additional enhancements "said Goldstein. 'In the near future, we will implement an automated program to offset tax liabilities owed to the state against state payments to vendors. This is an excellent reason for firms that do business with the state to clear up any tax delinquency

"The central registration numbering system will also be a key to this important effort, which will enable the state to recover delinquent taxes from companies submitting bills for goods and services.

The comptroller noted that Project Fair Share will also include simplified individual income tax forms, instructions and tax tables for the 1987 tax

This common identification changes in the individual tax packet will encourage compliance through simplifi-"In cation because the vast majority of taxpayers will gation if they understand what the obligation is," he said. Goldstein also noted that his office will team up with the Internal Revenue Service this year to find taxpayers whose 1985 income tax refund checks were returned as undeliverable. 'We want to return to taxpayers the money that is rightfully theirs, just as we want to collect trust funds being held by businesses," he said.

40 Republicans Meet. Discuss

Party Activities Approximately 40 Republicans gathered last Thursday at Penn Alps for a dinner meeting. A discussion ensued on current party activities. William Crawford Jr., chaired the meeting which included speeches from various Republican candidates. He then informed the group that Linda Chavez would be at the Oakland Courthouse Thursday morning to meet the public. Chavez is a candidate for the United States Senate. New Service Announced By Potomac Edison

The Potomac Edison Company has initiated a new service to give customers more time to inquire about their electric bills

Customers may now call the utility until 11 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays to talk to company service representatives about: billing, applications for service, after hours reconnections, and name and address changes

The Extended Customer Service program is designed to "give our working customers the opportunity to call and talk to someone about their bill after work hours, when it is more convenient to them," says Fred Stenger, program coordinator. To reach a customer service representative after normal business hours (8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) customers in Maryland and Virginia should dial their local PE office number. The call will be automatically transferred to a representative who will be able to answer the customer's billing inquiry. Potomac Edison customers in West Virginia should dial the following toll-free number for extended service, 1-800-654-3317.

What A Fellowship

A number of ministers had gathered to discuss difficult questions, and it was asked how the command to "pray without ceasing" could be obeyed.

Various suggestions were offered, and at last one of the number was appointed to write an essay on the subject, to be read at the next meeting. A servant who was cleaning heard the discussion and exclaimed: "What! A whole month to tell the meaning of the text?

Why, it's one of the easiest and best verses in the Bible."
"Well, well, Mary," said an old minister, "what do you know about it? Can you pray all the time?"

"Oh, yes sir!" What! When you have so many things to do?" Why, sir, the more I have to do, the more I can pray." Indeed! Well, Mary, how do you do it? Most people wouldn't agree with you. "Well sir," said the girl, "when I first open my eyes in the morning, I pray: 'Lord, open the eyes of my under-standing'; and while I am dressing I pray that I may be clothed with the robe of righteousness; while I am washing, l ask to have my sins washed away. As I begin work, I pray that I may have strength for all the work of the day; while I kindle the fire, I pray that revival may be kindled in me; while preparing and eating breakfast, I ask to be fed with the Bread of Life and the pure milk of the Word. As I sweep the house, I pray that my heart may be swept clean of all its impurities: and as I am busy with the little children, I look up to God as my Father and pray that I may always have the trusting love of a little child—and so all day. Everything do gives me a thought for prayer . enough!" cried the minister, "these things often hid from the wise and prudent and revealed unto babes, as the Lord Himself said, "Go on, Mary," continued, "pray without ceasing. As for us, let us thank the

Huskies Continue To Skid. Blanked By Indians, 22-0

Although the Northern Huskies played three of their best quarters of defense this season last Friday evening, Coach Tom Vent's team is still looking for its first win, as the Huskies were whitewashed by Berkeley Springs, 20-0, on the Indians' field.

Berkeley Springs Nort 6 First Down Rush Northern First Down Pass First Down Penalty Total First Downs Passes Attempted Passes Completed Passes Intercepted By Yards Passing Net Yards Rushing Punts-Average 7-42.1 Penalties-Yards 5-45

The loss not only dropped the Huskies to 0-5 on the season, but was costly in terms of injuries, something which Coach Vent's young squad can ill afford.

Fumbles-Lost

Total Offense

Both teams played almost evenly in the first half, as neither was able to reach the end zone in the opening quarter. The Indians assumed a 6-0 lead late in the second stanza, however, when Doug Higgs connected with tight end Pat Shunning on a 64-yard aerial for a touchdown.

Berkeley Springs maintained the momentum through the third quarter, as tailback Tony McClintock scored his team's second TD of the evening, this time on a two-yard run. Higgs passed to split end Rick Ruhlman for the two-point conversion.

On the Indians' next series, fullback Wayne Herrard capped a drive with a threeyard touchdown run to complete the scoring, as both teams were once again locked in a defensive struggle throughout the final period.

Berkeley Springs rolled up 237 yards of total offense, 181 on the ground and 56 through the air, as Higgs connected on four of 13 passes. The Huskies finished with 119 vards of offense, 97 of which was rushing vardage.

The Northern defensive unit gave its offense several opportunities to put some points on the board, as the Huskies picked off two interceptions and recovered a pair of Indian fumbles; however the offense continued to sputter.

"It's the same old story," stated Coach Vent. "We played very well in the first half, but after their big-play touchdown right before halftime, our intensity really decreased. We quarter and took advantage of that.

Added to the long Northern injury list this week are Mike Glass, who has a severely bruised arm, running back Steve Brenneman, who sustained a concussion, and John Garner, who injured his elbow. Also out this week with the flu is Steve Morton.

We are practicing this week with only 16 players on our varsity." Vent stated. "If we have any more injuries, I'm tackles. really not sure what we're going

There was some good news involving injuries, though, as Matt Eggleston, who spearheaded the Huskies' defense, may return to the line-up this week. Eggleston went down with a separated shoulder a few weeks ago and was thought to be lost for the season. Also expected back this week is sophomore quarterback Todd Wagner, who missed last week's game because of the flu. His return will allow Vent to move Wayne Tabor back out of a separated shoulder a few turn next week. Vent said.

The Huskies will attempt to Berkeley Springs record their first win of the season this Friday evening when they host East Preston. Although in many years past the Eagles have been one of the weaker teams in the area, such is not the case this year, as the Terra Alta squad will bring with Fall To Spartans them this week a 5-1 record. Their latest win was a 26-0 thrashing of Clay-Battelle last

"East Preston is very big and came out flat in the third strong this year," Vent said. "They have some outstanding

WHY SOME HOUSES DON'T SELL

The housing market is such that any house will sell at the right price. There is a market for broken down houses in poor locations (usually sold at some discount, but they sell). There is a market for multi-million dollar mansions, and they do sell. Then, on occasion, you'll note one house in particular is on the house will sell. market seemingly formmmmmmm ever. Why doesn't this house sell? Usually, the basic reason is that the house is priced higher than the fair market value will bear, but sometimes there are immummummini

It may be that the seller has a high asking price and refuses to accept any legitimate offers for even one dollar less. This can cause a psychological blow to the buyer's ego. Maybe the husband wants to sell and the wife doesn't. Maybe the timing of the offer does not coincide with the seller's relocation plans. Perhaps the seller's attorney or accountant is overly cautious. However, if the price is fair, the

Mary Beadle and Nancy counselors at the Oakland of 13 volunteers now helping to answer calls and guide clients dealing with and adapting to each client's current situation.

Although they have appreciated the tremendous support members, Ms. Beadle and Ms. Folmsbee are concerned about the lack of available funding. Currently, the extent of their funding is through the Allegany County center. Garrett County does not financially support the group at all.

Because of the lack of funding, a well-founded fear may become reality: the center may have to close its doors in December of this year.

Consequently, a double awareness must be attended to: an awareness of the problem of domestic violence as well as an awareness of the need for a successful emergency shelter and counseling service for the victims of domestic violence. A few statistics help to showcase this need: -The FBI estimates that one wife-beating incident occurs every 18 seconds. -25% of all murders occur as a result of domestic disputes. -It is estimated that at least 1.8 million women will be abused by their mates every year, and that regular physical abuse takes place in 35-50% of

-One in three girls and one in five boys will be a victim of a sexual crime before the age of all marital relationships.

-The average number of years a child remains the victim of incest is seven.

Carolyn Grahame believes that, besides a lack of funds, the biggest obstacle in the efficacy of the program is the attitudes she has encountered from the

MAPS FOR YOU - Maps For You has opened on Alder Street Oakland to provide customers with a variety of foreign and domestic maps, Garrett County maps, and topographical maps. criminal justice system. She cautions that domestic violence is "not a woman's problem. It is a people problem."

To emphasise this point, one must consider that when one form of abuse exists, other forms often accompany. This may take the form of child abuse. Children are also victims, whether or not they are beaten. It is well-documented that children exposed to abuse will more likely become abusers. Considering the overload of criminal cases on court dockets and the overcrowding

violence more from a preventive approach. Keeping this in mind, one might view the Women's Refuge Center as having two main emphases. The first is to remove the victim from his or her threatening environment. The second is to teach the victim how to exercise control over his or her environment. As with any self-help program, the impetus for success must come from the participant. Women's Refuge provides the information, the tools of learning. While temporary shelter, protection, and counseling are available, the ultimate goal is to belo the individual through the trauma and toward a better understanding of her situation and the personalities involved, as well as a realization of available options.

The staff of the Women's Refuge Center in Oakland recognizes the importance of educating the public as well as their clients. Through their public speaking engagements (to schools, home-maker, and civic groups), they have reached 6,700 people in the past six months. They also advocate the utilization of support groups forming or already underway in Allegany County. These include a support group for battered women, a support group for batterers, an adult survivors of incest group, and others. Specific information about these groups is available by calling 334-9701.

Continued from Page 1 cided the peat bog should be preserved and went ahead with plans to buy the property," Hamblin said. "Last spring, they came to an impasse. The state could only come up with a certain amount for the purchase, and the peat company wanted more," he said.

According to Hamblin, some one, possibly State Treasurer James, came up with a "noval idea." "They wondered if an outside, non-profit, group could make up the difference," said Hamblin. He explained that the state then approached the Nature Conservancy and asked the peat bog.

'We feel if we don't do this," Hamblin said, "the project will die. We are going into debt to buy the property, but the project is important to us.'

The project is important because the rain-fed bog harbors an unusual group of rare plant and animal life, according to by the General Assembly last the conservation group. A state consultant's report showed that the continued loss of wetlands, such as the peat bog, would result in the demise of some rare species in Maryland. The Nature Conservancy, Hamblin said, plans to do a detailed ecological inventory and form a voluntary stewardship committee consisting of interested local persons and scientists to care for the preserve and make plans for it. He went on to say that some research may be done on the property and public access will likely be allowed in guided tours, if it can be done without harming the area.

Over the phone, Hamblin also disclosed that when the Nature Conservancy was deciding whether or not to "jump in and save the project," one of the conditions the Conservancy insisted on was that the acreage be included in the state's Land Consolidation Plan.

William Krebbs, state director of Program Open Space, who has worked with GCP&P and the State Department of Natural Resources during the gotlations, said that DNR is looking for ways to belp private environmental groups buy easements. He explained that when buying both conservation and scenic easements, the state is buying development and mineral rights.

He went on to explain that to figure the cost of easements, current property value is used, if they were still interested in or at least 75-80 percent of that value

Krebbs said that it was not Program Open Space funds that were being used to purchase the peat bog property, but Heritage Foundation funds.

When asked if an amendment to the Heritage-fund bill passed year prevented those funds from being used to buy any Garrett County land, Krebbs said,

When asked if buying easements was a way around that law, he said, "Yes."

Senator John Bambacus, who introduced the amendment which prevented any additional purchase of Garrett County land by the state, said, "The intent and spirit of the law was to prohibit state funds of any kind from being used for purchase of land in Garrett County without the sale of an equal amount of state land to the private sector, and I'll do everything I can to have the matter corrected there is some good news to report, and that is that hopefully the peat company's owners will be receiving a price that is fair to them.

news is that, "This is just one example of intrusion and preemption by environmental groups and the state into a respectable and responsible business of Garrett County. I am distressed that after 20 years of opperating a good, solid business in Garrett County, these folks are driven out of business."

Bambacus went on to say that he doesn't blame the company one bit. "Environmental groups like the Sierra Club and Nature Conservancy have 'deep pockets' and could have had these folks tied up in courts for

Del. Edwards says he's sure the state has been getting a lot of pressure from environmental groups, and Western Maryland seems to be their target, with the Yough, mining issues, the National Freeway, and now the peat bog. He went on to say that in this case, the locals had no complications with the state until a little known peat company out bid a large environmental group, and then the harassment began.

According to William Krebbs, the Board of Public Works, yesterday, asked why the state didn't just buy the property instead of dealing with a nonprofit, tax free group like the Nature Conservancy. They do intend to make the area a part of the State Land Consolidation Plan, and may consider buying the acreage from the Nature Conservancy at a later date

Area Inventor To Teach Course At Frostburg State

A Garrett County inventor, whose patented inventions span a range from computers to lifesaving children's play equipment, will be instructing a new and unusual course at Frostburg State College called Creativity and Successful Inventing.

The new course, not only for would-be inventors, but also for those seeking to enhance their reativity, is a five-session offering which will run Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 210 of the FSC library, beginning October 14.

The instructor is Dr. Ken Thompson, also a lawyer, who has taught political science at the University of Southern California and has won "outstanding teacher" awards for his dynamic classroom techniques. His inventions have run the gamut from a painless twist-off beverage cap to a playpen safety device that is reportedly saving the lives of hundreds of children. The playpen invention has been licensed to such firms as Kenner Toys, Mattel, and Evenflo.

Also being offered by the college's Continuing Education Office is a second session of the popular "Painless Word Processing," October 23 to

The Middle Atlantic Division of Dairymen, Inc., held its 1986 district banquet and meeting on Monday, September 29, at the Bittinger Fire Hall with 85 members and guests present.

Directors Harry Hummel, of Grantsville, and Elam Bender, of Meversdale, Pa., welcomed those attending and introduced the special guests. Guests attending were: Middle pounds in August, down two Atlantic Group President Fred Butler, Inwood, W.Va., Manager John Collins, Wood- veyed states averaged 1,138 bine; Field Department pounds during August, up five Manager Ernest Yates, Fred- pounds from a year ago. erick; Baltimore Lab Director Connie Caffes; and Gar- million head, down three perrett/Allegany Dairy Princess cent from August last year and Sherri Wilt.

During the meeting, Bailey Herring, of Farmington, Pa., states not surveyed for August was elected to serve as director, milk production followed the and will replace outgoing director Elam Bender.

A topic of discussion during the meeting was milk prices in the future. Another topic of interest was a UHT (Ulta High Temperature) product, a longshelflife milk product that Dairymen has been working on for approximately three years. A report was given on the new

The nation's laying flocks produced 17.0 billion eggs machinery which was installed during the June through August to change the packaging, and a 1986 quarter, up one percent market report was given for the from the corresponding quarter a year ago. Egg production in the 20 major egg states for August totaled 4.75 billion, up slightly from the 4.74 billion of August 1985. All layers on September 1 totaled 273 million, The number of milk cows on

The eggs in incubators on September 1 numbered 29.4 million, down two percent from a year earlier. The numbers in this paragraph would be interpreted to say that the recent expansion in the nation's eggtype flocks has slowed, but there are already more layers and starter pullets than there were a year ago.

The broiler industry continues to expand in the United States. Broiler chicks hatched from January through August is up three percent over the same period one year ago. Broilertype pullet chick placements for hatching supply flocks for the period January through August totaled 29.5 million, up eight percent from the year earlier

Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess "Promoting milk for those who deliver 365 days a year."

Most of us think of our bones as being lifeless; they're anything but. Bone tissue is alive. In fact, every day your bone tissue changes. New bone is added and old bone is broken down and removed from the body.

Your body uses calcium, phosphorus, protein, and vitamins A, D, and C to form bone tissue. But the calcium is the most important mineral in bone. Calcium combines with other minerals within a protein framework to give structure and strength to bones. If you took all the calcium out of a bone, you could bend and tie the bone into a knot.

Your bones and teeth contain 99 percent of the calcium in your body. The other one percent is used for your heart beat, for your muscles to contract and relax, for your blood to clot, and for your nerves to transmit messages.

Since your body cannot make its own calcium, it depends on you to supply it. If you don't eat calcium-rich foods every day, your body takes the calcium it needs out of your bones and puts it into the blood so that your body can continue to function. Milk and all dairy foods are a delicious source of calcium, and should be eaten daily. For if, day after day, year after year, calcium is taken from your bones and not replaced with calcium from the foods you eat, your bones will become brittle and weak. And brittle and weak bones break easily. They are not able to support

This weakening of the bones is both tragic and unnecessary, especially since it is so easy to get enough calcium in the diet. Unfortunately, recent government studies show that many Americans don't get enough calcium.

No matter what your age, or stage of life, get the calcium you need for strong bones and teeth. Eat the recommended servings from the milk group every day. Start making dairy foods a regular part of your life

Forage Analysis The time to have the nutrient values of your forages analyzed is as they are harvested. Gathering samples at harvesting time is easier and gives you more opportunity to collect a better representative of the forage. Forage collected can easily be stored in a plastic bag placed in the refrigerator until sent in for analysis. Fermenting of silages does not change the nutrient value unless there is heat and spoilage. Grazing and Cutting Alfalfa

Alfalfa plants should now be dormant after the last two hard frosts. You can now harvest the alfalfa for hay or pasture the animals. If you use the alfalfa for pasture, be careful that the animals do not consume too much of the alfalfa which could cause bloat, and secondly, do not let the animal eat the plant too short. This frosted alfalfa is still very nutritious.

A Changing Market for Red Meat

Once upon a time, the red meat industry produced an outstanding product and everybody knew it. Consumers enthusiastically purchased what was available. However, the winds of change have altered the situation. The product is still outstanding. In fact, it's better than ever by being leaner, boxed, tray ready, boneless and trimmed. But consumers have changed. Their life-styles have quickened, their choices have increased, their needs have grown, and confusion has mounted.

Consumers' shopping decisions have become too complicated. They do not go to the store anymore and buy whatever is displayed. The meat industry can't expect its customers to simply buy what the industry sells. Don't expect customers to buy what you produce. You have to produce what

Made With Wool Contest Open To All Who Sew

All wool lovers are invited to participate in the Maryland "Make-It-With-Wool" contest on Saturday, January 10, 1987. Garments that have been entered as part of other competition such as Grange Sewing Contests or 4-H Fashion Revues may be entered as long as they meet the main contest criteria, to be made with wool.

There will be four age categories, starting at age ten through adult. Age category will be determined by the contestant's age on December 31.

Entries must be made from loomed, knitted, or felted fabric or yarn of 100-percent wool or of

Storm Windows & Doors

Some windows and doors leak so much air that they might as well be left open. Storm doors and windows or insulating glass can actually reduce the heating or cooling loss through windows by nearly 50 percent. For even greater savings, you might consider triple-glazed windows and insulated doors. Installation of storm doors and windows also provides greater comfort by eliminating cold drafts, especially across floors.

Weather Stripping & Caulking

Storm doors and windows can still lose heated or cooled air if they aren't properly sealed. Check to make sure that yours are weatherstripped around movable joints and well caulked around all frames. It does make a difference in both energy savings and cost.

Noted Author Will Speak At Frostburg State

A prolific free-lance writer and journalist, with four books to her credit and numerous 'The Washington Post' will be a featured speaker at Frostburg State College, October 14, at 7 p.m. in the Lane Center.

Rebecca C. Jones, 39, a resident of Annapolis, has been invited to the college as part of the semi-annual Maryland Author Series, sponsored by FSC's library, Department of Education and the Maryland Department of Education.

A Journalism graduate of Northwestern University, Ms. Jones is a frequent speaker at Washington area schools, mostly for animated storytelling sessions based on four of her children's books: "Angie and Me," "I am Not Afraid," Madeline and the Great (old) Escape Artist" and "The Biggest, Meanist, Ugliest Dog in the Whole Wide World."

For her Frostburg appearance, Ms. Jones said she will base her talk on her work with "The Biggest ... Dog."

taking her audience not only through the book's story, which like most of her works, is a fictionalized true story, but will also discuss her composing process and dealing with the publishing world.

Multi-List To Be Published By Local Realtors

Jan Bernard, president of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, has announced that the local Board is now in the process of implementing a multi-list service for their members.

Ms. Bernard said all member companies will supply data on each of their exclusive listings and the Board office will then compile the information and send it on to the computer company, which will then print a bound book of Garrett County listings every four weeks. Only agents and companies who belong to the Garrett County Board of Realtors may participate in the service; and each agent will receive his/her own book at each printing.

"One of the benefits of the service will be greater organization for the agent's use in showing properties and comparing listed properties; plus the computer service will be able to provide statistics relating to the number of days an average listing remains on the market and comparable sales data," Ms. Bernard said.

REALTORS OPEN OFFICE - Jan Bernard, left, president of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, announced this week the opening of a separate board office, independent of affiliation with any individual company. The executive secretary who will maintain the board records and process all multi-list information is Verla Rosenberry, right. Mrs. Rosenberry resides in Oakland with her husband, Charles, and three daughters, Kristen, Kim and Karen. The new office is located in the State Farm Building, 121 N. Third Street, Oakland, on the second floor. The office will be staffed approximately 20-30 hours per week. The telephone for the new office is 334-8405.

The first edition is in the process of being printed and is scheduled to be distributed October 9. Member companies include A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens, Bernard Realty, Century 21/Country Time Realty, Deep Creek Realty, Doyle Realty, ERA/Goodfellow Agency. Garrettland Realty, Haywood Ageny, Holzshu-Nolte-Welch, and Railey Realty

Maryland Now Observing Fire Prevention Week

Fire Prevention Week will be observed throughout Maryland from Sunday, October 5, through Saturday, October 12. according to Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele.

Fire Prevention Week is held each October to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire of October 9, 1871. "Learn Not to Burn - It Really Works", is the theme for the 1986 Nationwide Fire Prevention Week efforts.

In Maryland, the State Fire Marshal's Office, the Maryland State Firemen's Association, and more than 250 volunteer and career fire departments will recognize this historic week with a variety of fire safety educational programs for the general public. FEAR CAN MAKE ANY SICKNESS WORSE

Often, people will not go to their doctor when they are ill because they fear he will find something seriously wrong with them. But the truth of the matter is that your body now has And fewer secrets unknown to physicians. chances are he can quickly diagnose your problem and prescribe a medicine to give you relief.

Do not fear any possible sickness. Even some of those incurable ones can be lived with more comfortably if you consult a physician at the onset. Waiting too long can have serious consequences.

WITNESSES AGAINST

The trouble with most of us, I believe, is not that we are insincere in the vows we take and the commitments we make, but that we tend to either forget what we have (24:14,15). This is not the first promised, or gradually weaken in our resolve. There are, of course, times when we may knowingly and willingly violate our commitments, but I like to think that these are the exception, not

the rule. CHOOSE THIS DAY

It also follows, I believe, that we are more likely to fulfill our commitments when we are confronted with the reality of choosing either to do or not do so. Thus, if, from time to time, we are confronted with the promises we have made and are challenged to renew or reject them, we are much more with such an opportunity to conlikely to be faithful to them. For sider and renew our vows and most of us, then, making a commitment is not enough; we need to be confronted occasionally so that we may be given the opportunity to consciously affirm or the people of Israel at Schechem His purpose in summoning the elders of Israel was to remind them of Israel's solemn covenant with the Lord, calling to remembrance, both what God had done for them and also what they had promised to the Lord. This was nothing new to them-the mighty acts of God had been told and retold throughout their history and their promises were well-known to them. So, the meeting is not to tell them what they do not know. but to remind them of what they already know.

WE ARE WITNESSES

Thus, Joshua challenges them with these dramatic words: "Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him in sincerity and in faithful ness... And if you are unwilling to serve the Lord, choose this day whom you will serve, time that Israel has been challenged to make this commitment Actually, the meeting at Schechem is an opportunity to renew it. There is no equivocation on the part of the people. When Joshua warns them against a divided loyalty, they respond: "Nay; but we will serve the Lord." And Joshua responds, "You are witnesses against yourselves that you have chosen the Lord to serve him." Undaunted, the people reply, "We are witnesses. Are there not many times when you and I need to be confronted covenants?

AAUW Invites Public To Meeting

On Amendments

The American Association of University Women is holding a public meeting Tuesday, October 14, where Senator John N. Bambacus and Delegate George C. Edwards will be the guest speakers.

The meeting will be held at the Garrett Community College auditorium in McHenry. The elected officials will be discussing the constitutional amendments on which the public will be voting on November 6 during the general election. The legislators will also outline their goals and priorities for the upcoming session of the Maryland Legislature.

Both candidates will be run-During the six weeks of ning unopposed on the November ballot.

Frederick To Be Compensated For Civil War Debt

The Senate has passed a proposal by Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) to repay a Civil War debt incurred by the City of Frederick in service to the United States.

The legislation is an amendment to the Fiscal Year 1987 appropriations bill being considered by the Congress. The amendment calls for Frederick to be paid $200,000 out of military claims funds to satisfy the City's claim for a ransom it paid in 1864 to protect federal supplies.

"At long last justice has been served and the Senate has recognized the sacrifice made by the citizens of Frederick in 1864." Mathias said. "Frederick sacrificed money that it did not have in order to defend federal supplies."

Mathias had introduced legislation in each of the thirteen Congresses in which he served. The first such bill had been introduced in 1898 and was twice passed by a House of Representatives committee

Today's action was the first time the Senate has approved a Frederick ransom measure.

"I am pleased to see that my patience and persistence have been rewarded," the Maryland Senator observed. "The thirteenth time has indeed been lucky."

The measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee for final consideration.

MENTION THE UNMENTIONABLE

There has been a recent trend, particularly among psychologists, in discussing and writing about death. Rather than being seen as a morbid development, the admission of death is actually considered rather healthy, AND practical.

On the personal level, one Carol Watson, 26, Hambleton, can remove death from the list of unmentionable topics by talking openly and frankly about funeral plans and making a Will. Including your family and loved ones in such a discussion will ultipain and anguish than any discomfort saved by leaving them in the dark.

Naturally, if you are married you should consult with your spouse. You might be startled to find out that he or she often thought about the subject but was afraid to mention it to you for fear of being thought insensitive.

Dear Friends:

We are very pleased to present to you another issue of our "A&A Review." We love hearing your comments and we are proud to introduce real estate advertising in this format.

1986 has certainly been an exciting year for us all at A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens. Our new affiliation with Better Homes & Gardens has enhanced our local marketing efforts in many ways, one of those being their national referral and relocation systems. The entire program of Better Homes & Gardens' marketing systems has been used to assist both our buyers and sellers this year and will be further implemented in the coming months.

Deep Creek Lake is certainly being discovered and we are no longer "Maryland's Best-Kept Secret"—the secret is out. We welcome our new visitors and at the same time, we like Garrett County and Deep Creek lake as it is—a rural, slower-paced, truly restful vacationland.

At A&A, we will be staying involved with the development process and in the formation of new and changing regulations in an effort to see a good balance between development and the "Lake" as it was. We welcome your comments.

It is the mission and purpose of A&A Realty/Better Homes & Gardens to provide quality, comprehensive real estate services to Deep Creek take and Garrett County through highly trained, skilled professionals. Our committment is to maintain our reputation and high ethical standards at all times.

I am proud to introduce our full-time staff on this page (a few are still in the training process) and to also make you aware of the many services we offer.

Thank you for your support in the past; we look forward to working with you in the coming year.

Sincerely yours,

Who needs mortgage approval anxiety?

So very much hinges on the approval of a mortgage loan application. One family is wondering whether its new dream home will be possible. Another family might be awaiting the answer so it can buy the vacated home. And the realtor is anxious to "tie down the deal."

There's lots of anxiety. Certainly a lengthy wait for approval of the mortgage application should not be a factor.

The folks at Garrett National Bank are keenly aware of the need for fast turnaround. When you deal with Garrett National, you will find our service to be better and quicker because we're true experts at processing mortgage loans.

But fast processing is only half our story. Garrett National also has a commitment to a great combination of low rates and flexible terms. Both fixed and variable rates are available. Payback? Ten years, 15 years, 20 years. Other terms can be arranged. And we're committed to a low point schedule.

When important home-buying decisions are being made, it's in everyone's best interest to seek out the best deal. We feel both the best deal and best service will be found at Garrett National Bank. Visit any of our 10 convenient offices today and find out for yourself.

Deep Creek Lake...A Hot Market?-

Trying to get statistics on actual real estate transactions has heretofor been extremely difficult to obtain. With the advent of the new Multi-list service, statistics relating to the average sale price, average number of days on market, percentage of increase, etc. will be much easier to ascertain.

Right now it is interesting to note some of the information I have been able to gather from records kept at the Promotion Council office, Assessment office, and Clerk's office (land records).

For instance, the number of visitors at the Information Booth at Deep Creek Lake increased by over 72 percent during the summer of 1986. Compare that with the average increase in tourism statewide of $17 \cdot 20$ percent. Also, the Information Center on Rt. 48 at Friendsville is showing an increase of over 50 percent.

On a fiscal year basis ending June 30, 1986, county transfer records show an annual increase in dollar volume of real estate transferred at over a 52 percent increase. There was just a 13 percent increase in the number of transactions, but with the additional dollar volume mentioned above, it represents a 35 percent increase in the average sale price.

Developments at Deep Creek Lake—During the approximate 15-year period from 1970-1985, there were only three (3) multi-family projects on Deep Creek Lake: Will O' The Wisp condominiums, Four Hoophole South, and Red Run inn condominiums. Their family-unit total equalled 129.

Consider that since 1985, the following projects have begun marketing efforts or begun construction: Our first Timeshare (LAKEWOOD) 8 units built, 39 approved; SKI COVE 14 units (all sold or under contract); ARROWHEAD TOWNHOMES, 26 units (all built, 12 sold); HARTWOOD VILLAGE, 14 units (under construction); INNSBRUCK VILLAGE, 10 units (under construction): PINE BREEZE, 20 units (announced); VILLAGES AT WISP, 40 units (under construction); TOTAL 132.

It's easy to see that Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County is being discovered. We will be sharing our mountaintop with more and more families from the Washington, Baltimore, and Pittsburgh areas. Let's welcome them with a spirit of sharing and work together to maintain those elements of Garrett County that we all love.

romantic as these legends, is still an interesting phenomena of nature Research has shown that the change in the colors of leaves, is due to the combined efforts of sunshine, temperature, and pigments. These pigments are responsible for giving color to most things, if not for them both you and the leaves would be pale and colorless.

As a food maker for the tree, the leaf uses a green pigment called chlorophyll to absorb energy from the sun. This energy is used to con vert water and carbon dioxide from the air into sugars and starches. As winter approaches the leaf stops making food, and the chlorophical begins to dissolve and the green color disappears.

Beneath the surface, once hidden by the green of summer, are the yellows and oranges of fall. They have been there all summer long ha had been masked by the green chlorophyll. These pigments are known as the carotenoids; they give us the colorations of yellow, brown orange, and the many hues in between.

There is also another group of pigments known as the anthocyanians. These pigments cause the vivid red and purple colorations in the leaves of maples, oaks, and dogwoods. Scientists believe that these pigments are formed by sugars trapped in the leaves at the end of summer.

The spectacular display of autumn color is the result of nature mixing all these pigments in certain amounts to produce the various hues Each kind of tree has its own distinctive colors. However, even these can vary in color due to the influence of sunlight, moisture, and soil conditions. Weather can also have a great affect on the fall colors. Indian summer with its warm sunny days and cool but not freezing nights brings out the best colors. Many other changes also occur in the leaves at this time. At the base of the leaf-stalk where it is attached to the twig, a special layer of cells form which will eventually sever the tissues

Aside from covering the forest with a carpet of color, the falling leaves also help to fertilize the soil and serve as source of food for other range and vellow colors.

Those of us who work in the forests, parks and wildlife areas of amounts of valuable minerals, such as calcium and potassium, which

Slowly, but surely, each year autumn begins to make its presence known here in the uplands of Garrett County. Even before the advent of which support the leaf. This layer of cells also serves to heaf the twig the first frost, the forests and woodlands of this region start to dress after the leaf finally blows off. themselves in their most colorful attire. Trees such as the red maples and sweetgums take on their characteristic red and scarlet hues. Soon they will be followed by the oaks and hickories with their brilliant living creatures. Earthworms and other creatures, so small that you orange and yellow colors.

Maryland are often confronted by people asking, "How do the leaves" were originally part of the soil. As the lea change color?" Many of them have been told tales as children that are returned to the soil, enriching the surface layer of soil and providing Jack Frost brings the reds and golds to the woodlands by pinching the water-absorbing humus leaves with his icy fingers each fall. Others have heard Indian legends which say the autumn colors were caused by the Great Bear in the night sky which was killed every fall by celestial hunters. According to this legend, it was the bear's blood, dripping onto the forest, that changed many leaves to red. The yellowing of the leaves was believed

Autumn color tour guides are available at the State of the st to be the result of fat spattering from the kettle as the hunters cooked the meat of the Great Bear.

Realtors now have Multi-list service

Jan Bernard, President of the Garrett County Board of Realtors, for the agent's use in showing properties and comparing listed has announced that the local Board is now in the process of implementing a Multi-list service for their members.

All member companies will supply data on each of their ex-clusive listings and the Board office will then compile the information, send it on to the computer company, who will then print a bound book of Garrett County listings every four weeks. Only agents and companies who belong to the Garrett County Board of Realtors may participate in the service; and each agent will receive his/her own book at each printing.

One of the benefits of the service will be greater organization

A & A opens Appraisal Department

Education Board Discusses SHS Renovation Plan

The proposed renovation of Southern High School was among those topics discussed at the meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education, held last Thursday, October 9.

According to Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of Garrett County schools, planning approval has again been requested for the project, which was made last year and deferred by the State Board of Education. If approved, the new facilities would not be available for use until at least September

The renovation, which has a projected construction cost of $5.5 million and a total cost of over $6 million, will involve about 100,000 square feet of the existing building and an addition of about 11,000 new square

In essence, there would be a full renovation of the main classroom building, cafetorium and the surrounding locker area, vocational educational building, and the vocational agricultural building. A partial renovation of the gymnasium in the A wing will also be pro-

Dr. Ryscavage states that there is a definite need for more space for the Vo-Ed., Special Education, and Physical Education programs.

Another capital improvement project discussed was the need for a new Loch Lynn school building. One of the oldest in the county, it lacks space, and enrollment continues to increase each year. The project was turned down last year.

of Harford County by the voters · Question *3 concerns county governing bodies. This allows for the election of the members of the governing body of a county by one of three options:

1) the voters of commissioner or councilmanic districts: 2) the voters of the entire county; or

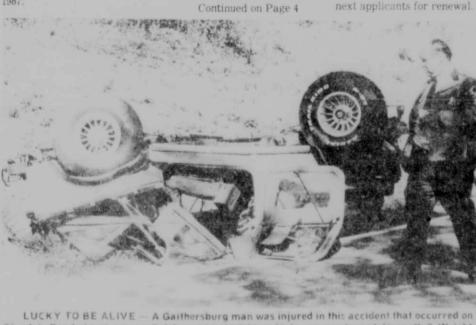

3) a combination of methods (1) and (2)

In counties that have not adopted a charter home rule form of government, this amendment gives the General Assembly the authority to provide for the method of election

In counties that have adopted a charter home rule form of government, this amendment provides that the county charter, either as adopted or amended, may provide for the method of election. In all counties, however, the method currently in effect will remain in effect unless changed in accordance with the provisions of the amendment. At the present time, the constitution requires that the governing body of all counties, except five, be elected by the voters of the entire county.

.Question #4 concerns the Clerks of Court. This proposal requires that offices of the Clerks of Court be funded through the State budget, and that all fees, commissions, or other revenues established by law for those offices be State revenues, unless the General Assembly provides otherwise.

Presently, each clerk's office is funded on the basis of the revenues raised by that particular office. Disparities between responsibilities and revenue bases have resulted in a significant portion of the offices operating at a deficit that must be made up by the State. Garbage Blaze Keeps Gorman Firemen Busy

Firefighters from Gorman and the surrounding areas were kept busy most of the day Saturday attempting to extinguish a large garbage fire in an abandoned strip mine. Gorman firemen were summoned at 11:57 a.m. to respond to the site along Roth Road near Gorman. Louise Slaubaugh, who is a DNR Forest, Park, and Wildlife ranger, stated it was obvious the fire was set and it appeared the intent was to burn dumped trash. According to Gorman VFD Chief Earl Wilt, fire could be seen all the way to the bottom of the 20-foot deep pile of garbage. which had been dumped on the half-acre site over the past 40

Other companies called to assist included Bayard and Mount Storm VFDs, plus a tanker from Oakland VFD and the county air cascade vehicle, presently being housed at Deer Park VFD. The Southern Rescue Squad also responded and treated one fireman who sustained a laceration on his foot. Wilt stated that there was some concern that the flames would spread into adjacent wooded areas, however, they were able to contain the fire and extinguish it by 5:15 p.m.

Oakland and Deer Park fire departments were called out at about 9:30 a.m. that same day when a fire was reported at the State Roads Department garage located along Eighth Street in Oakland.

Although smoke was coming from the eaves of the building. it was quickly discovered that the smoke was caused by an overheated furnace. One Oakland VFD spokesman stated that the beams in the large twostory frame structure were about ready to burst into flame.

Is The Record Really Clear?

On October 8, my opponent, incumbent Elwood Groves, stated in a political advertisement that the county unemployment rate has been reduced by 52% and that over 1,000 jobs have been created in the county since 1982. As a candidate for elected office, I have spoken with many of the county's unemployed who are seeking job opportunities. If the county's unemployment rate has actually been reduced by 52% in four years, why are so many voters expressing their concerns to me about employment opportunities as I campaign throughout the county?

Many residents have exhausted their unemployment benefits or have moved out of the county to seek employment. Could it be that my opponent has failed to point out that these persons are no longer counted in unemployment statistics, thereby giving a misleading picture of our unemployment rate?

> Chosen this year to receive the honors are Mildred Wucik as Woman of the Year and the Potomac Edison Company as Employer of the Year. The honorees will be presented with plaques at the October 23 meeting of BPW at Will O' The Wisp, Deep Creek Lake.

Mildred Wucik is the assistant principal at Northern High School, a position she has held since 1975. Previously, she worked at Northern High School as a vocational counselor and teacher.

Ms. Wucik is active in a 24 and October 1. Several items variety of organizations, were taken including two water including BPW, in which she has held the presidencey on the local level twice and at the state level she was president from 1970-71. She has also held the state offices of first and second vice-president, corresponding secretary, and treasurer. In the past she has served as part of the McHenry Fireman's Ladies Auxiliary and is presently a member of the Alpha-Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma (Teachers Honorary), Garrett County Hospice, and several teachers associations.

Selected as Employer of the Year, the Potomac Edison Company is a division of the Allegheny Power Company. As an investor-owned electric utility, Potomac Edison provides electric service from company plants to over 280,000 customers in Maryland, Virginia, and West Virginia. According to a BPW spokesman, the company has exhibited sensitivity to the needs of female employees and provided opportunities for upward mobility and additional training for their female employees. They also have up-graded pension plans for female employees and they have a company-wide reimbursement policy for further education for their employees.

Both honorees were selected by a panel of judges for their effectiveness in promoting the interests of working women.

Anyone wishing to participate in the honoring of the awardees is welcome to attend the dinner meeting at the Will O' The Wisp on October 23. The meeting begins with a social hour at 6 p.m. Interested persons may contact President Pat Vetter.
